GOETHE said the best way to Germanize territory taken from Poland was to send German plays and players to inspire respect for the German ideas and language.

What would Goethe think of these, chosen from titles of plays now advertised in New York: "Liars," "Loose Ankles," "One Man's Woman," "Cradle Snatchers," "Laff That Off," "If I Was Rich," "Sex," "She Couldn't Say No," "The Adorable Liar."

ANOTHER title, "My Country," strikes your eye, and your mind turns to patriotism. Then you read: "It is the nation's laugh hit."

THEY say Euripides' "Bacchue" was played in Athens for 500 years. It wouldn't play twice in New York unless George Cohan rewrote it, and Shubert or Zeigfeld organized such a chorus of Bacchue as Dionysus never dreamed of.

HARRY K. THAW, who killed Stanford White, and has since attracted attention, writes an autobiography that "cost him $25,000," a large price.

Mr. Thaw says his lawyer was a traitor, but doesn't name the lawyer. He had several. He says the lawyer was worse than Stanford White, and the night after he killed White he prayed that the latter might go to heaven. It would be interesting to know what memoranda the angel Gabriel wrote on the margin of that prayer.

A few, perhaps a dozen, will find diamonds and get rich. Half a dozen may keep the money and leave it to

How To Remove Eighty-eight Different Kinds of Stains

Perhaps you do not realize how many different kinds of stains can disfigure people's clothes.

It is almost impossible for anyone to escape having food stains on clothing at some time or other.

What would you do if you upset the ink bottle on an expensive table cover, spilled medicine on your best suit, ruined a gown with paint stains, or scorched the newest linen tablecloth?

All of these things happen every day. But there is a remedy for every blemish you may get on your clothing and household linens.

These are all listed in a 30-page booklet, with illustrations, which this Bureau has for distribution. Fill our the attached coupon and enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling. Write your name and address clearly.

Calls for Honesty and Fair-dealing in Settling Public Questions in Kiwanis Club Dinner Address.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis, guest of hontr at a Kiwanis club dinner in Larkins' annex last night, went on record in a one-hour address against the so-called Chicago water steal and former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker's proposal for the cancellation of foreign debts.

Speaking before an audience of Kiwanians and their wives, the senior Ohio member of the upper house of congress who is the Republican nominee for re-election in November, pointed out the menace to the industrially Ohio Valley, including East Liverpool, pottery center of the world, in the plan of the Chicago drainage district to tap the waters of the Great Lakes system.

With equal emphasis he declared "There will be, and ought to be, no cancellation of foreign debts."

Delayed on Trip Here.

Delayed one hour and 40 minutes on his trip from Chardon, where he spoke at a teachers' meeting at noon yesterday, the senator, accompanied by Russell C. Heddleston, who met him at Youngstown and brought him to East Liverpool in his automobile, did not reach the dinner until 7:30 o'clock. A few minutes later he launched into his address.

Clarence C. Cline, president of the club, was chairman of the meeting. He introduced Mr. Heddleston, who in turn presented Mr. Willis.

Group singing, directed by Prof. Hugh Laughlin; a piano solo by Miss Lucile Orin and a short talk by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle of Lisbon preceded the senator's address.

Y. & O. Railroad Will Sell Sunday And Holiday Pass

The Youngstown and Ohio River railroad will inaugurate a Sunday and holiday pass, beginning September 5, company officials announced today.

The pass will be good on the first car leaving here in the morning until the last car returning at night. It will sell for 50 cents. It may be purchased from the conductor or from ticket agents anytime during the day.

The Stark Electric company operating between Salem and Canton adopted the 50-cent Sunday pass several weeks ago. This will permit one to make a trip from East Liverpool to Canton and back on Sundays for $1.

Purpose of the pass is to increase Sunday business.

BEN DEBONAIR WHEN LOCKED UP

CANTON, O., Sept. 3.—Ben Rudner, Massillon hardware dealer and suspect in connection with the murder of Don R. Mellett, maintained a flaunting, debonair attitude, even as he walked into the Stark county jail.

"Well, it looks as though I'm going to be in for a while," he said to newspapermen.

SCREEN IDOL'S FUNERAL TRAIN STOPS IN OHIO

Crowd Gathers at Union Station in Cleveland.

POLA IS ILL

Immense Floral Offering Received From Theatres.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 3.—Bearing the body of Rudolph Valentino, the Lake Shore Limited arrived here at 8:20 this morning and departed 15 minutes later for Chicago.

A crowd of several hundred persons was gathered at the Union station and a mad but unsuccessful scramble ensued for a glimpse of the casket containing the remains of the screen idol when the train arrived.

An immense floral offering from the Cleveland theaters was added to those already covering the casket.

No one was permitted to board the train, George Ullman, Valentino's manager, explaining that Pola Negri was in a highly nervous condition and under the care of nurses.

Ullman announced that plans were under way by the film colony at Hollywood to erect a half million dollar monument to Valentino at Hollywood.

The crowd at the station consisted largely of young women and they voiced keen disappointment when they were not permitted to glimpse the casket.

Pola Grief-Stricken.

WITH THE VALENTINO FUNERAL TRAIN, Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Pola Negri still was a grief-stricken figure today as she and others close to Rudolph Valentino were accompanying the body of the late screen star to Hollywood for burial.

Each day, during the long trip which will not end until next Monday, she will place a fresh lily on Valentino's bier.

As the train pulled out of Grand Central station in New York last evening, Miss Negri was kneeling at the casket, with tears streaming down her cheeks. She did not rise until the train had long passed Harmon, some 40 minutes out.

Then she placed at her dead fiance's feet a huge bunch of white lilies, tied with a purple bow.

Miss Negri is maintaining a close watch over the body from her compartment, which is next to the improvised sanctuary in which the body lies.

John Salsberry Is Arrested Twice Within Three Hours

Within less than three hours after he had been released on bond, John Salsberry was back in jail again last night with a second charge of being drunk facing him.

Salsberry was first picked up in Green lane by Patrolman James Haley at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. About 8 o'clock last night he was released after police had taken a deposit of $15.80 from him as a guarantee for his appearance in police court this morning.

Salsberry was again taken into custody on Jackson street at 10:45 o'clock last night by Patrolman Roth. Upon arraignment before Judge Hanley this morning Salsberry was fined $10 and costs upon the one offense, while he paid the costs of $5.80 for the second offense. His fine totalled $21.60 for the two affenses.

MASSILLON MAN CHARGED WITH ASSASSINATION OF PUBLISHER

Former Bootlegger is Apprehended at His Hardware Store.

ONCE CONVICT

Second Arrest Made in Slaying of Canton Editor.

CANTON, O., Sept. 3.—Three men today were indicted by a Stark county grand jury for the murder of Don R. Mellett, martyred Canton publisher.

They are:

Louis Mazer, habitue of "Little Cicero" and alleged "big sacie" bootlegger.

Ben Rudner, former bootlegger and inmate of the Atlanta penitentiary.

Patrick Eugene McDermott, reputed professional thug and nationally hunted as the alleged hired trigger man and "key witness" in the Mellett murder.

Mazer is under arrest in Cleveland, Rudner is in the county jail here and McDermott is a fugitive from justice.

The joint indictment charging first degree murder was returned before Common Pleas Judge A. W. Agler.

The indictment is known to be based upon purely circumstantial evidence.

CANTON, O., Sept. 3.—Ben Rudner, Massillon, Ohio, hardware merchant, today was arrested on a first degree murder charge in connection with the seven-weeks'-old Don R. Mellett assassination.

The former bootlegger and inmate of Atlanta penitentiary was taken into custody in Massillon, seven miles from here, where he operates a retail hardware business.

County authorities made the arrest upon the request of County Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

Rudner was to be brought to Canton immediately.

It was the second arrest in the long drawn out murder inquiry.

Louise Mazer, friend of Rudner's was arrested about three weeks ago in Cleveland on a first degree murder charge. Mazer is also charged with violation of the national prohibition act.

Patrick E. McDermott, alleged hired triggerman and "key witness" for whom a nation-wide search has been instigated, is still at large.

Dutch Ship Forced to Anchor After Second Collision.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Heavy fogs in the English channel today caused three known collisions between ships, and it is feared that smaller boats may be in difficulties.

The British steamer Kurdistan collided with the French steamer Cof-Coffanes off Folkstone. The Coffanes is in a sinking condition and her crew has been taken off.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—An unidentified steamer was reported stranded off the Kentish coast today following a collision with a Japanese steamer, Andes Maru.

The Japanese vessel spent three hours trying to locate the ship. The commander of the Andes Maru expressed the fear that the unknown ship had gone on the rocks.

The collision occurred in a heavy fog which shrouded the channel today which seriously delayed and menaced all shipping.

Another collision on account of fog occurred when the British steamer, Volumnia, collided with the Dutch ship, Djanbi. The Volumnia, in damaged condition, was forced to anchor off Dover.

PROPOSAL GOES ON BALLOT FOR DISTRICT VOTE IN NOVEMBER

Revenue Needed to Meet Interest and Bond Payments.

NO TIME LIMIT

Amount of Tax Will Decrease Annually From 1929.

Electors of the East Liverpool school district will be asked to pass upon proposed levy not to exceed 2.4 mills at the general election on Tuesday, November 2, to meet a possible deficit of approximately $75,000 which the board of education will face before the end of the 1926-27 term.

Funds Near Danger Mark.

Board members last night passed a resolution placing this issue on the ballot. Should the issue fail to carry, funds will be depleted at the end of the sixth month and teachers will be required to teach for the other three months without pay or the school doors will close, the board claims.

The proposed levy, which is over and above the limitation, is intended to take care of bonds and interest on the board's debt leaving the money derived from ordinary taxation for current expenses.

The tax will vary from year to year but at no time will it exceed the 2.4 mills, according to figures which have been compiled by school board attaches. The levy will continue for the life of the present school board bonds, all of which will be liquidated in 1950, it is said.

COUNCIL CALLS VOTE ON BONDS

$225,000 City Hall Proposition Submitted to Electors.

Council last night voted unanimously to submit to the electors on November 2 a proposed $225,000 bond issue for acquiring a site and erecting a municipal building.

Solons Thomas Farrall and Charles Hayes speaking on the resolution, declared that the present city hall was a "disgrace to the city." It was pointed out that a 55 per cent of the vote cast would be required to sanction the proposal.

Service-Safety Director Moore was authorized in a resolution passed under suspension of rules to advertise for bids for a five-way traffic light to be placed at the intersection of Broadway, Washington and Sixth streets.

Traffic Commission Proposed.

An ordinance proposing establishment of a city traffic commission to be composed of five citizens was introduced, but action was deferred until the next meeting. Purpose of the measure as explained by Farrall is to adequately cope with traffic conditions.

Determining ordinance for the resurfacing of Fourth street from Union to Monroe streets was passed on three readings, while a like measure for the improvement of Avondale street from Bank street to St. Clair avenue

"I AM ON THE JOB"-CHIEF OF POLICE JOHN H. FULTZ; "HE WILL NOT GO TO WORK UNTIL THE COURT RULES ON NEW TRIAL"-MAYOR W. L. FOGO

Chief of Police John H. Fultz, of Wellsville, reinstated in a court decision handed down at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon in common pleas court, Lisbon, by Judge W. H. Spence, reported for duty at city hall in the neighboring municipality at 8 o'clock this morning.

"I reported to Mayor W. L. Fogo, asked him if he had any orders and then assumed by duties today," said Fultz.

Questioned by newspapermen shortly before noon, Mayor Fogo declared: "Mr. Fultz will not go to work until after the court rules on our motion for a new trial."

"I am on the job today and expect to be on the job every day," said Chief Fultz when inquiry was made at 12:30 p. m.

"I have called a meeting of patrolmen, to be held at city hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when I intend to tell them that I have been reinstated as chief of police and that I expect them to perform their duties."

Fultz Ready to Co-operate.

Fultz said that he also called upon Service-Safety Director George Ashley and inquired if he had any instructions.

"Director Ashley advised me that, acting under instructions of the solicitor, he would have no orders for me until the court ruled on the question of a new trial."

Fultz then issued the following statement:

"I appreciate the manner in which the citizens of Wellsville have stood by me during my trial. I entertain no malice toward anyone and am ready to do my full duty and co-operate with the mayor and assist him in carrying out any policies he may have for the benefit of Wellsville or the enforcement of law."

New Trial Asked.

Solicitor L. C. Luccock and Attorneys S. W. Crawford and Blaine H. Cochran, of East Liverpool, who were associated with Luccock in the prosecution of the Fultz case at Lisbon, filed a motion for a new trial in common pleas court late yesterday afternoon They cited nine reasons, as follows:

"Now comes the city of Wellsville, the plaintiff or relator in the above entitled action, and moves the court to grant it a new trial for the following reasons, towit:

"First—The court erred in refusing to admit evidence in this case offered by the plaintiff, and to which the plaintiff then and there at the time excepted.

"Second—The court erred in admitting evidence offered by the defendant in this case, over the objection of the plaintiff, and to which the plaintiff then and there at the time excepted.

"Third—The court erred in overruling the motion of the plaintiff in this case to dismiss the appeal of the said John H. Fultz before the hearing on the merits, and to which the plaintiff then and there at the time excepted.

"Fourth—The verdict, judgment and decision of the court in this case is against the weight of the evidence.

"Fifth—The verdict, judgment and the decision of the court in this case is contrary to the law and the evidence.

The indictment is known to be based upon purely circumstantial evidence.

CANTON, O., Sept. 3.—Ben Rudner, Massillon, Ohio, hardware merchant, today was arrested on a first degree murder charge in connection with the seven-weeks'-old Don R. Mellett assassination.

The former bootlegger and inmate of Atlanta penitentiary was taken into custody in Massillon, seven miles from here, where he operates a retail hardware business.

County authorities made the arrest upon the request of County Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

Rudner was to be brought to Canton immediately.

It was the second arrest in the long drawn out murder inquiry.

Louise Mazer, friend of Rudner's was arrested about three weeks ago in Cleveland on a first degree murder charge. Mazer is also charged with violation of the national prohibition act.

Patrick E. McDermott, alleged hired triggerman and "key witness" for whom a nation-wide search has been instigated, is still at large.

Expect Three Indictments.

It has been semi-officially announced that the grand jury today will in-

VESSEL HITS ROCKS AFTER CRASH IN FOG

Unidentified Steamer is Stranded Off Kentish Coast.

SEARCH FUTILE

Dutch Ship Forced to Anchor After Second Collision.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Heavy fogs in the English channel today caused three known collisions between ships, and it is feared that smaller boats may be in difficulties.

The British steamer Kurdistan collided with the French steamer Cof-Coffanes off Folkstone. The Coffanes is in a sinking condition and her crew has been taken off.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—An unidentified steamer was reported stranded off the Kentish coast today following a collision with a Japanese steamer, Andes Maru.

The Japanese vessel spent three hours trying to locate the ship. The commander of the Andes Maru expressed the fear that the unknown ship had gone on the rocks.

The collision occurred in a heavy fog which shrouded the channel today which seriously delayed and menaced all shipping.

Another collision on account of fog occurred when the British steamer, Volumnia, collided with the Dutch ship, Djanbi. The Volumnia, in damaged condition, was forced to anchor off Dover.

PROPOSAL GOES ON BALLOT FOR DISTRICT VOTE IN NOVEMBER

Revenue Needed to Meet Interest and Bond Payments.

Amount of Tax Will Decrease Annually From 1929.

Electors of the East Liverpool school district will be asked to pass upon proposed levy not to exceed 2.4 mills at the general election on Tuesday, November 2, to meet a possible deficit of approximately $75,000 which the board of education will face before the end of the 1926-27 term.

Funds Near Danger Mark.

Board members last night passed a resolution placing this issue on the ballot. Should the issue fail to carry, funds will be depleted at the end of the sixth month and teachers will be required to teach for the other three months without pay or the school doors will close, the board claims.

The proposed levy, which is over and above the limitation, is intended to take care of bonds and interest on the board's debt leaving the money derived from ordinary taxation for current expenses.

The tax will vary from year to year but at no time will it exceed the 2.4 mills, according to figures which have been compiled by school board attaches. The levy will continue for the life of the present school board bonds, all of which will be liquidated in 1950, it is said.

COUNCIL CALLS VOTE ON BONDS

$225,000 City Hall Proposition Submitted to Electors.

Council last night voted unanimously to submit to the electors on November 2 a proposed $225,000 bond issue for acquiring a site and erecting a municipal building.

Solons Thomas Farrall and Charles Hayes speaking on the resolution, declared that the present city hall was a "disgrace to the city." It was pointed out that a 55 per cent of the vote cast would be required to sanction the proposal.

Service-Safety Director Moore was authorized in a resolution passed under suspension of rules to advertise for bids for a five-way traffic light to be placed at the intersection of Broadway, Washington and Sixth streets.

Traffic Commission Proposed.

An ordinance proposing establishment of a city traffic commission to be composed of five citizens was introduced, but action was deferred until the next meeting. Purpose of the measure as explained by Farrall is to adequately cope with traffic conditions.

Determining ordinance for the resurfacing of Fourth street from Union to Monroe streets was passed on three readings, while a like measure for the improvement of Avondale street from Bank street to St. Clair avenue

"I AM ON THE JOB"-CHIEF OF POLICE JOHN H. FULTZ; "HE WILL NOT GO TO WORK UNTIL THE COURT RULES ON NEW TRIAL"-MAYOR W. L. FOGO

Chief of Police John H. Fultz, of Wellsville, reinstated in a court decision handed down at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon in common pleas court, Lisbon, by Judge W. H. Spence, reported for duty at city hall in the neighboring municipality at 8 o'clock this morning.

"I reported to Mayor W. L. Fogo, asked him if he had any orders and then assumed by duties today," said Fultz.

Questioned by newspapermen shortly before noon, Mayor Fogo declared: "Mr. Fultz will not go to work until after the court rules on our motion for a new trial."

"I am on the job today and expect to be on the job every day," said Chief Fultz when inquiry was made at 12:30 p. m.

"I have called a meeting of patrolmen, to be held at city hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when I intend to tell them that I have been reinstated as chief of police and that I expect them to perform their duties."

Fultz Ready to Co-operate.

Fultz said that he also called upon Service-Safety Director George Ashley and inquired if he had any instructions.

"Director Ashley advised me that, acting under instructions of the solicitor, he would have no orders for me until the court ruled on the question of a new trial."

Fultz then issued the following statement:

"I appreciate the manner in which the citizens of Wellsville have stood by me during my trial. I entertain no malice toward anyone and am ready to do my full duty and co-operate with the mayor and assist him in carrying out any policies he may have for the benefit of Wellsville or the enforcement of law."

New Trial Asked.

Solicitor L. C. Luccock and Attorneys S. W. Crawford and Blaine H. Cochran, of East Liverpool, who were associated with Luccock in the prosecution of the Fultz case at Lisbon, filed a motion for a new trial in common pleas court late yesterday afternoon They cited nine reasons, as follows:

"Now comes the city of Wellsville, the plaintiff or relator in the above entitled action, and moves the court to grant it a new trial for the following reasons, towit:

"First—The court erred in refusing to admit evidence in this case offered by the plaintiff, and to which the plaintiff then and there at the time excepted.

"Second—The court erred in admitting evidence offered by the defendant in this case, over the objection of the plaintiff, and to which the plaintiff then and there at the time excepted.

"Third—The court erred in overruling the motion of the plaintiff in this case to dismiss the appeal of the said John H. Fultz before the hearing on the merits, and to which the plaintiff then and there at the time excepted.

"Fourth—The verdict, judgment and decision of the court in this case is against the weight of the evidence.

"Fifth—The verdict, judgment and the decision of the court in this case is contrary to the law and the evidence.

"Sixth—The verdict, judgment and decision of the court in this case was

KANSAS CITY WOMAN CLAIMS SHARE IN SIR FRANCIS DRAKE'S ESTATE

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The vast estate of that doughty old sea fighter Sir Frances Drake, hero of battles on the Spanish main, and of adventures in the search of gold, finds another claimant for the settlement now being made in England, in Mrs. J. H. Aiken, of this city.

A share in the $1,250,000,000 now lying in 52 banks throughout England will belong to Mrs. Aiken, if she can prove her lineage entitles her to a share in the estate. The estate is now being held in custody of the British government, pending investigation into to the legitimacy of the claims of 251 tentative heirs.

In case all the claims are allowed, each heir will come into approximately $4,000,000, according to the attorneys who are attempting to straighten the lineage tangle.

A Chicago woman is handling the cases of heirs in this country and Mrs. Aiken's attorneys have announced that their case is complete, and will be presented to the crown in September, when the case is due to come up in England.

Foreigners Arrested For Drunkenness By Austrian Officers

VIENNA — Foreigners are almost the only people arrested for drunkenness in Vienna. Comparatively the native population are capable of containing their liquor for the 5,070 persons arrested for over-drinking, four-fifths were of other than Austrian citizenship.

Mostly they were visitors or refugees from Balkan countries which live in great numbers here. For this period, the first six months of 1926, five Americans were listed among the offenders.

Patent leather shoes from this country are now being worn by better dressers of Poland.

Three airplanes are being used in the passenger and postal service between Sweden and the continent.

Fads And Philosophy

Everything that is great in life is the product of slow growth.

Mushrooms spring up in a night, an oak requires decades. Fads survive only for weeks, a philosophy—for centuries. If you are sure you are right, don't let your family, your friends or the world swerve you from your purpose.

Accept slow growth, if it must be slow, and believe that results will come.

JAILED FOR ROBBING FREIGHT TRAINS, INVENTS BOX CAR LOCK

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, CAL.—Elmer Gloss, serving a four-year term for robbing box cars, came to the conclusion that there was a need for such things, so in his spare time he invented and perfected a lock for box car doors that is said to be the most ingenious lock of its kind ever to be made.

Frank Smith, warden of the prison, announced that representatives of a large car building company had inspected the lock and had approved it. He said he would ask the Prison Board to authorize a sufficient sum of money to enable Gloss to build a model.

"The invention," Smith said, "may net Gloss thousands of dollars."

In commenting on his invention, Gloss said, "It is a good lock, and I know a lot about box car door locks. Of course it could be opened but it would be a hard job to do it."

Gloss has already served 18 months of his time.

LOS ANGELES "HET UP" OVER CHARGE THAT VICE AND SHAME ARE RAMPANT

LOS ANGELES.—The statement of Dr. Bruce Wheeler, a lecturer, that "Los Angeles is morally and financially bankrupt" and that "vice and shame in one block of Hollywood are far worse and more prevalent than in a square mile of either New York City or Chicago" created a storm of protest here. Dr. Wheeler's statements were made in a lecture given in Lockport, N. Y.

Efforts were under way today by local organizations, including the board of education and the chamber of commerce, to secure a retraction of Dr. Wheeler's statements.

According to reports received here, Dr. Wheeler claimed to have been formerly connected with the Los Angeles city schools. The records of the board, it was said disclosed no such connection.

Dr. George MacNeill, president of the New York state society of Los Angeles and a former resident of Buffalo, N. Y., telegraphed an emphatic denial of Dr. Wheeler's statements to the Buffalo Evening News.

JAILED FOR ROBBING FREIGHT TRAINS, INVENTS BOX CAR LOCK

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, CAL.—Elmer Gloss, serving a four-year term for robbing box cars, came to the conclusion that there was a need for such things, so in his spare time he invented and perfected a lock for box car doors that is said to be the most ingenious lock of its kind ever to be made.

Frank Smith, warden of the prison, announced that representatives of a large car building company had inspected the lock and had approved it. He said he would ask the Prison Board to authorize a sufficient sum of money to enable Gloss to build a model.

"The invention," Smith said, "may net Gloss thousands of dollars."

In commenting on his invention, Gloss said, "It is a good lock, and I know a lot about box car door locks. Of course it could be opened but it would be a hard job to do it."

Gloss has already served 18 months of his time.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1926.

Time To Bury The Hatchet

John H. Fultz, who was deposed as chief of police of Wellsville on charges of misuse of his office on March 19, last, by Mayor W. L. Fogo, reported for duty at the city hall in East Liverpool's sister municipality today, as a result of his victory in the common pleas court fight at Lisbon yesterday.

Declaring there was no cause for his removal, Judge W. H. Spence ordered the former police department head restored to all rights, which means that the city must pay Mr. Fultz approximately $825 back salary for the five months and 15 days he was deprived of the position.

The ruling climaxed a fight which was initiated at a civil service hearing in Wellsville, in which the mayor's action was upheld by a three-man board, and then carried to court by Mr. Fultz, who had made a categorically denial of the 12 serious counts preferred by the mayor.

The battle between the police chieftain and the mayor has been costly. It is estimated that the municipality's attorney fees, court costs and stenographic expenses, together with back salary due Mr. Fultz, will total more than $2,000, which comes from the pocketbooks of the taxpayers.

While no definite figures are available, it is not improbable that $1,000 or more will be drawn from the resources of the exonerated police chief to pay lawyers' bills and other costs entering into his fight for reinstatement.

And, too, the long drawn out controversy has proved a means of distasteful advertising to the city of Wellsville, not to mention the ill feeling created by the inevitable injection of personalities into the civil service and court hearings.

Mayor Fogo, prompted, no doubt, by honest motives, dismissed Mr. Fultz. And the police chief, equally sincere in his contention, left no stone unturned in the fight in behalf of his character. And the court has said that Chief Fultz is innocent.

For the best interests of the city of Wellsville, the sensible thing for all concerned is to let bygones be bygones, bury the hatchet and get down to the business of eradicating law violation, if any thrives.

The Romanoff Gold

This is good weather for stories about treasure. And the $75,000,000 deposited in the Bank of England, which is all that is left of the fortune of Romanoffs, is a bigger treasure than any Captain Kidd ever handled—or even dreamed of, probably.

The castles and estates have been confiscated, but the gold is safe. The only problem is one of distribution. There are many heirs, some of whom are finding life pretty limited right now, but settlement has been delayed chiefly because of rumors that one of the late czar's daughters escaped when the family was murdered, and now lives in Germany, whence she may turn up later and demand her share.

The kings of England, Italy and Spain have been proposed as arbitrators in dividing the inheritance. It's not exactly an enviable job, and perhaps there has been some delay due to the difficulty of convincing some royal gentleman that the honor might compensate for the labor and consequent ill-feeling.

It occurs to the layman that almost any competent lawyer might draw up a plan for division, leaving the lost daughter's share intact in the bank, to be divided at a reasonably later date if she does not appear.

Not being royal, however, and not being heir to millions of Russian gold may prevent us from taking the matter seriously enough. Maybe if we were, we couldn't trust anybody but a king to send us our quitclaim blank and deposit slip.

The Last Meal

A negro convict in the death house at Sing Sing, condemned for killing his wife and daughter, chose this for his last meal on earth:

Long Island duck, mixed with one can of peas and one pint of olives, cooked into a brown stew and served with dumplings.

Four slices of bread, boiled rice, tomato salad, strawberry shortcake, a pint of vanilla ice cream and raspberry soda.

Twelve good cigars and a package of cigarets.

He got away with nearly all of the items, too, and enjoyed his feast.

There is a curious spectacle. Most of us think we wouldn't have much appetite on such an occasion, and would be thinking of other matters than food. Yet it is the testimony of penitentiary officials that murderers usually have a good appetite to the last.

The explanation seems to be that murderers usually lack the mind and imagination to understand the plight they are in and the fate they are facing. If they were able to understand death as normal, intelligent men and women do, they would probably not kill.

"Of what use are ants in the economy of life?" inquires a philosopher. Well, for one thing, when they get into the food you know it's a picnic.

There is to be a "world hog-calling championship contest" at Kansas City, with America a sure winner. There's one form of prowess, anyway, that won't make Europe envious.

It's a hard life. Soon the people who have been going north to keep cool will have to go south again to keep warm.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Thoughts while strolling: The after dinner hiatus. Those who eat alone in cafeterias. Ladies out to please. Bookish men drifting toward parks. And solitude. The chill of a theatre lobby. With its gaudy pictures.

An old man on a camp stool sketching a statue. Evening curb idlers. Like somnambulists trying to be awake. The swarthy Spanish gambler with an extraordinary pallor. And burning black eyes. Why do circus men roll their cigarettes?

Those coated white faces with slightly purplish cheeks. An old saddle coloured hound with long drooping ears Dozing in a shooting gallery window. Seamen who window shop in leisurely groups. Window card in a beauty parlor: "Wanted—an expert with ideas."

Rubberneck wagons lumbering to their corners. Whatever became of Muscle Shoals? The rising rumble of a city moving to its pleasures. A band begins to blat in a dance hall. Taxi drivers fortified with dinner and toothpicks hustle forth for fares.

The lights click on. And jazz gates unlock. Whatever became of Richard Carle? The white-haired old boys are taking to horn rimmed glasses. A noted ethonologist going to a girl-and-music play. Youthful eyes in wrinkled faces.

A door ajar and music from a church. A pair of dancing twins skip from their auto to the stage entrance. Electric sign wig-wags: "Learn to tango in an hour." Open-all-evening easy-payment fur shops. And young girls who exclaim "Gee!" gazing wistfully at the window displays.

Where are the cafes whose walls were decorated with pictures of actresses? A hoarse street evangelist tries vainly to interest an unstable moving throng. Fog horn blasts from the river. A thin crescent moon rides high in the clouds.

In one of the public parks in fair weather there is a pleasant old lady who is a favorite with children as well as elders. She moves among them spreading happiness although she is almost totally deaf. "How do you manage to get along so well with them when you can scarcely hear what they say?" an interested observer shouted.

"It is easy," she replied, "when they laugh I laugh too."

In the same park it is told of a little boy and girl whose mother has been much married and who come there to play.

"You have a very bright sister," a gentleman remarked to the boy.

"I'll say she is," was the reply. "She can name Mama's husbands in rotation."

Someone sends a clipping of an advertisement for a leading hotel of 20 years ago. Choice single rooms with bath were listed at $5 a day. As a matter of curiosity I telephoned a hotel where 15 years ago a room for two exacted a tariff of $11.50 a week. The same room today for a couple is $37.50 a week. And the hotel has lost much of its old prestige and newness.

The "hop bench," where bellboys awaited tap of the bell and the cry of "Front!" has disappeared from nearly all New York hotels. Bell hops have become "pages" and remain in semi-seclusion. They comprise an alert and sophisticated crew and the experienced see much of the country—drifting to this fashionable resort and that with the seasons.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Coin Collectors.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 2.—Old and rare coins, specimens of currency, and medals, in the aggregate caiued at more than a million dollars, were on exhibition in Washington during the recent convention of the American Numismatic association. It was one of the greatest collections of numismatic treasures ever brought together, although perhaps not the largest, for each collector who exhibited showed only his most interesting and most valuable pieces. Its value was estimated at the figures mentioned, but in reality it was priceless, for many of the collectors would not sell their rarest coins for any amount of money.

Rarest of them all, and said to be the rarest coin in existence, was the United States $5 gold piece of 1822, which is valued at $7,500, 1,500 times its original value. This treasure was exhibited by W. F. Dunham, of Chicago, who showed the largest collection of United States coins. He is also the custodian of one of the 1894 silver dollars, valued at $5,000, of which only six are known to be in existence, one of them being in the Smithsonian Institution in this city. Mr. Dunham also has two examples of the half-cent of 1852, one with large and the other with small berries. The one with the large berries is said to be worth $2,000, while the small berry coin is valued at but $35, although it was coined in the same year and to the layman would appear to be quite as valuable. Rarity spells the difference in the price that numismatists put upon them.

John E. Morse, of Hadley, Mass., was represented by a collection which he calls "Lincoln Numismatics" and which is said to be one of the most complete and most valuable collections in the world. It consists of coins and bills stamped with the image of Lincoln. One of its most interesting features is an English 50-pound first mortgage bond which bears the likenesses of both Queen Victoria and President Lincoln.

Mrs. Moritz Wormser, of New York, the first woman member of the association permitted to exhibit a collection showed a rare set of medals of musicians, composers and singers of world renown. Liszt, Beethoven, Wagner, Jenny Lind, Mozart, Schubert, Verdi, and Johann Strauss were among the celebrities represented in her exhibit. Her husband, who was the retiring president of the association, featured as his part of the display a wonderful collection of gold and silver Czeschoslovakian, Esthonian, Polish and Russian coins that included many rarities.

Fractional Paper Currency.

Most of the numismatists specialize in a particular line and endeavor to win recognition as holders of the largest, most complete, or most valuable collections in that line. An example of this is Charles Markus who brought to Washington the largest collection of United States paper fractional currency in existence. It is said to include a sample of every piece of paper money the government has ever issued ranging from a 3-cent note to a 50-cent note.

Another specialist, George S. Goddard, of New York, has a complete set of the currency that was issued by the Confederate States in the days of secession. Julius Guiag, also of New York, placed on display a large number of gold pieces, one of which is an Indian coin from Bombay, Idnia, which has a gold value of $250, but is worth ten times that to a collector. This rarity is really not a coin, but two coins united by a heavy bar. It is almost pure gold—.9954 fine—and represents 26 2-3 tolas in Indian money.

The collection of Farran, of Tyrone, Pa., contained a second example of a coin that is not a coin. It was a copper cross measuring 8 by 8½ inches and weighing 27½ ounces. A man with a pocketful of money of that kind would not have many pieces and it would be almost as inconvenient to handle as the large stones that are used for money by Pacific Island natives, yet it was formerly a common medium of exchange among the natives of the Belgian Congo in Africa. It is now used almost exclusively by the tribesmen in buying wives, and it is said that one of them occasionally gets a wife who is literally

THE MILD TRANSGRESSION OF FATHER.

This one got into vaudeville—a sure sign of its excellence—very soon after it was originated.

A philanthropic gentleman engaged in settlement work asks a small boy some leading questions.

"What does your father do?" he inquires.

"He don't do nothin'," answers the urchin. "He's up at Sing Sing for eight years."

"Oh, I'm so distressed to hear it. What did he do that sent him there?"

"Well, pop was working in a place downtown and he got to bringing home samples at night and they found out about it and put him in jail and when they tried him he got eight years."

"I never hear of anything so barbarous!" exclaimed the old gentleman. "To give a man a long sentence in state's prison for carrying away a few samples—why it's incredible! Tell me, what sort of a place was it where your unfortunate father worked?"

"A bank."

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1926.

Time To Bury The Hatchet

John H. Fultz, who was deposed as chief of police of Wellsville on charges of misuse of his office on March 19, last, by Mayor W. L. Fogo, reported for duty at the city hall in East Liverpool's sister municipality today, as a result of his victory in the common pleas court fight at Lisbon yesterday.

Declaring there was no cause for his removal, Judge W. H. Spence ordered the former police department head restored to all rights, which means that the city must pay Mr. Fultz approximately $825 back salary for the five months and 15 days he was deprived of the position.

The ruling climaxed a fight which was initiated at a civil service hearing in Wellsville, in which the mayor's action was upheld by a three-man board, and then carried to court by Mr. Fultz, who had made a categorically denial of the 12 serious counts preferred by the mayor.

The battle between the police chieftain and the mayor has been costly. It is estimated that the municipality's attorney fees, court costs and stenographic expenses, together with back salary due Mr. Fultz, will total more than $2,000, which comes from the pocketbooks of the taxpayers.

While no definite figures are available, it is not improbable that $1,000 or more will be drawn from the resources of the exonerated police chief to pay lawyers' bills and other costs entering into his fight for reinstatement.

And, too, the long drawn out controversy has proved a means of distasteful advertising to the city of Wellsville, not to mention the ill feeling created by the inevitable injection of personalities into the civil service and court hearings.

Mayor Fogo, prompted, no doubt, by honest motives, dismissed Mr. Fultz. And the police chief, equally sincere in his contention, left no stone unturned in the fight in behalf of his character. And the court has said that Chief Fultz is innocent.

For the best interests of the city of Wellsville, the sensible thing for all concerned is to let bygones be bygones, bury the hatchet and get down to the business of eradicating law violation, if any thrives.

The Romanoff Gold

This is good weather for stories about treasure. And the $75,000,000 deposited in the Bank of England, which is all that is left of the fortune of Romanoffs, is a bigger treasure than any Captain Kidd ever handled—or even dreamed of, probably.

The castles and estates have been confiscated, but the gold is safe. The only problem is one of distribution. There are many heirs, some of whom are finding life pretty limited right now, but settlement has been delayed chiefly because of rumors that one of the late czar's daughters escaped when the family was murdered, and now lives in Germany, whence she may turn up later and demand her share.

The kings of England, Italy and Spain have been proposed as arbitrators in dividing the inheritance. It's not exactly an enviable job, and perhaps there has been some delay due to the difficulty of convincing some royal gentleman that the honor might compensate for the labor and consequent ill-feeling.

It occurs to the layman that almost any competent lawyer might draw up a plan for division, leaving the lost daughter's share intact in the bank, to be divided at a reasonably later date if she does not appear.

Not being royal, however, and not being heir to millions of Russian gold may prevent us from taking the matter seriously enough. Maybe if we were, we couldn't trust anybody but a king to send us our quitclaim blank and deposit slip.

The Last Meal

A negro convict in the death house at Sing Sing, condemned for killing his wife and daughter, chose this for his last meal on earth:

Long Island duck, mixed with one can of peas and one pint of olives, cooked into a brown stew and served with dumplings.

Four slices of bread, boiled rice, tomato salad, strawberry shortcake, a pint of vanilla ice cream and raspberry soda.

Twelve good cigars and a package of cigarets.

He got away with nearly all of the items, too, and enjoyed his feast.

There is a curious spectacle. Most of us think we wouldn't have much appetite on such an occasion, and would be thinking of other matters than food. Yet it is the testimony of penitentiary officials that murderers usually have a good appetite to the last.

The explanation seems to be that murderers usually lack the mind and imagination to understand the plight they are in and the fate they are facing. If they were able to understand death as normal, intelligent men and women do, they would probably not kill.

"Of what use are ants in the economy of life?" inquires a philosopher. Well, for one thing, when they get into the food you know it's a picnic.

There is to be a "world hog-calling championship contest" at Kansas City, with America a sure winner. There's one form of prowess, anyway, that won't make Europe envious.

It's a hard life. Soon the people who have been going north to keep cool will have to go south again to keep warm.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Thoughts while strolling: The after dinner hiatus. Those who eat alone in cafeterias. Ladies out to please. Bookish men drifting toward parks. And solitude. The chill of a theatre lobby. With its gaudy pictures.

An old man on a camp stool sketching a statue. Evening curb idlers. Like somnambulists trying to be awake. The swarthy Spanish gambler with an extraordinary pallor. And burning black eyes. Why do circus men roll their cigarettes?

Those coated white faces with slightly purplish cheeks. An old saddle coloured hound with long drooping ears. Dozing in a shooting gallery window. Seamen who window shop in leisurely groups. Window card in a beauty parlor: "Wanted—an expert with ideas."

Rubberneck wagons lumbering to their corners. Whatever became of Muscle Shoals? The rising rumble of a city moving to its pleasures. A band begins to blat in a dance hall. Taxi drivers fortified with dinner and toothpicks hustle forth for fares.

The lights click on. And jazz gates unlock. Whatever became of Richard Carle? The white-haired old boys are taking to horn rimmed glasses. A noted ethonologist going to a girl-and-music play. Youthful eyes in wrinkled faces.

A door ajar and music from a church. A pair of dancing twins skip from their auto to the stage entrance. Electric sign wig-wags: "Learn to tango in an hour." Open-all-evening easy-payment fur shops. And young girls who exclaim "Gee!" gazing wistfully at the window displays.

Where are the cafes whose walls were decorated with pictures of actresses? A hoarse street evangelist tries vainly to interest an unstable moving throng. Fog horn blasts from the river. A thin crescent moon rides high in the clouds.

In one of the public parks in fair weather there is a pleasant old lady who is a favorite with children as well as elders. She moves among them spreading happiness although she is almost totally deaf. "How do you manage to get along so well with them when you can scarcely hear what they say?" an interested observer shouted.

"It is easy," she replied, "when they laugh I laugh too."

In the same park it is told of a little boy and girl whose mother has been much married and who come there to play.

"You have a very bright sister," a gentleman remarked to the boy.

"I'll say she is," was the reply. "She can name Mama's husbands in rotation."

Someone sends a clipping of an advertisement for a leading hotel of 20 years ago. Choice single rooms with bath were listed at $5 a day. As a matter of curiosity I telephoned a hotel where 15 years ago a room for two exacted a tariff of $11.50 a week. The same room today for a couple is $37.50 a week. And the hotel has lost much of its old prestige and newness.

The "hop bench," where bellboys awaited tap of the bell and the cry of "Front!" has disappeared from nearly all New York hotels. Bell hops have become "pages" and remain in semi-seclusion. They comprise an alert and sophisticated crew and the experienced see much of the country—drifting to this fashionable resort and that with the seasons.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Coin Collectors.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 2.—Old and rare coins, specimens of currency, and medals, in the aggregate caued at more than a million dollars, were on exhibition in Washington during the recent convention of the American Numismatic association. It was one of the greatest collections of numismatic treasures ever brought together, although perhaps not the largest, for each collector who exhibited showed only his most interesting and most valuable pieces. Its value was estimated at the figures mentioned, but in reality it was priceless, for many of the collectors would not sell their rarest coins for any amount of money.

Rarest of them all, and said to be the rarest coin in existence, was the United States $5 gold piece of 1822, which is valued at $7,500, 1,500 times its original value. This treasure was exhibited by W. F. Dunham, of Chicago, who showed the largest collection of United States coins. He is also the custodian of one of the 1894 silver dollars, valued at $5,000, of which only six are known to be in existence, one of them being in the Smithsonian Institution in this city. Mr. Dunham also has two examples of the half-cent of 1852, one with large and the other with small berries. The one with the large berries is said to be worth $2,000, while the small berry coin is valued at but $35, although it was coined in the same year and to the layman would appear to be quite as valuable. Rarity spells the difference in the price that numismatists put upon them.

John E. Morse, of Hadley, Mass., was represented by a collection which he calls "Lincoln Numismatics" and which is said to be one of the most complete and most valuable collections in the world. It consists of coins and bills stamped with the image of Lincoln. One of its most interesting features is an English 50-pound first mortgage bond which bears the likenesses of both Queen Victoria and President Lincoln.

Mrs. Moritz Wormser, of New York, the first woman member of the association permitted to exhibit a collection showed a rare set of medals of musicians, composers and singers of world renown. Liszt, Beethoven, Wagner, Jenny Lind, Mozart, Schubert, Verdi, and Johann Strauss were among the celebrities represented in her exhibit. Her husband, who was the retiring president of the association, featured as his part of the display a wonderful collection of gold and silver Czeschoslovakian, Esthonian, Polish and Russian coins that included many rarities.

Allison-Neiser Wedding Solemnized At New Cumberland

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Helen Allison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Allison of Florence street, and Elmer W. Neiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Neiser of Oakland. The ceremony was performed Tuesday in the Christian church of New Cumberland, W. Va., with Rev. F. H. Garrett officiating. The bride wore a gown of white georgette, with hat to match, and her corsage was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom is employed at the Crucible Steel company in Midland.

Last evening, a 6 o'clock dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, in Florence street. The table was prettily decorated with roses and centered with a large wedding cake, covers being arranged for 12 guests.

Later in the evening 25 guests were entertained informally in honor of the newlyweds. A luncheon was served by Mrs. Allison. Dancing and music were the principal diversions. Many gifts were presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Neiser will reside temporarily with the bride's parents.

Bandmaster's Daughter Gambles Love Against $100,000; Wins Both

Romance wins again—as usual. When his daughter Marie showed indications of unusual talent, Bohumir Kryl, the famous bandmaster and cornet virtuoso, settled $100,000 on her with the stipulation that she should not marry before she reached the age of thirty. Marie is now a famous pianiste, well under thirty—and in love with a handsome Greek nobleman, Spiro Hadja-Kariaskos. She intends to marry. And after much remonstrance, Kryl has relented. And Marie promises to keep up her music. Photos show Marie and (insets) her fiance (left) and her father.

CHILD HEALTH CLINICS HERE

Tests Being Conducted Every Tuesday in Welfare House.

Child health clinics being held in the Community Welfare house here every Tuesday are increasing in numbers and interest. Examinations are in charge of Chester physicians, who are being assisted in the work by a number of local women.

At the recent county wide clinic 50 children who are to enter school for the first time next Tuesday were examined. Number examined in the county during the week totalled 182 divided as follows: New Cumberland 30, Chester 50, Newell 9, Calico Hill, Weirton, 50; Holliday's Cove 25, Weirton 17.

During the month of August a total of 67 babies were examined at the Welfare house, while the figures for the entire series of clinics show 181 were given health tests.

Examinations are held every Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock.

WEIRTON ARSON SUSPECT FREED

Buckley O'Connor, 30, war veteran, who was held in connection with the fire at the yards of the Cove Valley Lumber company on Thursday morning, has been released by the Weirton police after an investigation showed the truth of his story that he had been sleeping in the ball park and ran to the fire to try to extinguish it.

O'Connor's shoes and hat were found under the bleachers at the ball ground where he had left them to run to the fire. O'Connor, who was gassed while serving 22 months overseas, is crippled and has an impediment in his speech which causes him to stammer.

Institute Closes.

GROSS SALES TAX IS UNDER FIRE

The so-called "gross sales tax" case was given into the hands of the supreme court yesterday for decision after argument of counsel for the state of West Virginia and for the Hope Natural Gas company, which is contending the tax is unconstitutional.

"That "gross sales tax" is a misnomer, was one of the main contentions of the state's counsel, however, much of the time being divided between this argument and another principal issue, the contention of the gas company that transportation of its gas to the state line was not a "mere incident" to its business.

T. C. Townsend and Fred O. Blue, former tax commissioners, presented the state's contention to the court, while H. D. Rummel and H. A. Ritz presented the arguments for the company.

Mr. Townsend, opening for the state, which appealed to the supreme court from an injunction against collection of the tax, denied that the tax was imposed on the proceeds of the sale of gas in interstate commerce but insisted it was in fact as well as in the wording of the law imposed on the privilege of producing gas, with the value of the gas as indicated by the proceeds of its sale as the measure of the tax.

Mr. Rummel took vigorous exception to the proposal that transportation of the gas to the state line, where it is sold to other companies whose pipe lines connect with those of the Hope company, was incidental and gave numerous statistics as to the large expense of this transportation.

RUBE GOLDBERG AND RED GRANGE ALIKE; BOTH SLEEP WITH MOUTH OPEN

SAN FRANCISCO.—Rube Goldberg, cartoonist, crawled down from his Fallen Arch Six here a few days ago and immediately voiced a mild, but nevertheless emphatic, complaint.

The fact that San Francisco has had "her neck washed," in other words, has lost some of the romance of old, by having a few layers of grime removed, causes Goldberg to shudder and predict the city will come to no good end.

The absence of fog in the city also caused a few disgruntled remarks from the "papa" of Boob McNutt.

"I suppose some trust has bought it," said Goldberg, unhappily. And then added, "It just seems that we can't have anything anymore."

Rube paused long enough to say that he was like "Red" Grange, in one respect.

"I also sleep with my mouth open," Goldberg confessed.

EIGHT KILLED, 20 INJURED IN TROLLEY CRASH

Disastrous Wreck Occurs West of Monroe, Mich.

OHIOANS VICTIMS

Misunderstanding of Orders by Motormen is Blamed.

MONROE, Mich., Sept. 3.—A misunderstanding of orders on the part of motormen, was today believed responsible for the disastrous wreck on the Detroit, Monroe and Toledo railway which late yesterday brought death to eight persons and serious injury to twenty others.

The trolley cars crashed head-on while rounding a sharp curve just west of Monroe. The heavy coaches were telescoped for nearly three-quarters of their length.

Those killed were:

DR. C. TRACY SOUTHWORTH, Monroe.
JOSEPH ROSENTHAL, Dundee.
W. E. ROONEY, Sandwich, Ontario.
ELIZABETH BURNS, Blissfield.
BENJAMIN FITCH, Detroit.
JACK FERGUSON, Toledo.
JACOB HUBER, Toledo.
A. M. HEFFNER, Detroit.

The more severely injured included:

ANDREW SCHLEGEL, Toledo, motorman of north bound car.
G. A. GESSNER, Toledo.
JOSE LONDEROS, Toledo.

Ambulances and private automobiles rushed the injured to Monroe hospitals. Of the score or more injured, several are expected to die.

spoil their children. The thousands will complain that they had no luck.

And in starting for the diamond fields they left behind them open libraries, opportunities without limit, and the certainty of independence, if they cared to work for it, without the hardship of a "diamond rush."

YOU know about Krishnamurti, the young Hindu who receives messages from "beyond." Another Hindu, worth 10,000,000 Krishnamurtis, is Assam Dina—enormously rich, married to an American girl, he inherited recently the astronomical observatory on Mt. Blanc, highest mountain in Europe, is bringing it up to date, equipped with the world's most powerful telescope.

The gentleman from India sends up his scientific materials by airplane and plans regular airplane service between the lower regions and Mt. Blanc by the eagle's route.

THAT'S the kind of Hindu the world needs, one that with his telescope will look out into space, find what is really happening there; not somebody to sit down and imagine that his poor, feeble little brain can be made a receiving station for divine wisdom.

Massillon Man

dict three men, jointly, for first degree murder.

The last of the 86 witnesses to testify in the startling murder case completed their presentation of evidence this morning.

The grand jury was then reported to have gone into immediate deliberation on the expected indictment.

Their report was predicted to come sometime this morning or early this afternoon.

Rudner, the son of a wealthy Canton junk dealer, was first brought under suspicion by the testimony of Steve Kascholk, Nanty Glo, Pa., miner, and informer, and star witness in the circumstantial case that has been brought against the two alleged murderers.

Kascholk has testified and made sworn affidavits, now a matter or record, that he went to Massillon with McDermott where they were "hired to slug an editor."

Kascholk in all his statements declared that Rudner hired them.

Later in the alleged plot, Kascholk refused to carry out his part and left Canton for Cleveland.

Girl Held As Witness.

The evidence in the possession of investigators shows that McDermott motored to Massillon about 10 days after the murder and stopped near the Rudner place of business.

According to testimony offered by Peggy Cavanaugh, Cleveland waitress, who accompanied him on the trip, McDermott returned to the automobile with a large roll of bills.

That was two days before the elusive McDermott was last seen.

Miss Cavanugh is now being held as a material witness in the county jail here under $10,000 bond. Many other material witnesses are being closely guarded to prevent attempts of intimidation.

Steubenville Is Rapped.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3.—"The supreme sacrifice of the editor of the Canton Daily News, Don R. Mellett, has brought to that city widespread advertisement of Canton's underworld, but bad as it may be, I do not regard it so bad, or so threatening, as the conditions that have been prevailing in the city of Steubenville.

Such was part of a letter addressed to Gov. Donahey here today by State Prohibition Director B. F. McDonald, in making his report for the last year.

DEATH ROLL

Richard Weston.

Richard Weston, 61 years old, died last night in his home, 130 Drury lane, after a three years' illness.

He is survived by his widow, four sons and four daughters: Richard, New York; James, Leonard, Joseph, Mrs. Minnie Strobel, Mrs. Mary Butler, Mrs. Anna Welch, and Miss Edith Weston, all of East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held in the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Both the industrial and railroad stocks showed traces of unsettlement in the early trading today, due to the withdrawal of speculative interest on the eve of the Labor day holiday, which extends from the closing today until next Tuesday morning.

Selling pressure on the industrials and the most active of the high-priced railroad shares procured a slight reactionary market in this period, with United States steel selling close to 148 and General Motors at 207. But strong demand for the better grade of railroad stocks soon turned the tide in that section of the market, and exceptional buoyancy was noted in Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Kay and Frisco.

Higher prices were also quoted for the equipment stocks with Pullman selling up 3 points at 184½ and Baldwin up a point at 121½. New advances were scored by a few of the motor stocks, with Studebaker in the most prominent position. Stewart Warner, in the motor accessory group, moved down to a new low at 65⅞. Public Utility stocks lost a good part of yesterday's gain. Universal Pipe declined sharply to 21 on short selling.

Call money was in supply at 4½ per cent for loans which hold over until next Tuesday. Commodity markets were dull and steady.

Farewell Services Sunday Night for Miss Ethel Smith

Farewell service for Miss Ethel Claretta Smith, niece of Field Major and Mrs. Joseph Hughes, who will enter the Salvation Army college, New York city, next week, will be held in the Salvation Army citadel at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening. Miss Smith came to East Liverpool last winter following the death of her mother, a sister of Mrs. Hughes in California.

Church Choir Rehearsal.

The St. Stephen's church choir will meet for rehearsal in the church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. All members are requested to be present.

RESUME AUTO THEFT INQUIRY

Wellsville Man is Under Arrest in Steubenville.

Pittsburgh detectives, investigating the thefts of half a hundred or more automobiles from that district recently were expected to return here today.

John Amato, 28, Wellsville, is being held in the Jefferson county jail at Steubenville under $5,000 bond for his appearance before United States Commissioner C. J. Bourouski, at Steubenville, on September 9, upon a charge of automobile larceny. Amato, who is alleged to have been hiding in Wellsburg, was arrested when he went to Steubenville to identify a car, which had been located by the sleuths.

Amato is said to have made a confession of his part in the operations of the alleged theft ring which may involve a number of prominent people in the Ohio valley before the probe is completed.

About 11 stolen cars taken from Pittsburgh have been located here during the last three or four days, according to Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, and the detectives believe that others will be found. The chief yesterday located a Buick car which is said to have been owned by a relative of the superintendent of the Pittsburgh police. Another car belonging to a Rochester man, stolen seven months ago, was found in possession of a local minister who said that he had bought it for $450.

Detectives place the value of the machines which they expect to recover in their investigation at approximately $175,000.

Schools Ask Levy

which must be paid in 1927 will amount to about $76,984 which will require 2.23 mills, estimating the tax duplicate of the school district at about $34,000,000. The special levy for 1928 will drop to about 1.5 mills when the debt payment will amount to about $51,174. It will jump back to 2.07 mills in 1929 when bonds and interest to the amount of $70,484 will be due. After that year there will be a decrease in the bonded indebtedness, thus cutting the special levy. Here are the estimates of the debt and the levy which have been made until 1935:

1930—Debt $69,644, levy 2.04; 1931—debt $67,244, levy 1.94; 1932—debt $60,830, levy 1.72; 1933—debt $58,670, levy 1.64; 1934—debt $54,510, levy 1.60; 1935—debt 50,410, levy 1.47.

May Affect Teachers.

Due to a delayed system of liquidating bonds, the school board it is claimed, is still paying for the Central building which was erected in 1894, 32 years ago. Interest only on the bonds issued to erect this building was paid until 1909 when the first payment on the principal was made. Interest only is also being paid on the bonds for the Pleasant Heights and Klondyke schools, the first payment on the pricipal not coming due for several years. All the present bonds, it is said, are due for payment not later than 1950.

"Money which will be derived from taxation this year will be sufficient to meet out expenses for about six months of the school term," D. F. White, president of the board said "Contracts of the school teachers call for a nine-month term. Teachers will be required to wait for their pay for the last three months of school if this issue fails to pass and contracts for the following year will be based on a six-month term."

The school board plans a campaign to apprise the electors of the crisis which faces the district should they fail to approve the proposed levy to take care of the debt. Voters of the school district last fall passed an issue continuing a two mill levy which expired that year.

Board Rules Amended.

The board, amending rules and regulations, named Miss Florence Updegraff, high school principal, custodian of the athletic funds. Miss Updegraff will be asked to make a financial report to the board at the end of the football season and again at the end of the basketball season to determine which of the high school athletics is on a self-sustaining basis. Heretofore funds of the athletic association have been handled through the school treasurer.

Another amendment to the rules and regulations was also approved which makes Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay a member of the board of control which has supervision over all athletics.

Resignation of Miss Jean Sloan as a teacher in the elementary school was accepted. Miss Sloan will resume her college work. Her place will be filled by Miss Ruth Wilson.

The board approved the recommendations of Superintendent McVay to appoint upper grade boys at the various elementary schools as traffic officers to assist smaller children in crossing busy thoroughfares. Removal of the telephone in the West End school to the Glenmoor building was also ordered.

injuries to the legs when he attempted to leap from his cab.

Engines Derailed.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3.—Officers of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad here received information shortly after the wreck, at Foley, Pa., in which two trainmen were killed, that the train crew of the freight which crashed into the passenger train ran past a safety signal.

First reports reaching here said that telegraph poles near the tracks were torn down, but that the rails were not badly damaged, and that train service over the route was to be resumed with only short delay.

Both engines and the baggage car of the passenger train were derailed, it was said.

AMERICANS PUT O. K. ON BATHTUB

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—If the use of bath tubs really indicates a lack of spirituality, as charged by Jiddi Krishnamurti, the self-styled "second Messiah," then the American people are without souls, the department of commerce revealed today.

Americans own and use more bathtubs and fancy bathrooms than any other people in the world, the department announced. As a further instance of "practicality," which the Indiana theosophist condemned, American bathtub manufacturers are slowly teaching all the rest of the world to use the soul-destroying implements.

While the department officials refused to discuss the spiritual effects of baths, their statistics showed that 1,250,000 bathtubs or bathrooms sets were manufactured in the United States last year with an average of 100,000 sets a month so far this year.

Senator Willis

and his visit to Marion, where he and others persuaded the then President-elect Warren G. Harding to join, Senator Willis declared Kiwanian principals of "honestly and fair-dealing" have been characteristic of Ohio and Ohio policies.

"It is not too late in our history to abandon these principles and they should be insisted upon in the settlement of at least two important questions," he said. "One of them is the Chicago water steal.

"Illinois has 60 miles of coast line on the Great Lakes and furnishes none of the water supply of the Great Lakes system. At one time, indeed, the Chicago river did flow into Lake Michigan, but under the unlawful diversion which now exists and has existed, the current of the river is reversed and instead of making contribution to the Lake system, it acts as a drain therefrom.

"Other states with water frontage on the Great Lakes furnish all the water supply and have about 3,000 miles of coast line. Yet, the advocates of the Chicago water steal propose that Illinois, which furnishes no water for the lake system and has only 60 miles of coast line, shall utilize the water of the Great Lakes to the detriment of those states which furnish all the water supply and have 3,000 miles of coast line.

Unlawful Diversion of Water.

"Already the detrimental effects of the unlawful diversion of water at Chicago are apparent in Great Lakes traffic. If Lake levels are to be continually reduced, it is a matter of only a short time until the industries of eastern Ohio will be seriously affected. Our industries have grown because of the facilities of lake transportation which have been developed to a high point of efficiency. The industrial life of this great valley is dependent on the maintenance of cheap transportation of coal and iron ore. If vessels which formerly loaded to 22 feet can load to only 18 or 18½ feet, it must be perfectly apparent that there will be a serious effect upon freight rates which will imperil, if not destroy the iron and steel industry in the Ohio and Mahoning Valleys.

"The United States has spent already something like $200,000,000 in improving channels and harbors on the Great Lakes. Why should the Chicago drainage district be permitted to tap the lake system and so reduce the levels that the depth of water in the harbors of Lake Erie is less even than before the improvements were made.

"There is a tremendous decrease in property values all along the lake shore because of the water steal.

"I am, and have been, a consistent and ardent supporter of river and harbor improvement. I do not propose, if I can help it, to see these improvements imperiled by the passage of pork barrel legislation such as is now pending in congress.

Debt Cancellation Question.

"Another question that relates back to old-fashioned Ohio honesty for its settlement is the question which has recently been raised with reference to cancellation of the foreign debt.

"It must be perfectly evident that if these debts are to be cancelled, they must be paid by someone. If taxpayers in Europe are relieved of the burden that means that the burden will be transferred to the shoulders of American taxpayers. The extension of foreign trade is desirable, but upon what theory should the general taxpayers of this country be burdened in order that special favors may be granted to those who would benefit by foreign trade? If there are those who feel that foreign trade should be encouraged by creating a better feeling on the part of European buyers, why do not these people cancel some of their own obligations rather than call upon the people of the United States to wipe out the foreign debt.

"It is all very nice for the debtors to talk about sitting around the table and cancelling debts, but how about the creditors?

Foreign Bond Holders' Plan.

"Uncle Sam would be certain to lose in such a game.

"The animus of this matter is evidently the desire of certain holders of bonds to increase the selling value of these bonds. It is apparent that if the federal government would cancel its obligation, the private holders of foreign bonds would benefit thereby to the increase in value of their securities.

"It might as well be understood that America would not gain the favor of Europe by cancelling this debt; Europe would simply feel that it had beaten America, and if we agreed to the cancellations we would be laughed at for our simplicity.

"Our government has been fair and generous; it has gone as far as it will go. There will be, and ought to be, no cancellation of foreign debts."

Routs Robbers With Milk Bottles.

AKRON, O., Sept. 3—When requested to "put up your hands," by two youths whom she described as "sheik robbers," Mrs. Ralph Kuskin, wife of the proprietor of a grocery store, routed the intruders with a shower of milk bottles and canned goods.

KNOWLES CUP PLAY BEGINS

Country Club Women Must Qualify Before Sept. 8.

Women of the East Liverpool Country club will participate in a championship tournament during the month of September for the Mrs. Edwin M. Knowles trophy.

All qualifying scores must be in the hands of the committee not later than September 8. Name of each winner is to be engraved on the cup which will be kept in the club house. It is the plans of the women's golf committee to present each victor with a replica of the Knowles cup for permanent possession.

Mrs. Edwin Wells, Jr., will donate the low medal score trophy for the tournament and Mrs. Robert Harker will present the runners-up trophy.

Mrs. Paul V. Robinson will offer a trophy for the winner of the second division and Mrs. John C. Thompson will donate the runner-up cup.

LARCENY COUNTS ARE DISMISSED

Charges of larceny filed against Orville McDole and Raymond Garrett, East End youths, were dismissed following a hearing before Municipal Judge Hanley this morning.

They were charged with having broken into the home of James Martin, East End, last Saturday night, when $200 worth of loot was taken. The case was dismissed because of lack of evidence.

The youths were represented by Attorney James Davis, while Attorney Ben L. Bennett appeared for the prosecution.

rendered for the defendant, when it should have been rendered for the plaintiff.

"Seventh—The verdict, judgment and decision of the court in this case is not sustained by sufficient evidence, and is contrary to law.

"Eighth — Accident and surprise which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against and which arose in this case in the matter of the circumstances and testimony of the witness, William Wright.

"Ninth—Newly discovered evidence, material for the plaintiff, and such evidence as the plaintiff did not know, or with the exercise of reasonable diligence, could not have found or discovered and produced at the trial."

It is expected arguments on the motion will be heard by Wednesday by Judge Spence.

Fultz, acting under advice of his attorneys, Ben L. Bennett and F. E. Grosshans, of East Liverpool, and W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, will report daily at city hall in Wellsville.

100 Occupants of Little Building Guests At Outing

Afternoon Program of Sports, Boating and Dancing Precedes Dinner at Eagleton's Glen.

With business in its various store rooms and offices suspended, occupants of the Little building in the Diamond held an outing at Eagleton's Glen, four miles north of Lisbon, yesterday afternoon and evening. More than 100 persons attended.

The affair, unique in its character by reason of being without precedent, was so successful despite the inclement weather prevailing that decision was unanimously made to repeat the event in 1927 at a time and place to be decided by Owner Frank Little and a committee yet to be named.

Following the dinner at 6 o'clock, addresses were made. Attorney William S. Foulkes acted as toastmaster.

H. B. Barth, secretary of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, remarked the uniqueness of the affair in that no office building in the city had ever before undertaken such a departure. He lauded Messers. Frank and John and Miss Mae Little, owners of the edifice, for their free abandon and generous tone in going into the undertaking which fact had guaranteed its success. "We all are to be congratulated at having such landlords," he said. "What has been so auspiciously begun here today will be repeated with even greater success in the future," he predicted.

Attorney Walter S. Stevenson greatly appealed with a realistic account of his visit to the Klondyke during the gold rush to the far north a couple of decades ago.

Dr. Samuel Rich indulged in numerous witticisms while speaking on the theme "The Fifth Floor Back." "Such affairs as this one is goes far in making for fraternalism that is as delightful as it is helpful," he declared. "We shall all be the better for having sat down and broken bread together while indulging in addition in the recreations which this beautiful park affords."

Dr. Bert George felicitated those in attendance while giving some experiences of a recent motor trip into Canada.

Lee C. Cooper, also of the fifth floor, gave a glowing description of Round Knob, the highest point in Madison township and Columbiana County, a spot of particular apeal to him in that it is situated near his birth place and the scenes of his boyhood. "Indeed, I thought so much of Round Knob that I was careful in procuring a home from which I could view this high spot and the three trees that tower from its crest," he averred. "To me it has ever been an inspiration and it is a pleasure to visit it frequently."

Earl Welsh, active in bringing about the outing, spoke in kindred vein of its outcome and bespoke many happy returns of the day with added cheer under fairer skies.

Attorney Foulks was especially happy in his introductions, but failed in but one particular—the inspiring of Landlord Frank Little into responding with an address. The later beamed his appreciation of the event and postponed indefinitely his oratory.

Following the dinner, served by Caterer John Eagleton, which ran the gamut of delectable food from fried chicken to ice cream, nuts and coffee, with the necessary adjunct trimmings a corn roast and marshmallow toast was indulged in at 8 o'clock.

Dancing, directed by Miller's six-piece orchestra, was a feature of the afternoon and evening.

A strictly masculine departure was a baseball game between the Fifth floor occupants and those on the other floors of the building. Dr. Colin Kinsey was the "Walter Johnson" of the former aggregation with William Cooper handling his speedful shoots and slants. For the under floors Dr. Fred Adams qualified as an unknocked out twirler with William Lemmer as the backstop. Both dentists were in rare form.

The contest finally resulted in a narrow victory for the Fifth floor, 17 to 13. The victors had 11 hits to the vanquished's 10. The latter led in miscues, 6 to 4.

Boating and some swimming were also diversions of the visitors.

Meeting at the City lot on Sixth street the majority of picnickers started for the park shortly after 1 o'clock.

Council Calls Vote

was shelved for two weeks to permit corrections.

Service-Safety Director Moore informed council that at a conference this week with County Auditor Elmer E. Walker at Lisbon he had been told that the city next year would not receive as much money from taxation as he had anticipated. He stated that the money for the present year was based on a 2.58 millage, while next year it would be on a 2.59 rates.

Resolutions providing for installation of sanitary sewers in Erie and Hazel streets were approved after the dirctor had said that the department had sufficient funds on hands to meet the cost.

Drainage Claim Presented.

Claim presented by A. M. Young for $75 which he asked as damages done to his automobile when it crashed into a man hole in Second street was rejected. Elwyn Shenkel was awarded $25 for damages done his overcoat while fighting a fire a few months ago at the Williams cooper shop.

Leslie Curran, who acted as court bailiff while Carman Hissam was on his vacation, was voted $40 for his services. The money will be taken from the $300 recently appropriated for a salary increase for the bailiff.

A delegation of citizens from West Eighth street protested against conditions caused by the building of a new road and were told by the service-safety director that relief would be given as soon as the contractors completed the work.

EIGHT KILLED, 20 INJURED IN TROLLEY CRASH

Disastrous Wreck Occurs West of Monroe, Mich.

OHIOANS VICTIMS

Misunderstanding of Orders by Motormen is Blamed.

MONROE, Mich., Sept. 3.—A misunderstanding of orders on the part of motormen, was today believed responsible for the disastrous wreck on the Detroit, Monroe and Toledo railway which late yesterday brought death to eight persons and serious injury to twenty others.

The trolley cars crashed head-on while rounding a sharp curve just west of Monroe. The heavy coaches were telescoped for nearly three-quarters of their length.

Those killed were:

DR. C. TRACY SOUTHWORTH, Monroe.

JOSEPH ROSENTHAL, Dundee.

W. E. ROONEY, Sandwich, Ontario.

ELIZABETH BURNS, Blissfield.

BENJAMIN FITCH, Detroit.

JACK FERGUSON, Toledo.

JACOB HUBER, Toledo.

A. M. HEFFNER, Detroit.

The more severely injured included:

ANDREW SCHLEGEL, Toledo, motorman of north bound car.

G. A. GESSNER, Toledo.

JOSE LONDEROS, Toledo.

Ambulances and private automobiles rushed the injured to Monroe hospitals. Of the score or more injured, several are expected to die.

YOU know about Krishnamurti, the young Hindu who receives messages from "beyond." Another Hindu, worth 10,000,000 Krishnamurtis, is Assam Dina—enormously rich, married to an American girl, he inherited recently the astronomical observatory on Mt. Blanc, highest mountain in Europe, is bringing it up to date, equipped with the world's most powerful telescope.

The gentleman from India sends up his scientific materials by airplane and plans regular airplane service between the lower regions and Mt. Blanc by the eagle's route.

THAT'S the kind of Hindu the world needs, one that with his telescope will look out into space, find what is really happening there; not somebody to sit down and imagine that his poor, feeble little brain can be made a receiving station for divine wisdom.

Massillon Man

dict three men, jointly, for first degree murder.

The last of the 86 witnesses to testify in the startling murder case completed their presentation of evidence this morning.

The grand jury was then reported to have gone into immediate deliberation on the expected indictment.

Their report was predicted to come sometime this morning or early this afternoon.

Rudner, the son of a wealthy Canton junk dealer, was first brought under suspicion by the testimony of Steve Kascholk, Nanty Glo, Pa., miner, and informer, and star witness in the circumstantial case that has been brought against the two alleged murderers.

Kascholk has testified and made sworn affidavits, now a matter or record, that he went to Massillon with McDermott where they were "hired to slug an editor."

Kascholk in all his statements declared that Rudner hired them.

Later in the alleged plot, Kascholk refused to carry out his part and left Canton for Cleveland.

Girl Held As Witness.

The evidence in the possession of investigators shows that McDermott motored to Massillon about 10 days after the murder and stopped near the Rudner place of business.

According to testimony offered by Peggy Cavanaugh, Cleveland waitress, who accompanied him on the trip, McDermott returned to the automobile with a large roll of bills.

That was two days before the elusive McDermott was last seen.

Miss Cavanugh is now being held as a material witness in the county jail here under $10,000 bond. Many other material witnesses are being closely guarded to prevent attempts of intimidation.

Steubenville Is Rapped.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3.—"The supreme sacrifice of the editor of the Canton Daily News, Don R. Mellett, has brought to that city widespread advertisement of Canton's underworld, but bad as it may be, I do not regard it so bad, or so threatening, as the conditions that have been prevailing in the city of Steubenville.

Such was part of a letter addressed to Gov. Donahey here today by State Prohibition Director B. F. McDonald, in making his report for the last year.

DEATH ROLL

Richard Weston.

Richard Weston, 61 years old, died last night in his home, 130 Drury lane, after a three years' illness.

He is survived by his widow, four sons and four daughters: Richard, New York; James, Leonard, Joseph, Mrs. Minnie Strobel, Mrs. Mary Butler, Mrs. Anna Welch, and Miss Edith Weston, all of East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held in the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Both the industrial and railroad stocks showed traces of unsettlement in the early trading today, due to the withdrawal of speculative interest on the eve of the Labor day holiday, which extends from the closing today until next Tuesday morning.

Selling pressure on the industrials and the most active of the high-priced railroad shares procured a slight reactionary market in this period, with United States steel selling close to 148 and General Motors at 207. But strong demand for the better grade of railroad stocks soon turned the tide in that section of the market, and exceptional buoyancy was noted in Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Kay and Frisco.

Higher prices were also quoted for the equipment stocks with Pullman selling up 3 points at 184½ and Baldwin up a point at 121½. New advances were scored by a few of the motor stocks, with Studebaker in the most prominent position. Stewart Warner, in the motor accessory group, moved down to a new low at 65¾. Public Utility stocks lost a good part of yesterday's gain. Universal Pipe declined sharply to 21 on short selling.

Call money was in supply at 4½ per cent for loans which hold over until next Tuesday. Commodity markets were dull and steady.

Farewell Services Sunday Night for Miss Ethel Smith

Farewell service for Miss Ethel Claretta Smith, niece of Field Major and Mrs. Joseph Hughes, who will enter the Salvation Army college, New York city, next week, will be held in the Salvation Army citadel at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening. Miss Smith came to East Liverpool last winter following the death of her mother, a sister of Mrs. Hughes in California.

Church Choir Rehearsal.

The St. Stephen's church choir will meet for rehearsal in the church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. All members are requested to be present.

RESUME AUTO THEFT INQUIRY

Wellsville Man is Under Arrest in Steubenville.

Pittsburgh detectives, investigating the thefts of half a hundred or more automobiles from that district recently were expected to return here today.

John Amato, 28, Wellsville, is being held in the Jefferson county jail at Steubenville under $5,000 bond for his appearance before United States Commissioner C. J. Bourouski, at Steubenville, on September 9, upon a charge of automobile larceny. Amato, who is alleged to have been hiding in Wellsburg, was arrested when he went to Steubenville to identify a car, which had been located by the sleuths.

Amato is said to have made a confession of his part in the operations of the alleged theft ring which may involve a number of prominent people in the Ohio valley before the probe is completed.

About 11 stolen cars taken from Pittsburgh have been located here during the last three or four days, according to Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, and the detectives believe that others will be found. The chief yesterday located a Buick car which is said to have been owned by a relative of the superintendent of the Pittsburgh police. Another car belonging to a Rochester man, stolen seven months ago, was found in possession of a local minister who said that he had bought it for $450.

Detectives place the value of the machines which they expect to recover in their investigation at approximately $175,000.

Schools Ask Levy

which must be paid in 1927 will amount to about $76,984 which will require 2.23 mills, estimating the tax duplicate of the school district at about $34,000,000. The special levy for 1928 will drop to about 1.5 mills when the debt payment will amount to about $51,174. It will jump back to 2.07 mills in 1929 when bonds and interest to the amount of $70,484 will be due. After that year there will be a decrease in the bonded indebtedness, thus cutting the special levy. Here are the estimates of the debt and the levy which have been made until 1935:

1930—Debt $69,644, levy 2.04; 1931—debt $67,244, levy 1.94; 1932—debt $60,830, levy 1.72; 1933—debt $58,670, levy 1.64; 1934—debt $54,510, levy 1.60; 1935—debt 50,410, levy 1.47.

May Affect Teachers.

Due to a delayed system of liquidating bonds, the school board it is claimed, is still paying for the Central building which was erected in 1894, 32 years ago. Interest only on the bonds issued to erect this building was paid until 1909 when the first payment on the principal was made. Interest only is also being paid on the bonds for the Pleasant Heights and Klondyke schools, the first payment on the pricipal not coming due for several years. All the present bonds, it is said, are due for payment not later than 1950.

"Money which will be derived from taxation this year will be sufficient to meet out expenses for about six months of the school term," D. F. White, president of the board said. "Contracts of the school teachers call for a nine-month term. Teachers will be required to wait for their pay for the last three months of school if this issue fails to pass and contracts for the following year will be based on a six-month term."

The school board plans a campaign to apprise the electors of the crisis which faces the district should they fail to approve the proposed levy to take care of the debt. Voters of the school district last fall passed an issue continuing a two mill levy which expired that year.

Board Rules Amended.

The board, amending rules and regulations, named Miss Florence Updegraff, high school principal, custodian of the athletic funds. Miss Updegraff will be asked to make a financial report to the board at the end of the football season and again at the end of the basketball season to determine which of the high school athletics is on a self-sustaining basis. Heretofore funds of the athletic association have been handled through the school treasurer.

Another amendment to the rules and regulations was also approved which makes Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay a member of the board of control which has supervision over all athletics.

Resignation of Miss Jean Sloan as a teacher in the elementary school was accepted. Miss Sloan will resume her college work. Her place will be filled by Miss Ruth Wilson.

The board approved the recommendations of Superintendent McVay to appoint upper grade boys at the various elementary schools as traffic officers to assist smaller children in crossing busy thoroughfares. Removal of the telephone in the West End school to the Glenmoor building was also ordered.

Engines Derailed.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3.—Officers of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad here received information shortly after the wreck, at Foley, Pa., in which two trainmen were killed, that the train crew of the freight which crashed into the passenger train ran past a safety signal.

First reports reaching here said that telegraph poles near the tracks were torn down, but that the rails were not badly damaged, and that train service over the route was to be resumed with only short delay.

Both engines and the baggage car of the passenger train were derailed, it was said.

AMERICANS PUT O. K. ON BATHTUB

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—If the use of bath tubs really indicates a lack of spirituality, as charged by Jiddi Krishnamurti, the self-styled "second Messiah," then the American people are without souls, the department of commerce revealed today.

Americans own and use more bathtubs and fancy bathrooms than any other people in the world, the department announced. As a further instance of "practicality," which the Indiana theosophist condemned, American bathtub manufacturers are slowly teaching all the rest of the world to use the soul-destroying implements.

While the department officials refused to discuss the spiritual effects of baths, their statistics showed that 1,250,000 bathtubs or bathrooms sets were manufactured in the United States last year with an average of 100,000 sets a month so far this year.

Senator Willis

and his visit to Marion, where he and others persuaded the then President-elect Warren G. Harding to join, Senator Willis declared Kiwanian principals of "honestly and fair-dealing" have been characteristic of Ohio and Ohio policies.

"It is not too late in our history to abandon these principles and they should be insisted upon in the settlement of at least two important questions," he said. "One of them is the Chicago water steal.

"Illinois has 60 miles of coast line on the Great Lakes and furnishes none of the water supply of the Great Lakes system. At one time, indeed, the Chicago river did flow into Lake Michigan, but under the unlawful diversion which now exists and has existed, the current of the river is reversed and instead of making contribution to the Lake system, it acts as a drain therefrom.

"Other states with water frontage on the Great Lakes furnish all the water supply and have about 3,000 miles of coast line. Yet, the advocates of the Chicago water steal propose that Illinois, which furnishes no water for the lake system and has only 60 miles of coast line, shall utilize the water of the Great Lakes to the detriment of those states which furnish all the water supply and have 3,000 miles of coast line.

Unlawful Diversion of Water.

"Already the detrimental effects of the unlawful diversion of water at Chicago are apparent in Great Lakes traffic. If Lake levels are to be continually reduced, it is a matter of only a short time until the industries of eastern Ohio will be seriously affected. Our industries have grown because of the facilities of lake transportation which have been developed to a high point of efficiency. The industrial life of this great valley is dependent on the maintenance of cheap transportation of coal and iron ore. If vessels which formerly loaded to 22 feet can load to only 18 or 18½ feet, it must be perfectly apparent that there will be a serious effect upon freight rates which will imperil, if not destroy the iron and steel industry in the Ohio and Mahoning Valleys.

"The United States has spent already something like $200,000,000 in improving channels and harbors on the Great Lakes. Why should the Chicago drainage district be permitted to tap the lake system and so reduce the levels that the depth of water in the harbors of Lake Erie is less even than before the improvements were made.

"There is a tremendous decrease in property values all along the lake shore because of the water steal.

"I am, and have been, a consistent and ardent supporter of river and harbor improvement. I do not propose, if I can help it, to see these improvements imperiled by the passage of pork barrel legislation such as is now pending in congress.

Debt Cancellation Question.

"Another question that relates back to old-fashioned Ohio honesty for its settlement is the question which has recently been raised with reference to cancellation of the foreign debt.

"It must be perfectly evident that if these debts are to be cancelled, they must be paid by someone. If taxpayers in Europe are relieved of the burden that means that the burden will be transferred to the shoulders of American taxpayers. The extension of foreign trade is desirable, but upon what theory should the general taxpayers of this country be burdened in order that special favors may be granted to those who would benefit by foreign trade? If there are those who feel that foreign trade should be encouraged by creating a better feeling on the part of European buyers, why do not these people cancel some of their own obligations rather than call upon the people of the United States to wipe out the foreign debt.

"It is all very nice for the debtors to talk about sitting around the table and cancelling debts, but how about the creditors?

Foreign Bond Holders' Plan.

"Uncle Sam would be certain to lose in such a game.

"The animus of this matter is evidently the desire of certain holders of bonds to increase the selling value of these bonds. It is apparent that if the federal government would cancel its obligation, the private holders of foreign bonds would benefit thereby to the increase in value of their securities.

"It might as well be understood that America would not gain the favor of Europe by cancelling this debt; Europe would simply feel that it had beaten America, and if we agreed to the cancellations we would be laughed at for our simplicity.

"Our government has been fair and generous; it has gone as far as it will go. There will be, and ought to be, no cancellation of foreign debts."

Routs Robbers With Milk Bottles.

AKRON, O., Sept. 3—When requested to "put up your hands," by two youths whom she described as "sheik robbers," Mrs. Ralph Kuskin, wife of the proprietor of a grocery store, routed the intruders with a shower of milk bottles and canned goods.

KNOWLES CUP PLAY BEGINS

Country Club Women Must Qualify Before Sept. 8.

Women of the East Liverpool Country club will participate in a championship tournament during the month of September for the Mrs. Edwin M. Knowles trophy.

All qualifying scores must be in the hands of the committee not later than September 8. Name of each winner is to be engraved on the cup which will be kept in the club house. It is the plans of the women's golf committee to present each victor with a replica of the Knowles cup for permanent possession.

Mrs. Edwin Wells, Jr., will donate the low medal score trophy for the tournament and Mrs. Robert Harker will present the runners-up trophy.

Mrs. Paul V. Robinson will offer a trophy for the winner of the second division and Mrs. John C. Thompson will donate the runner-up cup.

LARCENY COUNTS ARE DISMISSED

Charges of larceny filed against Orville McDole and Raymond Garrett, East End youths, were dismissed following a hearing before Municipal Judge Hanley this morning.

They were charged with having broken into the home of James Martin, East End, last Saturday night, when $200 worth of loot was taken. The case was dismissed because of lack of evidence.

The youths were represented by Attorney James Davis, while Attorney Ben L. Bennett appeared for the prosecution.

rendered for the defendant, when it should have been rendered for the plaintiff.

"Seventh—The verdict, judgment and decision of the court in this case is not sustained by sufficient evidence, and is contrary to law.

"Eighth — Accident and surprise which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against and which arose in this case in the matter of the circumstances and testimony of the witness, William Wright.

"Ninth—Newly discovered evidence, material for the plaintiff, and such evidence as the plaintiff did not know, or with the exercise of reasonable diligence, could not have found or discovered and produced at the trial."

It is expected arguments on the motion will be heard by Wednesday by Judge Spence.

Fultz, acting under advice of his attorneys, Ben L. Bennett and F. E. Grosshans, of East Liverpool, and W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, will report daily at city hall in Wellsville.

100 Occupants of Little Building Guests At Outing

Afternoon Program of Sports, Boating and Dancing Precedes Dinner at Eagleton's Glen.

With business in its various store rooms and offices suspended, occupants of the Little building in the Diamond held an outing at Eagleton's Glen, four miles north of Lisbon, yesterday afternoon and evening. More than 100 persons attended.

The affair, unique in its character by reason of being without precedent, was so successful despite the inclement weather prevailing that decision was unanimously made to repeat the event in 1927 at a time and place to be decided by Owner Frank Little and a committee yet to be named.

Following the dinner at 6 o'clock, addresses were made. Attorney William S. Foulkes acted as toastmaster.

H. B. Barth, secretary of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, remarked the uniqueness of the affair in that no office building in the city had ever before undertaken such a departure. He lauded Messers. Frank and John and Miss Mae Little, owners of the edifice, for their free abandon and generous tone in going into the undertaking which fact had guaranteed its success. "We all are to be congratulated at having such landlords," he said. "What has been so auspiciously begun here today will be repeated with even greater success in the future," he predicted.

Attorney Walter S. Stevenson greatly appealed with a realistic account of his visit to the Klondyke during the gold rush to the far north a couple of decades ago.

Dr. Samuel Rich indulged in numerous witticisms while speaking on the theme "The Fifth Floor Back." "Such affairs as this one is goes far in making for fraternalism that is as delightful as it is helpful," he declared. "We shall all be the better for having sat down and broken bread together while indulging in addition in the recreations which this beautiful park affords."

Dr. Bert George felicitated those in attendance while giving some experiences of a recent motor trip into Canada.

Lee C. Cooper, also of the fifth floor, gave a glowing description of Round Knob, the highest point in Madison township and Columbiana County, a sopt of particular apeal to him in that it is situated near his birth place and the scenes of his boyhood. "Indeed, I thought so much of Round Knob that I was careful in procuring a home from which I could view this high spot and the three trees that tower from its crest," he averred. "To me it has ever been an inspiration and it is a pleasure to visit it frequently."

Earl Welsh, active in bringing about the outing, spoke in kindred vein of its outcome and bespoke many happy returns of the day with added cheer under fairer skies.

Attorney Foulks was especially happy in his introductions, but failed in but one particular—the inspiring of Landlord Frank Little into responding with an address. The later beamed his appreciation of the event and postponed indefinitely his oratory.

Following the dinner, served by Caterer John Eagleton, which ran the gamut of delectable food from fried chicken to ice cream, nuts and coffee, with the necessary adjunct trimmings a corn roast and marshmallow toast was indulged in at 8 o'clock.

Dancing, directed by Miller's six-piece orchestra, was a feature of the afternoon and evening.

A strictly masculine departure was a baseball game between the Fifth floor occupants and those on the other floors of the building. Dr. Colin Kinsey was the "Walter Johnson" of the former aggregation with William Cooper handling his speedful shoots and slants. For the under floors Dr. Fred Adams qualified as an unknocked out twirler with William Lemmer as the backstop. Both dentists were in rare form.

The contest finally resulted in a narrow victory for the Fifth floor, 17 to 13. The victors had 11 hits to the vanquished's 10. The latter led in miscues, 6 to 4.

Boating and some swimming were also diversions of the visitors.

Meeting at the City lot on Sixth street the majority of picnickers started for the park shortly after 1 o'clock.

Council Calls Vote

was shelved for two weeks to permit corrections.

Service-Safety Director Moore informed council that at a conference this week with County Auditor Elmer E. Walker at Lisbon he had been told that the city next year would not receive as much money from taxation as he had anticipated. He stated that the money for the present year was based on a 2.58 millage, while next year it would be on a 2.59 rates.

Resolutions providing for installation of sanitary sewers in Erie and Hazel streets were approved after the dirctor had said that the department had sufficient funds on hands to meet the cost.

Drainage Claim Presented.

Claim presented by A. M. Young for $75 which he asked as damages done to his automobile when it crashed into a man hole in Second street was rejected. Elwyn Shenkel was awarded $25 for damages done his overcoat while fighting a fire a few months ago at the Williams cooper shop.

Leslie Curran, who acted as court bailiff while Carman Hissam was on his vacation, was voted $40 for his services. The money will be taken from the $300 recently appropriated for a salary increase for the bailiff.

A delegation of citizens from West Eighth street protested against conditions caused by the building of a new road and were told by the service-safety director that relief would be given as soon as the contractors completed the work.

BEANTOWN WOMAN VIOLATES PAROLE

Mrs. Maude French residing near Beantown on the Wellsville-Lisbon road, who was given a suspended sentence to Marysville last May by Juvenile Judge Lodge Riddle, because of the violation of her parole, was taken to that institution Tuesday by Sheriff George Wright.

The home of the woman was raided by Sheriff Wright Saturday night and five young men from Irondale were found in the place. The woman was taken to the county jail and also the young men. The latter were paroled by the court Monday afternoon after being given a hearing but Mrs. French was not brought into court.

It was the order of the court last May that Mrs. French place her children with other relatives, but she failed to do this.

SAMUEL RINI AUTO VICTIM

Youth Injured When Car Hurtles Embankment.

Samuel Rini, 22, 1411 Center street, was lacerated about the face and head when his automobile hurtled over an embankment along the Wellsville-East Liverpool road near Kountz avenue at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The youth, alone in the car, was traveling toward East Liverpool when the machine left the road. The automobile overturned three times and came to a stop when it struck a stone wall at the rear of the residence owned by Stephen Smurda.

Rini was thrown from the machine when it overturned the first time. He was removed to the East Liverpool hospital in the Miller ambulance. Dr. J. S. McCullough attended him.

The automobile, which was badly damaged, was taken to a Wellsville garage last night.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK ONE—X.

"No, I daresay he hasn't," Jock muttered meaningly.

Eunice giggled. "Oh, you men! You stick together so, it isn't even funny. Anybody'd think big horrid Jock didn't want poah little Eunice to have a new fur coat and was actually soah 'cause she got one!"

Jock thought, "If Brad's got to sweat blood to pay for it the way I think he has, I am sore." Aloud he said merely, "We ought to be getting along, Eunice. It's almost two-thirty!"

When Eunice had disappeared into her room again and returned, she was still wearing the coat. "I've got to," she declared. "I'll probably wilt, but I can't go without it." She had pinned an artificial orchid on the collar, and her pert felt hat was orchid-colored. She looked extremely well, and knew it. There was a pause while she stood pulling on her gloves and smiling up at Jock—smiling an unmistakable invitation. Jock retaliated somewhat pointedly by opening the front door and awaiting her on the porch, in full view of a dozen passing people.

"Brad's been gone since 10 o'clock th's mornin'," Eunice remarked as they started for the game in the roadster. "I declare, bein' married to a coach isn't any fun at all durin' football season. He's out most of the day, and when he does get home at night he's too tiahed to take me any place so I just sit at home like a bump on a log." Her voice rasped unpleasantly; a drawl can so easily deteriorate into a whine. She added, "Of course I'm always hopin' my friends will drop in to see me, but they nevah seem to."

"I've been busy as the devil," said Jock, taking this, as it was meant, personally.

"Who's the girl you asked to the game today and who couldn't come? Brad told me you seemed quite broken-hearted."

"Yvonne Mountford, her name is."

"Is she attractive?"

"Wonderful, yes." A desire to annoy Eunice, with whom he was himself more than usually annoyed at the moment, prompted Jock to continue in this strain. "I don't think I've ever seen a more attractive girl in my life. She's unique. She had red hair—sort of a tiger-lily red, if you know what I mean, and a mouth like—like Cleopatra's kiss. And absolutely perfect features. All the men darn near lose an eye when she walks into the room."

"Well!" said Eunice acidly. I should like to see this vision!"

"Oh, you will," Jock assured her. "She'll be down here often, I hope. Gosh, Eunice, look at the crowd! And for an opening game, too."

A great crowd, indeed. It swarmed ahead of them, using the whole street as a sidewalk. Jock and Eunice had an impression of thousands—myriads, it seemed—of backs. Broad staunch backs. Little gay backs with syncopating shoulders. Raccoon backs and broadcloth backs and fat back and lean. "I feel," Jock said, "like a shepherd driving a flock before he." They crawled along, sounding the horn repeatedly—and vainly. Soon they were obliged to park the roadster and proceed on foot with the rest.

The Stadium from without was a high circular concrete wall with a picot edge of small dark heads around its upper rim. At the base there were tunnel-like entrances, into which the crowd streamed ceaselessly. The air was full of a muffled roaring, and, nearer, the sharp cries of the gatekeepers: "Hold your own tickets, please! Let the lady hold her own ticket!"

Jock grabbed Eunice's arm. "Come on, let's hurry," he said. The football fever, always an autumn obsession with him, had suddenly taken hold anew.

They pried their way to and through a tunnel, and came out panting into the Stadium proper. A vast cup of people. Parti-colored atoms, these, set into place on the sides of the cup carefully, as though some master artist had put them in with pincers, saying, "We will have a red dot here, we will have a blue dot there, and there a yellow one." A human cloisonne cup. A cup for a giant to sip from, with the smooth green dregs of a giant's creme-de-menthe in the bottom.

"Boy!" breathed Jock softly.

He always had rather a bad time at football games because there was a perpetual lump in his throat of which he was dismaly conscious and ashamed. This had nothing whatever to do with the score; if his team was winning he felt it even more acutely than when they were losing. It was his reaction to the spirit of the occasion—to the long low rumble of "Fight! Fight! Fi-i-ight!" and to the tense electric air. When a player was hurt and borne from the field Jock felt no emotion beyond a sporting interest in how badly he was hurt and how much his loss would mean to the team. But when a player was hurt, and lay prostrate, and after a time rose doggedly to carry on—then he could have wept aloud for the thrill that ran all through him. Courage. That was what caused the lump. Grim relentless courage, and flash of glory, and the one boom in his ears of forty thousand voices cheering one man.

While the game was in progress he quite forgot Eunice. She became merely a shoulder that braced itself against his and a source of murmured comments, only remotely heard. But between the halves he was made aware of her in a most unfortunate way.

They had risen to their feet to stretch themselves and to gaze down the slope of heads that lay below them. And Jock heard a girl say, "For cat's sake will you look at the coat on Eunice Hathaway!"

The remark came from back of him somewhere. A man answered, "Yeah. Good, isn't it?"

Then the girl: "Good? I should say it is good. That's real mink, and worth more money than Brad Hathaway ever saw! Either he's struck oil or else—"

Jock looked around. He had no difficulty in identifying the couple. They were in the row behind him, two or three seats to the left, a sophomore named MacLellan and Winifred James, a "college widow" whom Jock knew slightly. Winifred was whispering the rest of her sentence into MacLellan's ear, and the eyes of both were fixed, not on Eunice's coat, but very sharply and sagaciously on Jock himself. As he faced them they drew apart in haste and nodded to him with an assumption of blandest innocence. Winifred even gave him a salute and said, "Hi there, Jock!" But Jock was not deceived. "My God," he told himself, "they think I bought Eunice's coat! That's what she was whispering—that I bought it—on my God!"

He turned back again, and the instant he had done so instinct told him that Winifred said, "Heavens, do you think he heard me?" He fancied he could almost see her saying it. . . . He shot a quick side glance at Eunice and noted that she appeared quite unconscious. He was glad of this; but the afternoon was utterly ruined nevertheless. Even the team's victory failed to rouse in him more than a fleeting enthusiasm.

EARTH CANNOT HIT OTHER PLANETS DECLARES FAMOUS ASTRONOMER

BERLIN.—"I do not believe in the 'end of the world,' that is, in its destruction by clashes with other planets," said Dr. F. S. Archenhold, director of the Treptow Observatory, one of the largest in Germany, in an interview with a Berlin paper.

"I am suprised to find papers and periodicals occupied with prophecies on the 'end of the world.' Any serious scientist has long ceased occupying his mind with such barren theories. I admit that superstition will cause the masses of the people to think and argue about such questions, but for scientists this question is no longer a problem because it has been established for certain that the planetary system of the world is so stable even a clash with one of the fragments of former planets or comets forms no danger to earth. The appalling speed of 19 kilometers per second with which the earth moves is safety enough against destruction if she should meet a planet on her way. Earth would simply push aside if not destroy any planet clashing with her.

THE BOSS CALLED ME BACK

I'm the TRY Man who writes the advertisements for TRY'S, anyway, I'm on my vacation when all at once I get a telephone call to report in, which I do, and the chief tells me this: "I want you to write an ad for Friday's paper telling the motorists of Columbiana county that we are closing our first Semi-Annual Sale Saturday night. Tell them that if they are figuring on taking a motor trip over LABOR DAY that they had better check over their busses and get busy.

I came back quick like and says: "Get busy doing what?" Just to show that he's not so dumb, he says: "Why get busy finding out whether they need a new Tire, Tube or some accessory for their car. If they do they'll never buy it any better time than right now during this sale. If you can get that over our store will do a big business Saturday."

So that's my job to convince you, gentle reader, and I know of no better way than to list 45 examples with the prices and reminding you that we have thirty-five hundred more bargains to pick from.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Have we had the pleasure of serving you through out Washington Information Bureau? Can't we be of some help to you in your daily problems? Our business is to furnish you with authoritative information, and we invite you to ask any question of fact in which you are interested. Send your inquiry to The East Liverpooel Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Q. Does the location of a motion picture theatre increase the value of land around it? J. H.

A. Generally speaking, it does. According to estimates of realtors, the land adjoining 27 theatres in Chicago has increased $75,000,000 in value.

Q. Where was the original Mohawk Trail? L. M.

A. This old Indian trail, extending from the Connecticut river in Massachusetts to the Hudson river in New York, was one of the ancient footpaths of the Six Nations.

Q. What is used to measure the smallest known measurements? C. E. F.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that the smallest known measurement, one billionth of an inch, is at the National Bureau of Standards, measured by a newly developed ultra micrometer.

Q. Is there an army post at Platts burg? G. P.

A. There is a regular army post there. This summer two Citizens' Military Training Camps were held there, and one for reserve officers.

Q. What liquid is used in the center of golf balls? H. C.

A. A. G. Spalding and Bros. say that various soft-cored golf balls use different materials, but their own are compounded from glue, water and a white pigment.

Q. What is a cachou? C. R. S.

A. It is an aromatic sweetmeat in the form of a silvered pill, used for giving an agreeable odor to the breath.

Q. Do the Big Trees die? N. A.

A. Muir says that he never saw a Big Tree that had died a natural death.

Q. When were Julia Marlowe and E. H. Sothern married? E. H.

A. They were married in 1915. They appeared in joint productions until 1916 when Mrs. Sothern retired from the stage.

Q. When should valances be used in draping windows? A. N.

A. The use of valances is governed in part by architectural limitations. If the room has a low ceiling, valances will make it appear still lower by opposing a strong horizontal line to the vertical lines of the room. Again, if the windows are too small, valances mounted in the usual manner will exaggerate their faulty proportions, besides cutting off a portion of the light. When properly employed, however, they give a sense of finish and completeness which is lacking where draperies alone are used. Plain gathered valances, being easily laundered, are best adapted to bathrooms and kitchens, and to bedrooms unless furnished in a formal manner. Fitted or shaped valances on the other hand, suggest permanence and dignity, and hence are betted suited to the more formal rooms of the house.

Q. How far is Bermuda from New York? A. C. B.

A. The Bermuda Islands are about 675 miles southeast of New York. The climate is pleasant without extremes of heat and cold.

Shoe factories of South Africa are just beginning to make footwear in half sizes.

BOSTON BOYS WANT BALL DIAMONDS ON COMMON; ARISTOCRATS O. K. PLAN

BOSTON—The spirit of '76 has been reborn in the youth of this city.

With the same determination that carried the coasters of Boston Common fearlessly into the presence of General Gage to demand their rights, baseball players of the Common and their friends are demanding justice from the Boston City Council.

Over the same path that the coasters trod in bygone days, modern youth, in greater numbers, stormed the City Hall.

They carried a petition asking that the baseball diamonds along Charles street mall be put into some sort of decent playing condition. The boys back up their demands with claims that neglect has already been responsible for one death and the injury of many players.

Scores of youths circulated the petitions among the aristocratic voters of Boston, obtaining signatures for presentation to the council.

HUSBANDS MUST ORGANIZE, JUDGE SAYS; WIVES FREED AFTER SLAYINGS

CINCINNATI, O.—"Too many wives are freed on self defense pleas after shooting their husbands. It's time we husbands banded together for self-protection," declared Municipal Judge William D. Alexander here when he bound Mrs. Belle Maley, 36, to the grand jury without bond on a first degree murder charge.

"Don't expect me to waste sympathy on a woman who shoots her husband in the back," he added as she was led away to the jail where she now awaits jury action. She is alleged to have shot and killed her husband early in July while he sat with his back turned at their home here.

Envoy and State Secretary Agree On Policies to Follow in Mexico

Secretary of State Kellogg (right, above) and Ambassador James R. Sheffield, America's envoy to Mexico, agree on policies to be followed in the delicate Mexican situation. Rumors of Mr. Sheffield's resignation are laid as he and the Secretary announce their complete accord.

BOSTON BOYS WANT BALL DIAMONDS ON COMMON; ARISTOCRATS O. K. PLAN

BOSTON—The spirit of '76 has been reborn in the youth of this city.

With the same determination that carried the coasters of Boston Common fearlessly into the presence of General Gage to demand their rights, baseball players of the Common and their friends are demanding justice from the Boston City Council.

Over the same path that the coasters trod in bygone days, modern youth, in greater numbers, stormed the City Hall.

They carried a petition asking that the baseball diamonds along Charles street mall be put into some sort of decent playing condition. The boys back up their demands with claims that neglect has already been responsible for one death and the injury of many players.

Scores of youths circulated the petitions among the aristocratic voters of Boston, obtaining signatures for presentation to the council.

HUSBANDS MUST ORGANIZE, JUDGE SAYS; WIVES FREED AFTER SLAYINGS

CINCINNATI, O.—"Too many wives are freed on self defense pleas after shooting their husbands. It's time we husbands banded together for self-protection," declared Municipal Judge William D. Alexander here when he bound Mrs. Belle Maley, 36, to the grand jury without bond on a first degree murder charge.

"Don't expect me to waste sympathy on a woman who shoots her husband in the back," he added as she was led away to the jail where she now awaits jury action. She is alleged to have shot and killed her husband early in July while he sat with his back turned at their home here.

Subsoil water recently discovered near Nagpur, India, is to be utilized to increase the city's daily water supply by 3,000,000 gallons.

Passenger rates for the new Brindisi-Athens-Constantinople air line are only 15 per cent higher than those on steamship covering the route.

Finland is planning to aid its shippers to develop its foreign trade.

Australia plans to spend $100,000,000 in a road improvement program.

Mukden residents of China are taking to American confectionery.

The new telephone-telegraph cable between England and the Netherlands will be 100 miles long and weigh 1,700 metric tons.

A bumper coffee crop in Nicaragua this season has permitted plantation owners and workers to buy luxuries long desired.

Collect Cash Pyle Tempts Another Foreign Net Star

Watch Visitors, Not American Davis Cup Players, For New Pro

"Red" Grange's Sponsor Pops Off Out of Turn and Spoils Chance to Land Yankee Tennis Experts' Signatures on Dotted Line, is Report From Inner Circle.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Watch the foreign delegation, not the American Davis cup team, for man or men who will turn professional under the banner of Collect Cash Pyle.

This was the tip that came to the writer today from a man within the outer-inner circle of tennis officialdom and just why this information should be in such hands I cannot say. He spoke of the intended jump beyond the pale of pure amateurism—whatever that might be—as an assured fact.

Just as certain is the knowledge that no American cup member will be a party to the proceedings. If Charley Pyle ever had a chance of interesting one or more of the "big four" in his plans, he lost it when some one had him pop off out of turn about that chance. Regardless of whether it was actual or imaginary.

With all due haste, the truth of the statement was denied by all parties concerned and now Pyle couldn't have a Davis cup player from America if he was promised the right to carry bright, new souvenirs from the United States mint. Not a man on the team could afford the jump, even at that price.

Negotiations Concluded.

As I understand it, our Mr. Pyle concluded his negotiations not long after Lenglen took the plunge at his solicitation. The man or men said to be involved are prominent without carrying the matter to an extreme.

Anyhow, the Pyle organization appeared entirely too serene today for any one to imagine that it hasn't lined up the better part of its troupe.

The gentleman himself has even gone so far as to drop the matter from his mind temporarily while chaperoning the original luncheon bid, Mr. Harold "Red" Grange, from Chicago to New York for the premiere of his motion picture.

If Pyle needed tennis players at this time, he would be trying to get them and he isn't trying to get anything except an immediate renewal of his privilege to breathe. Mr. Pyle is doing nothing with great rapidity which, to me, means that his preliminary work is finished.

Woman Star in Line.

"Charley is in a tough spot," said one of his intimates today. "He could tell plenty but he has to lay off until after the amateur tennis season is finished."

Further intimations were to the effect that "one famous woman star" already is in line and that so many men of competitive standing are clamoring for the same chance that Pyle "can just about take his choice." My informant didn't seem to think there was anything reprehensible about the matter.

"We are entering a new era in sport," he said. "The time is just ahead when everyone will recognize that the athlete is entitled to a share of the money he draws at the gate."

Dempsey Runs Heavyweight Fight Game Into Million Dollar Trade

By Norman E. Brown.

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight king, has been on the pan at times for his or somebody else's desire to demand the U. S. mint for his appearance in the ring.

His place among the great in the heavyweight division has been questioned and is still a matter of doubt.

But two things must be credited to the Manassa Mauler—in addition to that of being the only heavyweight champion to have his nose made over.

First Dempsey brought the heavyweight division back to normalcy from a state of chaos that had existed through all the white hope years and after Willard's unconvincing victory over Jack Johnson.

Second, Dempsey, by his decisive victory over the biggest man ever to hold the title, made himself the biggest drawing card the ring ever has known. Whether or not Jack Kearns played a part in this doesn't matter. It was the tanned tiger who cut Jess Willard to ribbons that blistering afternoon in Toledo, who drove the price of heavyweight purses up from $50,000 to $100,000 every time he drove his tightly taped fists into Willard's bloody jaw and ponchy stomach. These two things then must be recited when Dempsey's history is written.

Willard no doubt, was the best of the white hopes. For the most part, however, they were an awkward, dumb lot. Willard's great size and his brute strength—which spelled death for one man in the ring—enabled him to beat down his rivals while he was acquiring some knowledge of the ring game.

The Johnson who risked his title against Willard was a dissipated old man.

Followed a long period of rest for Willard. He had no desire to fight—and no one to fight.

Then Dempsey started a two-fisted career of battering various and assorted heavyweights to pieces. One by one he dropped all the men of mention in the heavyweight division. He forced Willard into a match.

He got just $27,500 for his fight with Willard. He left Tex Rickard work down his share from $50,000 to the amount named. But that fight, although the huge arena was not full, gave Dempsey, his manager and Tex Rickard an inkling of what could be expected in future fights.

Over in France was Georges Carpentier, outstanding heavy and greatest boxing idol of Europe. The "battle of the century" was arranged.

That fight not only sent the price of such battles up to $350,000 for the champion's end, but gave Dempsey a chance to convince the world that his victory over Willard was because of the former's greatness and not Willard's mediocrity.

Dempsey's battles with Bill Brennan, Billy Miske, Tom Gibbons and Louis Firpo, in addition to the Carpentier joust, ran his ring earnings up close to the million mark if not to it. His coming fight with Tunney may net him close to half a million more.

Whatever else may be said for him Dempsey has written an interesting chapter in ring history.

Cheers and boos, moans, groans, jeers and flying fists accompanied the double-header between the Cardinals and the Cubs in the latter's home park. More than 31,000 not particularly orderly fans saw the St. Louis team take both games, 2 to 0 and 9 to 1, while police reserves quelled the excitement. The St. Louis victory featured Grover Alexander's first appearance against his former teammates in Chicago.

YANK HURLERS PRIZE PUZZLES

Called "In-and-outers"—Rated as "Done"—They Win Game.

The five pitchers who have carried the New York Yankees through the pitfalls of the season to date form an interesting group. Every one of them has been classed as "done," "in-and-outer," "undependable" and several other things of recent years. The staff, on paper, could not be figured with any degree of accuracy. And yet, thanks to the great offensive strength of the team and their own crafty hurling, they stand about ready to collect shares of the 1926 world's series melon.

Herb Pennock was called done three years ago. Last year he won 16 and lost 17. The year before he won 21 and lost 9. This year he has given the team the southpawing that any team needs to win a pennant.

Bow Shawkey, called done time and again, was a dismal failure last year.

Waite Hoyt, a great pitcher at times but unable to "come out of it" for a couple of seasons, has hit the high road again.

Sad Sam Jones, who wanted to retire to his home in Woodstock, O., several years ago, swallowed his sadness early last spring and decided to win himself a few games.

And Urban Shocker, who gave every indication last season of being a total loss (with but 11 victories for the season), has been the Shocker of old who baffled the Yanks day by day.

Which all goes to show that the will to win, which Mr. Huggins demands, does have something to do with the case—even that of old decrepit pitchers.

No Doubt About it—Charley Root Has Won Spurs to "Big Show"

Charlie Root, first-year pitching ace of the Chicago Cubs, has won his spurs in the big show.

He was admitted into baseball's inner circle a few days ago when Virgil Barnes,, ranked as a veteran pitcher by the Giants and baseball folk in general, was permitted to boast of his second victory over Root in a week.

A pretty compliment this, to a rookie hurler with a baseball club in the making, as the Chicago team is.

Barnes has been in world's series duels. He is a player seasoned under the Napoleonic eye of John McGraw. Yet to Barnes his victories over the Cub youngster, have pleased him more than any other achievement to date in his career.

Root has been poison to every club in the league.

Blue and Bassler batted belligerently, aiding the Tigers to beat the Browns, 6 to 3. Each drove in three runs.

RED MACK IS COMING

DEMPSEY EASY TO HIT; SO IS SIDE OF WALL

Champ Not Worried About Roadway to His Chin.

HE TELLS WHY

Tunney Rests in New Camp After Brisk Hike.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 3.—The roadway to Jack Dempsey's chin continues to be as wide as the Grand Canyon, all of which caused a rather youthful architect of sportive items to remark to Jack Dempsey.

"Gosh, you're kind of easy to hit."

The champion fixed him with a quizzical glance and then shot out:

"Say, what's news?"

The reporter looked at Dempsey, a bit surprised.

"Why, ah, news is—well—" he started to reply, whereupon Dempsey broke in with:

"News is something has to do with a happening that isn't usual. Something out of the ordinary isn't it?" countered the champ.

"Yes, that's about it," said the youth.

"Won't Get Tunney Anything."

"Well then, I took about as long a count as I needed. That was an average of about eight seconds per knockdown.

"Now in all the years since then I have continued to be easy to hit. They've all hit me. But what did it get them? Gunboat Smith knocked me goofy in 1917 with one punch—but I won the fight. Willard nearly ripped my head off with an uppercut, but I won that one. Carpenter hit me, Gibbons hit me. Brennan hit—and Firpo nearly knocked me loose from my brains. But I'm still champion.

"Sure I'm easy to hit—and so's the side of a wall," concluded the champion. "But it doesn't get anybody anywhere to hit a wall. It isn't getting my sparring partners much and it's going to get Tunney less. Of course, he'll hit me, unless I knock him over with the first few punches. But it won't get him anything in the end except perhaps an extra shellacking."

Tunney Reading Books.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 3.—Except for a brisk hike over the hills early this morning Gene Tunney, challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, spent another day of idleness in his new camp at the Glenbrook Country club here.

Tunney arose almost with the sun and covered five miles with long swinging strides, returning in time for a brisk rub-down from his trainer, Lulie Fink, before breakfast. After that his work for the day was completed and he retired into seclusion with his beloved books as his only companions. He planned to reappear only in time to fulfill a promise made yesterday to pose for the camera men.

If the day proved fair enough the challenger said he might play a few holes of golf but otherwise would do absolutely nothing but relax. Tunney feels that he already is a little too far advanced in his process of preparation and with an intensive siege of training ahead of him desires to get a complete rest.

The challenger's retinue of camp mates was expected to be increased today with the arrival of several more sparring partners. Bud Gorman, Billy Vidabeck and Harold Mays, heavyweights, and Byran Downey, the welterweight, were due to arrive sometime during the day.

THIRD SERIES GAME SATURDAY

All-stars Will Play on Diamond at Midland.

Third contest of the five-game series between the Midland All-Stars and the East Liverpool All-Stars will be played on the Twelfth street grounds, Midland, at 5 o'clock, Eastern standard time, Saturday evening. Cebula, Ashe or Bennett will twirl for the locals, while Schneidmiller or Hinkle will be on the receiving end.

The Midland A. B. C. team, a colored organization, will meet the Sherwood Cardinals at Patterson Field, Saturday afternoon.

GOLF EVENTS FOR LABOR DAY

18-hole Medal Play and Mixed Foursome Scheduled.

Morning and afternoon events are scheduled for the golf program at the East Liverpool Country club Monday, Labor day.

In the morning, a large field will negotiate the course in an 18-hole medal play tournament, under full handicap, for the H. J. Taylor annual trophy.

A mixed Scotch foursome is billed for the afternoon for trophies donated by J. S. Hilbert and F. M. Gardner.

There have been no contests arranged for Saturday, the sports committee announces.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The hands should be slightly ahead of the ball in the address for all iron shots because the idea is to have the clubhead take the ball and go through it an instant before the clubhead reaches the bottom arc of its swing. The act of the iron head hitting the ball is in reality a sort of "squeeze" action.

This parts, obviously, the maximum of projective energy to the ball while the loft or face pitch of the iron will give the ball the rise intended. If the ball is taken from a point even with the hands in the address, it is obvious that considerable of the projective energy of the blow will be lost, since the maximum speed of the clubhead is attained just before it reaches the bottom of its swinging arc. Also the lofting of the ball will be greater than otherwise because the ball will be taken at an instant after the clubhead passes the bottom of its downward arc.

MAJOR CLUBS RE-ORGANIZING

Dodgers Expect to Provide Greatest Number of New Faces.

Definite reorganization plans are being worked out by several of the big league ball clubs as the season rolls toward the end.

It's a good bet that the Brooklyn Dodgers will furnish the greatest number of new faces when the club trekk south next spring. Of all the National League clubs at least the Brooklyn team is most in need of a house cleaning. And it is known that President-Managre Robinson plans to use the mop and pail gaily and with abandon.

His first two moves have been made at this early date—the releasing of Rabbit Maranville and Whitey Witt, both vets. The release of Maranville verifies the belief most folk held last spring, that Robbie's hopes of getting a big year out of the aged shortstop would be blasted. Maranville, it was generally felt, had reached the point where he could not stand the strain and rigid discipline demanded for a full season's play at top speed.

Witt was a gamble. He was a dissatisfied player with the Athletics and an in and outer with the Yanks, albeit at times a brilliant fielder and dangerous hitter.

Among the others who are booked to travel before another season rolls around are Zack Wheat, Jacques Fournier, Gus Feliz and Chick Fewster. One or two pitchers probably will join the list.

Robinson realizes that he cannot hope to build a pennant contender by patching up spots here and there. He has the nucleus of a new team in infielders Butler, Standeart, and Herman and outfielders Cox and one or two others. The sooner he molds a new outfit around them the better off he will be.

Hornsby's Masterful Handling of Pitchers Key To Cards' Success

The masterful manner in which he has handled his pitching staff is the outstanding feature of Rogers Hornsby's work in driving his St. Louis Cardinals toward their first pennant.

Those who have watched the dominating John McGraw and other crafty pilots of the game in action state frankly that the young Card pilot has equalled at least the adroit methods of these "old heads."

Hornsby's system isn't a complicated one. He simply "makes hay while the sun hines." When a pitcher is going good Rajah gives him every opportunity to work. The reasoning is simple. The hurler is in his stride. Lack of work will throw him off it as quickly as overwork. Hornsby lets nothing interfere then with the regular pitching of the man when he is going good.

Vic Keen, obtained from the Cubs, got under way early in the season. Hornsby put him on the regular staff and worked him in turn, no matter what the situation with the rest of the mound staff was. When Keen finally fell off form he was relegated to the extra list. Reinhart, the youngster who has been going great guns of late failed to find himself early in the season. Hornsby used him mainly in forlorn hopes. Then, the minute Reinhart showed ability to win himself a few games Hornsby threw him in every four days.

Flint Rhem has been worked in his turn week in and week out because he has pitched consistent ball. Hornsby, realizing, what an extra day's layoff might do, scheduled his pitchers to take care of Rhem.

Hinkey Haines and Bill Sherdel, both reliable war horses, have been worked as regularly as clock-works.

Hornsby has shown also that a manager doesn't need five or six regulars fit at a time to win ball games. He has managed to rotate his staff so his main hopes worked every fourth day and has been content.

FRANK FRISCH IS FINED $500

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Fined $500 by John McGraw for his desertion of the club, Frank Frisch was ordered to report for duty at the Polo grounds this afternoon when the Giants will play the Boston Braves. The fine followed a conference between McGraw and his former field captain, who claimed that illness and not rancor at McGraw's decision to play him on third base prompted him to leave the club. Frisch has been under the care of a physician since returning to New York.

CARDS GAIN IN FLAG RACE

Two Games in Front of Reds—Have 22 More to Play.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Still traveling under a full head of steam, the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday won two games from the Chicago Cubs and this morning were two full games ahead of the Cincinnati Reds and three beyond the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Cards have 22 more games to play, the Reds 26 and the Pirates 30.

The Reds got the tough end of the breaks yesterday when their game with the Pirates was rained out after 3½ innings had been played. The Reds were in front, 3 to 0, at the time. Neither club, therefore, gained or lost ground.

The same was true of the American league contenders, the New York Yankees being halted by rain and the Cleveland Indians being off the schedule for the day. The Yanks, in consequence, remained six games in front.

The Reds and the Pirates played three and a half innings of ball, the score 3 to 0, favor of Cincinnati, and after that the deluge. The crucial game brought out one of the largest weekday crowds in Cincinnati's history.

Rain prevented the playing of all other scheduled games in both leagues.

With all due haste, the truth of the statement was denied by all parties concerned and now Pyle couldn't have a Davis cup player from America if he was promised the right to carry bright, new souvenirs from the United States mint. Not a man on the team could afford the jump, even at that price.

Negotiations Concluded.

As I understand it, our Mr. Pyle concluded his negotiations not long after Lenglen took the plunge at his solicitation. The man or men said to be involved are prominent without carrying the matter to an extreme.

Anyhow, the Pyle organization appeared entirely too serene today for any one to imagine that it hasn't lined up the better part of its troupe.

The gentleman himself has even gone so far as to drop the matter from his mind temporarily while chaperoning the original luncheon bid, Mr. Harold "Red" Grange, from Chicago to New York for the premiere of his motion picture.

If Pyle needed tennis players at this time, he would be trying to get them and he isn't trying to get anything except an immediate renewal of his privilege to breathe. Mr. Pyle is losing nothing with great rapidity which, to me, means that his preliminary work is finished.

Woman Star in Line.

"Charley is in a tough spot," said one of his intimates today. "He could tell plenty but he has to lay off until after the amateur tennis season is finished."

Further intimations were to the effect that "one famous woman star" already is in line and that so many men of competitive standing are clamoring for the same chance that Pyle "can just about take his choice." My informant didn't seem to think there was anything reprehensible about the matter.

"We are entering a new era in sport," he said. "The time is just ahead when everyone will recognize that the athlete is entitled to a share of the money he draws at the gate.'

Dempsey Runs Heavyweight Fight Game Into Million Dollar Trade

By Norman E. Brown.

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight king, has been on the pan at times for his or somebody else's desire to demand the U. S. mint for his appearance in the ring.

His place among the great in the heavyweight division has been questioned and is still a matter of doubt.

But two things must be credited to the Manassa Mauler—in addition to that of being the only heavyweight champion to have his nose made over.

First Dempsey brought the heavyweight division back to normalcy from a state of chaos that had existed through all the white hope years and after Willard's unconvincing victory over Jack Johnson.

Second, Dempsey, by his decisive victory over the biggest man ever to hold the title, made himself the biggest drawing card the ring ever has known. Whether or not Jack Kearns played a part in this doesn't matter. It was the tanned tiger who cut Jess Willard to ribbons that blistering afternoon in Toledo, who drove the price of heavyweight purses up from $50,000 to $100,000 every time he drove his tightly taped fists into Willard's bloody jaw and ponchy stomach. These two things then must be recited when Dempsey's history is written.

Willard no doubt, was the best of the white hopes. For the most part, however, they were an awkward, dumb lot. Willard's great size and his brute strength—which spelled death for one man in the ring—enabled him to beat down his rivals while he was acquiring some knowledge of the ring game.

The Johnson who risked his title against Willard was a dissipated old man.

Followed a long period of rest for Willard. He had no desire to fight—and no one to fight.

Then Dempsey started a two-fisted career of battering various and assorted heavyweights to pieces. Only one he dropped all the men of mention in the heavyweight division. He forced Willard into a match.

He got just $27,500 for his fight with Willard. He left Tex Rickard work down his share from $50,000 to the amount named. But that fight, although the huge arena was not full, gave Dempsey, his manager and Tex Rickard an inkling of what could be expected in future fights.

Over in France was Georges Carpentier, outstanding heavy and greatest boxing idol of Europe. The "battle of the century" was arranged.

That fight not only sent the price of such battles up to $350,000 for the champion's end, but gave Dempsey a chance to convince the world that his victory over Willard was because of the former's greatness and not Willard's mediocrity.

Dempsey's battles with Bill Brennan, Billy Miske, Tom Gibbons and Louis Firpo, in addition to the Carpentier joust, ran his ring earnings up close to the million mark if not to it. His coming fight with Tunney may net him close to half a million more.

Whatever else may be said for him Dempsey has written an interesting chapter in ring history.

Cheers and boos, moans, groans, jeers and flying fists accompanied the double-header between the Cardinals and the Cubs in the latter's home park. More than 31,000 not particularly orderly fans saw the St. Louis team take both games, 2 to 0 and 9 to 1, while police reserves quelled the excitement. The St. Louis victory featured Grover Alexander's first appearance against his former teammates in Chicago.

YANK HURLERS PRIZE PUZZLES

Called "In-and-outers"—Rated as "Done"—They Win Game.

The five pitchers who have carried the New York Yankees through the pitfalls of the season to date form an interesting group. Every one of them has been classed as "done," "in-and-outer," "undependable" and several other things of recent years. The staff, on paper, could not be figured with any degree of accuracy. And yet, thanks to the great offensive strength of the team and their own crafty hurling, they stand about ready to collect shares of the 1926 world's series melon.

Herb Pennock was called done three years ago. Last year he won 16 and lost 17. The year before he won 21 and lost 9. This year he has given the team the southpawing that any team needs to win a pennant.

Bow Shawkey, called done time and again, was a dismal failure last year.

Waite Hoyt, a great pitcher at times but unable to "come out of it" for a couple of seasons, has hit the high road again.

Sad Sam Jones, who wanted to retire to his home in Woodstock, O., several years ago, swallowed his sadness early last spring and decided to win himself a few games.

And Urban Shocker, who gave every indication last season of being a total loss (with but 11 victories for the season), has been the Shocker of old who baffled the Yanks day by day.

Which all goes to show that the will to win, which Mr. Huggins demands, does have something to do with the case—even that of old decrepit pitchers.

No Doubt About it—Charley Root Has Won Spurs to "Big Show"

Charlie Root, first-year pitching ace of the Chicago Cubs, has won his spurs in the big show.

He was admitted into baseball's inner circle a few days ago when Virgil Barnes,, ranked as a veteran pitcher by the Giants and baseball folk in general, was permitted to boast of his second victory over Root in a week.

A pretty compliment this, to a rookie hurler with a baseball club in the making, as the Chicago team is.

Barnes has been in world's series duels. He is a player seasoned under the Napoleonic eye of John McGraw. Yet to Barnes his victories over the Cub youngster, have pleased him more than any other achievement to date in his career.

Root has been poison to every club in the league.

Blue and Bassler batted belligerently, aiding the Tigers to beat the Browns, 6 to 3. Each drove in three runs.

RED MACK IS COMING

DEMPSEY EASY TO HIT; SO IS SIDE OF WALL

Champ Not Worried About Roadway to His Chin.

HE TELLS WHY

Tunney Rests in New Camp After Brisk Hike.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 3.—The roadway to Jack Dempsey's chin continues to be as wide as the Grand Canyon, all of which caused a rather youthful architect of sportive items to remark to Jack Dempsey.

"Gosh, you're kind of easy to hit."

The champion fixed him with a quizzical glance and then shot out:

"Say, what's news?"

The reporter looked at Dempsey, a bit surprised.

"Why, ah, news is—well—" he started to reply, whereupon Dempsey broke in with:

"News is something has to do with a happening that isn't usual. Something out of the ordinary isn't it?" countered the champ.

"Yes, that's about it," said the youth.

"Won't Get Tunney Anything."

"Well then, I took about as long a count as I needed. That was an average of about eight seconds per knockdown.

"Now in all the years since then I have continued to be easy to hit. They've all hit me. But what did it get them? Gunboat Smith knocked me goofy in 1917 with one punch—but I won the fight. Willard nearly ripped my head off with an uppercut, but I won that one. Carpenter hit me, Gibbons hit me. Brennan hit—and Firpo nearly knocked me loose from my brains. But I'm still champion.

"Sure I'm easy to hit—and so's the side of a wall," concluded the champion. "But it doesn't get anybody anywhere to hit a wall. It isn't getting my sparring partners much and it's going to get Tunney less. Of course, he'll hit me, unless I knock him over with the first few punches. But it won't get him anything in the end except perhaps an extra shellacking."

Tunney Reading Books.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 3.—Except for a brisk hike over the hills early this morning Gene Tunney, challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, spent another day of idleness in his new camp at the Glen brook Country club here.

Tunney arose almost with the sun and covered five miles with long swinging strides, returning in time for a brisk rub-down from his trainer, Lule Fink, before breakfast. After that his work for the day was completed and he retired into seclusion with his beloved books as his only companions. He planned to reappear only in time to fulfill a promise made yesterday to pose for the camera men.

If the day proved fair enough the challenger said he might play a few holes of golf but otherwise would do absolutely nothing but relax. Tunney feels that he already is a little too far advanced in his process of preparation and with an intensive siege of training ahead of him desires to get a complete rest.

The challenger's retinue of camp mates was expected to be increased today with the arrival of several more sparring partners. Bud Gorman, Billy Vidabeck and Harold Mays, heavyweights, and Byran Downey, the welterweight, were due to arrive sometime during the day.

THIRD SERIES GAME SATURDAY

All-stars Will Play on Diamond at Midland.

Third contest of the five-game series between the Midland All-Stars and the East Liverpool All-Stars will be played on the Twelfth street grounds, Midland, at 5 o'clock, Eastern standard time, Saturday evening. Cebula, Ashe or Bennett will twirl for the locals, while Schneidmiller or Hinkle will be on the receiving end.

The Midland A. B. C. team, a colored organization, will meet the Sherwood Cardinals at Patterson Field, Saturday afternoon.

GOLF EVENTS FOR LABOR DAY

18-hole Medal Play and Mixed Foursome Scheduled.

Morning and afternoon events are scheduled for the golf program at the East Liverpool Country club Monday, Labor day.

In the morning, a large field will negotiate the course in an 18-hole medal play tournament, under full handicap, for the H. J. Taylor annual trophy.

A mixed Scotch foursome is billed for the afternoon for trophies donated by J. S. Hilbert and F. M. Gardner.

There have been no contests arranged for Saturday, the sports committee announces.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The hands should be slightly ahead of the ball in the address for all iron shots because the idea is to have the clubhead take the ball and go through it an instant before the clubhead reaches the bottom arc of its swing. The act of the iron head hitting the ball is in reality a sort of "squeeze" action.

This parts, obviously, the maximum of projective energy to the ball while the loft or face pitch of the iron will give the ball the rise intended. If the ball is taken from a point even with the hands in the address, it is obvious that considerable of the projective energy of the blow will be lost, since the maximum speed of the clubhead is attained just before it reaches the bottom of its swinging arc. Also the lofting of the ball will be greater than otherwise because the ball will be taken at an instant after the clubhead passes the bottom of its downward arc.

MAJOR CLUBS RE-ORGANIZING

Dodgers Expect to Provide Greatest Number of New Faces.

Definite reorganization plans are being worked out by several of the big league ball clubs as the season rolls toward the end.

It's a good bet that the Brooklyn Dodgers will furnish the greatest number of new faces when the club trekk south next spring. Of all the National League clubs at least the Brooklyn team is most in need of a house cleaning. And it is known that President-Managre Robinson plans to use the mop and pail gaily and with abandon.

His first two moves have been made at this early date—the releasing of Rabbit Maranville and Whitey Witt, both vets. The release of Maranville verifies the belief most folk held last spring, that Robbie's hopes of getting a big year out of the aged shortstop would be blasted. Maranville, it was generally felt, had reached the point where he could not stand the strain and rigid discipline demanded for a full season's play at top speed.

Witt was a gamble. He was a dissatisfied player with the Athletics and an in and outer with the Yanks, albeit at times a brilliant fielder and dangerous hitter.

Among the others who are booked to travel before another season rolls around are Zack Wheat, Jacques Fournier, Gus Feliz and Chick Fewster. One or two pitchers probably will join the list.

Robinson realizes that he cannot hope to build a pennant contender by patching up spots here and there. He has the nucleus of a new team in infielders Butler, Standeart, and Herman and outfielders Cox and one or two others. The sooner he molds a new outfit around them the better off he will be.

Hornsby's Masterful Handling of Pitchers Key To Cards' Success

The masterful manner in which he has handled his pitching staff is the outstanding feature of Rogers Hornsby's work in driving his St. Louis Cardinals toward their first pennant.

Those who have watched the dominating John McGraw and other crafty pilots of the game in action state frankly that the young Card pilot has equalled at least the adroit methods of these "old heads."

Hornsby's system isn't a complicated one. He simply "makes hay while the sun hines." When a pitcher is going good Rajah gives him every opportunity to work. The reasoning is simple. The hurler is in his stride. Lack of work will throw him off it as quickly as overwork. Hornsby lets nothing interfere then with the regular pitching of the man when he is going good.

Vic Keen, obtained from the Cubs, got under way early in the season. Hornsby put him on the regular staff and worked him in turn, no matter what the situation with the rest of the mound staff was. When Keen finally fell off form he was relegated to the extra list. Reinhart, the youngster who has been going great guns of late failed to find himself early in the season. Hornsby used him mainly in forlorn hopes. Then, the minute Reinhart showed ability to win himself a few games Hornsby threw him in every four days.

Flint Rhem has been worked in his turn week in and week out because he has pitched consistent ball. Hornsby, realizing, what an extra day's layoff might do, scheduled his pitchers to take care of Rhem.

Hinkey Haines and Bill Sherdel, both reliable war horses, have been worked as regularly as clock-works.

Hornsby has shown also that a a manager doesn't need five or six regulars fit at a time to win ball games. He has managed to rotate his staff so his main hopes worked every fourth day and has been content.

FRANK FRISCH IS FINED $500

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Fined $500 by John McGraw for his desertion of the club, Frank Frisch was ordered to report for duty at the Polo grounds this afternoon when the Giants will play the Boston Braves. The fine followed a conference between McGraw and his former field captain, who claimed that illness and not rancor at McGraw's decision to play him on third base prompted him to leave the club. Frisch has been under the care of a physician since returning to New York.

CARDS GAIN IN FLAG RACE

Two Games in Front of Reds—Have 22 More to Play.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Still traveling under a full head of steam, the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday won two games from the Chicago Cubs and this morning were two full games ahead of the Cincinnati Reds and three beyond the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Cards have 22 more games to play, the Reds 26 and the Pirates 30.

The Reds got the tough end of the breaks yesterday when their game with the Pirates was rained out after 3½ innings had been played. The Reds were in front, 3 to 0, at the time. Neither club, therefore, gained or lost ground.

The same was true of the American league contenders, the New York Yankees being halted by rain and the Cleveland Indians being off the schedule for the day. The Yanks, in consequence, remained six games in front.

The Reds and the Pirates played three and a half innings of ball, the score 3 to 0, favor of Cincinnati, and after that the deluge. The crucial game brought out one of the largest weekday crowds in Cincinnati's history.

Rain prevented the playing of all other scheduled games in both leagues.

O'Rourke Will Head New York Team in Third Major League

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Tom O'Rourke, veteran boxing promoter, declared today that he intended to accept the presidency of the New York club in the reported organization of a third major league, said to be ready to take the field next season. O'Rourke said major league territory will be invaded in New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Cincinnati and that the four remaining franchises would be allotted to International league towns, yet to be selected.

He also declared that John Conway Toole, president of that organization, had been offered a post with the outlaws but had declined.

worth her weight in copper, if not in gold.

Still others of the freaks known to numismatists are examples of Chinese coinage dating back to 700 B. C. They are of cast bronze and the shapes, which are those of various implements, crude knives, spades, and such like, are suggestive of the age of barter when different articles of everyday use passed as media of exchange. One such is a knife coin of Ming City, issued during the civil wars in the 3rd century B. C. The mark on the blade indicates the mint place.

First United States Coinage.

Prior to the Revolutionary war the various colonies issued or used coins or tokens issued elsewhere, some examples of which are positively thrilling to collectors. There was the Granby Token, dated 1737, which bore on one side the inscription, "I Am Good Copper," and on the other the figure of a deer and the rather disconcerting inscription, "Value Me As You Please." Another was the Carolina Token, with the figure of a tusked elephant on one side and on the other the date, 1694, and the legend, "God Preserve Carolina and the Lords Proprietors."

The first United States coinage was the so-called Fugio cent which bore on one side the date 1787, the inscription, "Mind Your Business," and the figure of a sun dial with a flaring sun above it at the top. On the other side there was a link border composed of 13 circles, with a central circle enclosing the inscription, "We Are One" while on the band around the central circle are the words, "United States." The first regular coinage of the United States did not begin, however, until 1793. Gold pieces, eagles, and half eagles, were first minted in 1795.

The American Numismatic association, which meets annually to stimulate interest in the collecting of coins, was founded in 1851 nad in 1912 it was granted a Federal charter by a special act of congress. It has about 1,000 members in this country, Canada and Europe.

Almost every boy passes through a period when his most engrossing interest in collecting something. Occosionally his passion is merely for assembling odds and ends of everything of no value and that do nothing but clutter up his pockets or his room. A generation or two ago American boys had a mania for gathering cirgarette pictures of actors and actresses.

Most boys who take collecting seriously run to autographs, postage stamps, or coins, and many of them who have found their interest in coins never relinquish it. When they grow up they become either bankers or numismatists. If the latter, and if their interest has grown to be more than the fad of a dilletante or amateur, they become members of the association that has just held a six-day convention in the national capital.

First of a New Staff

Wilcie Moore, hurling star of the Greenville team of the South Atlantic League, has been purchased by the New York Yankees as the first step in rebuilding their pitching staff—which Huggins realizes can not be counted on "as is" another year. Pennock, Jones, Shawkey, Hoyt and Schocker are all old vets.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Bushy Graham, Utica bantamweight, outpointed Chick Sugg, New Bedford, Mass., negro, 10 rounds.

Andy Martin, Boston bantamweight, beat Vic Burrone, New York, 10 rounds.

Pancho Dencio, Filipino bantamweight, and Johnny Green, New York, fought a draw, 10 rounds.

AT CLEVELAND—Willie Davies, Charleroi, Pa., bantamweight, beat Emil Paluso, Salt Lake City, 10 rounds.

Billy Showers, Chicago welterweight, knocked out Teddy O'Hara, Pacific coast boxer, in the eighth round.

AT PEORIA, ILL.—Fidel Labarbe, flyweight champion, defeated Paul Millhar, St. Paul, Minn., 8 rounds.

O'Rourke Will Head New York Team in Third Major League

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Tom O'Rourke, veteran boxing promoter, declared today that he intended to accept the presidency of the New York club in the reported organization of a third major league, said to be ready to take the field next season. O'Rourke said major league territory will be invaded in New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Cincinnati and that the four remaining franchises would be allotted to International league towns, yet to be selected.

He also declared that John Conway Toole, president of that organization, had been offered a post with the outlaws but had declined.

worth her weight in copper, if not in gold.

Still others of the freaks known to numismatists are examples of Chinese coinage dating back to 700 B. C. They are of cast bronze and the shapes, which are those of various implements, crude knives, spades, and such like, are suggestive of the age of barter when different articles of everyday use passed as media of exchange. One such is a knife coin of Ming City, issued during the civil wars in the 3rd century B. C. The mark on the blade indicates the mint place.

First United States Coinage.

Prior to the Revolutionary war the various colonies issued or used coins or tokens issued elsewhere, some examples of which are positively thrilling to collectors. There was the Granby Token, dated 1737, which bore on one side the inscription, "I Am Good Copper," and on the other the figure of a deer and the rather disconcerting inscription, "Value Me As You Please." Another was the Carolina Token, with the figure of a tusked elephant on one side and on the other the date, 1694, and the legend, "God Preserve Carolina and the Lords Proprietors."

The first United States coinage was the so-called Fugio cent which bore on one side the date 1787, the inscription, "Mind Your Business," and the figure of a sun dial with a flaring sun above it at the top. On the other side there was a link border composed of 13 circles, with a central circle enclosing the inscription, "We Are One" while on the band around the central circle are the words, "United States." The first regular coinage of the United States did not begin, however, until 1793. Gold pieces, eagles, and half eagles, were first minted in 1795.

The American Numismatic association, which meets annually to stimulate interest in the collecting of coins, was founded in 1891 nad in 1912 it was granted a Federal charter by a special act of congress. It has about 1,000 members in this country, Canada and Europe.

Almost every boy passes through a period when his most engrossing interest in collecting something. Occosionally his passion is merely for assembling odds and ends of everything of no value and that do nothing but clutter up his pockets or his room. A generation or two ago American boys had a mania for gathering cirgarette pictures of actors and actresses.

Most boys who take collecting seriously run to autographs, postage stamps, or coins, and many of them who have found their interest in coins never relinquish it. When they grow up they become either bankers or numismatists. If the latter, and if their interest has grown to be more than the fad of a dillentante or amateur, they become members of the association that has just held a six-day convention in the national capital.

Tomorrow Ends Moore's Semi-Annual Sale

Tomorrow ends the most successful Semi-Annual Sale we have ever attempted. The concessions, the terms of payment, the vast assortment of beautiful furniture to select from has more than been a pleasure to our customers from their expression and according to our sales records, which of course is the proof of the pudding. We are pleased from the standpoint that we have made hosts of new friends, which are necessary to the success of any business.

We are putting forth every effort to make tomorrow the record day of our store history. Every floor is crowded to capacity, we have unloaded three more cars aside from the local freight and are prepared to give you equally as good selection as the first days of sale.

Extra salesmen will be on the floor and ready to be of assistance to you. If all salesmen are busy just help yourself for everything is plainly priced.

New Haven Like Worn Torn City As Landmarks Fall

Yale University Proceeds With Spending $10,000,000 or so in Building Program.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Like a town that has suffered from shell fire is a great section of the University district here as Yale University proceeds with spending ten millions or so in erecting additional buildings for its plant.

Forty separate buildings are in various stages of wreckage, the structures ranging from two to five stories in height and most of them landmarks at Yale.

In one section half a million brick, taken from these buildings, are staked in great squares almost resembling an ammunition dump, and daily the piles are expanding as the wreckers progress. Fan lights and mullioned windows are stacked up where the man who seeks such things for a genuine Colonial house may find and purchase them, and doors of genuine artistic design are on display. For the buildings Yale is razing were once the homes of the elite here.

The chief razing jobs now under way are to make clear the sites for the six million Sterling Memorial Library, and the two million art school, gift of anonymous friend of Yale.

BOOK OF RUTH ON STAGE HERE

M. P. Church Society Will Present Story Sept. 10.

The entire book of Ruth will be presented by screen and living pictures in the high school auditorium Friday afternoon and evening, September 10, under the auspices of the Young Woman's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist Protestant church.

A cast of 30 persons will take part in the production which is being directed by Mrs. Amelia Wilson, of Monterey, California, who was secretary to Dr. Allen Moore, a missionary in the Holy Lands for 17 years.

Mrs. Wilson will use costumes worn by men and women of the Palestine country. A double mixed quartest of local singers will render music in connection with the pageant. Rehearsals have been under way for more than a week.

Chairman of the various committees in charge of the pageant are: Miss Alma Taylor, publicity; Miss Jessie Hall, music; Miss Irene Firth, tickets; Miss Freda McConnell, advertising.

The ticket sale has opened.

Scottish Drys Plans Vigorous Battle; to Wage War on Beer

GLASGOW.—"Beer or no beer" is to be the burning question in two-hundred Scottish burghal areas during the next three months, local prohibitionists having started another drive to make Scotland as dry as the Shara.

This time the "dry's" mean to go about the matter thoroughly. Their offensive has opened with the issuahce by local Town Clerks of requisition forms, which under Scottish law, must be signed by ten per cent of the electorate of any ward before a poll can be taken in their area.

"This is to be our biggest fight yet," an official of the prohibitionist's headquarters told International News Service. "Hundreds of saloon licenses are at stake in the present fight, and we want to make at least one-third of Glasgow dry. The fight is also being waged in Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Dundee, Hamilton, Coatbridge, Motherwell, Airdrie, Greenock, Paisley, Clydebank, Port Glasgow, Ayr, Galashiels, Hawick, Selkirk, and many other areas.

"When the present drive has ended we are then going to agitate for legislation to prevent men clubbing together in dry areas and buying liquor wholesale."

Part of the farmer's problem will have been solved as soon as his crops are as diversified as the advice he gets.—Defiance Crescent-News.

The grin worn by a "good loser" is chagrin.—Defiance Crescent-News.

Few Women

Still use old hygienic methods. Charming freshness, true protection, this new way ... discards like tissue

TO help women meet every day unhandicapped is the object of a new hygiene. A way that ends the hazards of the old-time "sanitary pad," that ends the embarrassment of disposal.

Eight in 10 better-class women today employ "KOTEX."

Wear lightest gowns and frocks without a second thought, any day, anywhere.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

Deodorizes. Ends ALL fear of offending.

✓ Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying, "KOTEX." No embarrassment.

LAKE-TO-OCEAN ROAD MEETING

District Boosters to go to Session at Washington, Pa.

Good roads boosters from East Liverpool, Chester, Lisbon and Salem have been invited to attend a meeting to be held at Washington, Pa., on Friday, September 10, at which the proposed permenant improvement of the Lakes-to-Ocean route, between East Liverpool and Washington, will be discussed.

The meeting, which will be preceded by a luncheon, is being sponsored by the Washington Chamber of Commerce, which has written to the East Liverpool chamber asking that delegates be named.

The local Chamber will be represented by the roads and streets committee.

The Lakes-to-the-Ocean route was first proposed during the early part of the World war. The road begins at Cleveland and ends at Baltimore.

Latest Secret Order Striking Terror Into Soviet Chieftains

LONDON.—A secret order calling itself "The Brothers of the Black Star" is reported to be operating in Russia striking terror into the Soviet leaders, according to advices received here from Riga.

Branches of the order are stated to exist in Moscow, Petrograd, Kharkov, Kiev, and Odessa. The aim of the order is said to be the removal of the present Soviet leaders and the overthrow of the regime.

Soviet Government offices are said to be honeycombed with members of the order, some of whom hold high confidential posts in close contact with Kalinin, Stalin and Trotsky.

Recently the body was found in a Moscow street of a Soviet official named Martyanovsky, who had been strangled with a black rope with a star on it. In his pocket was found a letter threatening him with death and bearing the same symbol.

It is rumored that Djerjinski's death too was the work of the order, threatening letters bearing the black star being found in his cabinet after death.

Hungary Rivers Will Be Connected With Navigable Canal

BUDAPEST — A navigable canal connecting the Danube and the River Theiss, which runs through the richest agricultural district of Hungary, will be built this year by a group of American and English financiers. The canal will cost two million dollars but will reduce transportation costs of the huge Hungarian grain crops about ... per cent.

The canal will be built from Szolnok to the Danube. At the present time most of the Theiss is too shallow for navigation but as it is lower than the Danube, the canal will allow enough water to flow into the smaller river to make float river craft. The canal also will drain a large section of land.

Hen Sets Record.

LONDON — Notwithstanding the fact that all poultry experts say that the domestic hen "is too old at three," a 20-year-old hen has just hatched a brood of 14 chicks at Heppershall, Bedfordshire.

Mother and family are all doing well.

Both Coffee and Tea have been popular for years.
Both have long histories of success, so one hears.
While sodas and sundaes are relatively young,
Yet about these last no songs have been sung.

Years before it was "beers, ales and wines,"
And many's the song you've heard about "steins."
So why can't we sing of chocolate sun-DAES
And offer up songs of joy in their praise.
Aren't they worthy?

Labor Day---A Holiday From Work!

Nearly everyone you know when approached on the subject explains with deep throaty tones, with bloated chest about the "Dignity of LABOR." NO one will confess to being lazy, disliking work or being AGAINST work! Yet it's my PRIVATE opinion that just about ALL of us are KIDDIN ourselves!

Look at the HISTORY of work! Originally it was brought into the Garden of Eden by a low minded snake! Look what it did to poor ole Adam! Then time went bustin along and WORK was popular and fashionable ONLY among slaves and prisoners of war!

Then so MANY people got to picking out this particular world to live on that SOMEONE had to do some work besides slaves and a real strong effort was made to make Work popular But for a long spell WORK was still looked on with plenty of susupicion—in fact it's only been the last half dozen generations that WORK became a fad!

But NOW days you're all outta luck if you ACKNOWLEDGE you even SUSPICION Work! You're an outcast! You don't BELONG!

The only really SENSIBLE thing I see about WORK is the way they CELEBRATE LABOR DAY!

You're not supposed to WORK! ON THAT DAY!

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:

I forgive Jack all the past dirt he's handed me after reading his opinion on Work. If he can just keep on feeling this same way INDEFINITELY I see where I'm going to actually enjoy being around here! It MAY be that he don't allow any of us hired help to figger like him—eh?

FLIES HAVE NO LABOR DAY!

As long as they live they bother us humans in ways that are only too well known! You have noticed that on these fall days they have a tendency to gather inside. Fly Swatters will get some of them but if you want real riddance use CENOL FLY SPRAY for we know of no fly spray quite as effective.

WHAT MARK TWAIN SAID!

Asked WHERE he preferred to have a boil he replied carefully: "If I HAD to have one I'd prefer it on my mother-in-law." Does this have anything to do with corns? We have a paper-thin corn plaster that makes you forget the pain very quickly.

ENGRAVOGRAPH!

We have installed in our Sixth Street Store an ENGRAVOGRAPH for engraving names on Fountain Pens, Pencils, Mechanical Pencils, Razors, Tooth Brushes, etc. The cost is very small for having this done and it is a sort of insurance against loss. When purchasing a fountain pen or any of the articles mentionel above at any of our stores your name will be engraved on them free of charge.

BRIDES ARE THOROUGH!

They're mighty careful about their appearance, texture of their skin, and general loveliness! Do wives become neglectful? Forget to use Garden Court Face Cream as an example. We believe some of them do.

LAKE-TO-OCEAN ROAD MEETING

District Boosters to go to Session at Washington, Pa.

Good roads boosters from East Liverpool, Chester, Lisbon and Salem have been invited to attend a meeting to be held at Washington, Pa., on Friday, September 10, at which the proposed permenant improvement of the Lakes-to-Ocean route, between East Liverpool and Washington, will be discussed.

The meeting, which will be preceded by a luncheon, is being sponsored by the Washington Chamber of Commerce, which has written to the East Liverpool chamber asking that delegates be named.

The local Chamber will be represented by the roads and streets committee.

The Lakes-to-the-Ocean route was first proposed during the early part of the World war. The road begins at Cleveland and ends at Baltimore.

Latest Secret Order Striking Terror Into Soviet Chieftains

LONDON.—A secret order calling itself "The Brothers of the Black Star" is reported to be operating in Russia striking terror into the Soviet leaders, according to advices received here from Riga.

Branches of the order are stated to exist in Moscow, Petrograd, Kharkov, Kiev, and Odessa. The aim of the order is said to be the removal of the present Soviet leaders and the overthrow of the regime.

Soviet Government offices are said to be honeycombed with members of the order, some of whom hold high confidential posts in close contact with Kalinin, Stalin and Trotsky.

Recently the body was found in a Moscow street of a Soviet official named Martyanovsky, who had been strangled with a black rope with a star on it. In his pocket was found a letter threatening him with death and bearing the same symbol.

It is rumored that Djerjinski's death too was the work of the order, threatening letters bearing the black star being found in his cabinet after death.

PARTY FIGHT IN MISSOURI FOR U. S. TOGA

Democrats Seek to Regain Old-time Supremacy.

TWO IN RACE

Both Candidates on Record Against World Court.

ST. LOUIS.—When the general election rolls around in Missouri next November, a real party-to-party fight is in prospect.

The result of the senatorial returns will show whether the Democratic party has regained its one-time supremacy in Missouri and whether another Democratic senator will sit alongside of "Jim" Reed in the next congress.

Issues will not be many as both candidates—Congressman Harry B. Hawes and Senator George H. Williams, both of St. Louis—are agreed on practically all questions of interest to the voters.

On the world court both are on record as being opposed to the United States becoming a member. Each will make a bid for the farmer vote and on the question of farm relief, each will have a party platform to back up their pledges.

Platforms Alike.

Both Hawes and Williams voted for the McNary-Haugen bill, which went down to defeat at the last session. The leaders of both parties will meet in Jefferson City September 14 to draft their platforms and the farm plank is to have considerable attention.

No material difference will separate the planks of the two parties. The Democrats will seek a tariff reduction upon the commodities which farmers must purchase and otherwise work for legislation that will bring some relief to the soil tillers, according to advance information.

The Republicans will ask that the protection principles be applied for the farmers' benefit in the same measure that it has been accorded to the manufacturing industry.

Both Hawes and Williams have the endorsement of the Missouri farmer, William Hirth, head of the association, placed his O. K. on the record of each candidates in congress insofar as it concerned agricultural legislation.

No Major Issues.

As far as major issues go, this will be all that will worry the two parties or more particularly, the two senatorial candidates. There will be reference to Missouri and Missippi river improvements and good roads, but the platforms here also will stack up alongside each other like indistinguishable twins.

The prohibition issue will not be heard of in the senatorial race as this has been eliminated and will be taken care of at the polls on the referendum vote of repeal of the existing enforcement statues in Missouri.

Hawes and Williams, neither "dripping wet," were opposed by the Anti-Saloon League of Missouri in the primary election on August 3, Howes because he said he would ask a slight modification of the Volstead act and Williams because he said he would if the voters approved the repeal movement.

All dry candidates were eliminated in the primary, when the prohibition question was the dominant issue, but the arid forces have been silent since that time and neither candidate has brought the matter into the open in recent days.

Klan Issue Out.

No reference has been made nor none is expected of the Ku Klux Klan as upon the record books it already has been written that Hawes and Williams are antis. It is not regarded as likely, in view of this fact, that the organization itself will inject its power into the contest one way or the other.

Sizing up the two prospective senators on the merits of their beliefs, one would have to flip a coin to decide which one would be his choice unless, (and this always is a possibility) the state platform convention in their September gatherings, find something with which the other may find grievous fault.

All of which brings us back to the point first made at the beginning of the article that issues will be flung aside and that Democrats and Republicans will meet in the political ring at even weight and may the best party win.

900 Czech Lunatics Poisoned From Eating Diseased Meat

OBER BERKOWITZ, Czecho-Slovakia.—Nine hundred inmates and the entire personnel of the state lunatic asylum here have been poisoned by eating diseased veal. Most of the victims were stricken during the night and included most of the staff. Hundreds of the inmates unable to relieve the pain attempted to escape from the building, the interior of which was wrecked by their attempts.

No deaths resulted although many are still ill.

Strange that prevailing styles don't persuade doctors to call it kneemonia. —Fostoria Times.

Work by any other name would be just as distasteful to a lazy man.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Beware Warning Signals of Failing Glandular System

Science Now Knows That Tired, Weak, Worn-Out Conditions Often Caused by Glandular Insufficiently.

THOUSANDS of men and women are weak, worn-out, run down and exhausted, losing strength and losing weight, and fail to recognize the cause, which is often glandular insufficiency, or a weakened glandular system.

Glands exert a remarkable influence on normal health and vigor, according to eminent medical authorities, and when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Science now points a new way to vigorous health and vitality—glandular treatment. Now eminent physicians of this country and Europe prescribe glandular treatment for glandular insufficiency. Remarkable benefits result often in a short time.

If you are weak-worn-out and run down, seek the thrill of vigorous health and vitality this new way.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathews Cut Rate Store will supply you.

PARTY FIGHT IN MISSOURI FOR U. S. TOGA

Democrats Seek to Regain Old-time Supremacy.

TWO IN RACE

Both Candidates on Record Against World Court.

ST. LOUIS.—When the general election rolls around in Missouri next November, a real party-to-party fight is in prospect.

The result of the senatorial returns will show whether the Democratic party has regained its one-time supremacy in Missouri and whether another Democratic senator will sit alongside of "Jim" Reed in the next congress.

Issues will not be many as both candidates—Congressman Harry B. Hawes and Senator George H. Williams, both of St. Louis—are agreed on practically all questions of interest to the voters.

On the world court both are on record as being opposed to the United States becoming a member. Each will make a bid for the farmer vote and on the question of farm relief, each will have a party platform to back up their pledges.

Platforms Alike.

Both Hawes and Williams voted for the McNary-Haugen bill, which went down to defeat at the last session. The leaders of both parties will meet in Jefferson City September 14 to draft their platforms and the farm plank is to have considerable attention.

No material difference will separate the planks of the two parties. The Democrats will seek a tariff reduction upon the commodities which farmers must purchase and otherwise work for legislation that will bring some relief to the soil tillers, according to advance information.

The Republicans will ask that the protection principles be applied for the farmers' benefit in the same measure that it has been accorded to the manufacturing industry.

Both Hawes and Williams have the endorsement of the Missouri farmer, William Hirth, head of the association, placed his O. K. on the record of each candidates in congress insofar as it concerned agricultural legislation.

No Major Issues.

As far as major issues go, this will be all that will worry the two parties or more particularly, the two senatorial candidates. There will be reference to Missouri and Missippi river improvements and good roads, but the platforms here also will stack up alongside each other like indistinguishable twins.

The prohibition issue will not be heard of in the senatorial race as this has been eliminated and will be taken care of at the polls on the referendum vote of repeal of the existing enforcement statues in Missouri.

Hawes and Williams, neither "dripping wet," were opposed by the Anti-Saloon League of Missouri in the primary election on August 3, Howes because he said he would ask a slight modification of the Volstead act and Williams because he said he would if the voters approved the repeal movement.

All dry candidates were eliminated in the primary, when the prohibition question was the dominant issue, but the arid forces have been silent since that time and neither candidate has brought the matter into the open in recent days.

Klan Issue Out.

No reference has been made nor none is expected of the Ku Klux Klan as upon the record books it already has been written that Hawes and Williams are antis. It is not regarded as likely, in view of this fact, that the organization itself will inject its power into the contest one way or the other.

Sizing up the two prospective senators on the merits of their beliefs, one would have to flip a coin to decide which one would be his choice unless, (and this always is a possibility) the state platform convention in their September gatherings, find something with which the other may find grievous fault.

All of which brings us back to the point first made at the beginning of the article that issues will be flung aside and that Democrats and Republicans will meet in the political ring at even weight and may the best party win.

900 Czech Lunatics Poisoned From Eating Diseased Meat

OBER BERKOWITZ, Czecho-Slovakia.—Nine hundred inmates and the entire personnel of the state lunatic asylum here have been poisoned by eating diseased veal. Most of the victims were stricken during the night and included most of the staff. Hundreds of the inmates unable to relieve the pain attempted to escape from the building, the interior of which was wrecked by their attempts.

No deaths resulted although many are still ill.

Strange that prevailing styles don't persuade doctors to call it kneemonia.—Fostoria Times.

Work by any other name would be just as distasteful to a lazy man.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Beware Warning Signals of Failing Glandular System
Science Now Knows That Tired, Weak, Worn-Out Conditions Often Caused by Glandular Insufficiently.

THOUSANDS of men and women are weak, worn-out, run down and exhausted, losing strength and losing weight, and fail to recognize the cause, which is often glandular insufficiency, or a weakened glandular system.

Glands exert a remarkable influence on normal health and vigor, according to eminent medical authorities, and when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Science now points a new way to vigorous health and vitality—glandular treatment. Now eminent physicians of this country and Europe prescribe glandular treatment for glandular insufficiency. Remarkable benefits result often in a short time.

If you are weak-worn-out and run down, seek the thrill of vigorous health and vitality this new way.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathews Cut Rate Store will supply you.

ANANIA CLAIMS ERROR IN CASE

Carries Suit Against Mrs. Watkin to Lisbon Court.

Felix N. Anania, Bradshaw avenue contractor, through his attorney, Ben L. Bennett, has filed a petition in error in common pleas court in the decision rendered in municipal court of a few weeks ago in the suit for $200 against Mrs. Lillian Watkin, of Ridgeway avenue.

The action is based upon a loan which Anania claims he made to Mrs. Watkin about three years ago.

Anania cites nine causes for a new trial. It is claimed that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence; that the verdict and judgment were contrary to law; that the verdict was not sustained by sufficient evidence and that the court erred in its charge to the jury.

Eczema on Hands For Nine Years Cuticura Healed

"About nine years ago eczema started breaking out on my hands and fingers in a rash. It itched badly and when I scratched it, it would burn and eruptions formed. When I put my hands in water it was worse. At night I could not rest or sleep on account of it. The trouble lasted about nine years.

"I tried almost everything I could think of without any benefit. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time I could see that my hands were better. I continued using them and in about two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. L. J. Baker, 539-18th Ave. A, Moline, Ill.

Use Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum to promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health; the Soap to cleanse and purify, Ointment to soothe and heal and Talcum to powder.

Budapest Will Have First Full Theatrical Season Since War

BUDAPEST. — Next winter Budapest will have its first full theatrical season since the war. The galaxy of famous European stars that once made Budapest a close second to Vienna in the musical and theatrical world will appear again in Hungarian theatres, many of which will be opened for the first time since the war.

Pavlova will once again dance for Hungarians to be followed by Ella Ilbak, Impekoven and Mary Wigman. All of Vienna's operatic stars and most of the famous musicians will sometime during the winter appear in Hungary much in the manner as they did under the Empire when the capitals of the dual monarchy vied each other's seasons. Irma Grammatica, the Italian actress, is to make her debut in Budapest. The Italian opera will also have a run of six weeks when all the works of Verdi will be given.

Rabindranath Tagore, the Indian poet now touring Europe, will lecture here this month.

RED MACK IS COMING

Hate Goes With Removal of Scar; Hubby Would Free Wife Who Made It

Darby Day, well-to-do Chicago sportsman, left no stone unturned to help convict his wife and send her to prison when she threw nitric acid in his face in a fit of jealousy, a year ago in Los Angeles. Now he has announced he will seek to obtain her pardon from the San Quentin, Calif., prison where she still is. The scar made by the acid has been removed by plastic surgery and Day has forgiven his wife for the act. Photos are of Day and Mrs. Day.

NARCISSI HIT IN CAROLINA

Bulb Raising at Standstill Pending Study of Pests.

RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina's newest million dollar industry—narcissus bulb raising—now is at a standstill while the State Department of Agriculture inspects all the bulbs in the state for signs of blub flies and eelworm.

Bulb growing on a commercial scale sprang into existence along the Carolina coast almost overnight when an embargo was placed on commercial shipments of bulbs to the United States from foreign countries.

The inspection of the North Carolina bulbs is being made to comply with the quarantine recently issued by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, prohibiting the movement of narcissus bulbs from one state to another unless they have been certified by entomologists to be free from pests.

Test Defense Plan.

COPENHAGEN — Thirty airplanes participated in manoeuvres over Stockholm with a view to testing the possibility of defending the Swedish capital from an attack from the air.

The manoeuvres included a sham bomb attack.

MRS. HAUG'S HAY FEVER VANISHES

"After suffering for five years with hay fever, with all its attendant sneezing and suffering," says Mrs. E. G. Haug, 1274 Grant street, Zanesville, O., I took two bottles of Kerker's Asthma and Hay Fever Remedy. It promptly and entirely cleared up my hay fever.

"The Kerker Remedy is the finest remedy I ever tried or heard of, and I want to say I tried many.

"1274 Grant St., Zanesville, O."

Kerker's Asthma and Hay Fever Remedy is produced by Kerker Medicine Co., Zanesville, O., and is sold in East Liverpool by the Carnahan Drug Co.

Austrian Government Is Now Supporting 137,908 Unemployed

VIENNA — The Austrian government now supports 137,908 unemployed people. The figures are for July and are an increase for the first time in 12 months. Almost all of these on the dole are city dwellers, Vienna alone housing 76,089.

There is another 14,000 unemployed persons in the state, who, however, maintain a more dignified mein by living on savings or benevolent relatives.

BERTEL'S BAND AT CERAMIC

Ten Clever Musicians Open Three-day Engagement.

Don Bertel's Cosmopolitan orchestra, which opened a three-day engagement at Ceramic theatre yesterday, came here from the Schenley theatre, Pittsburgh, where these 10 clever entertainers scored another success.

In addition to special musical arrangement written by Bertel, conductor of the orchestra, the program presented at the Ceramic yesterday included clever singing, comedy and instrumental specialties by the various members.

This is the first local booking of the organization, which will go to Camden, N. J., to make phonograph records in August.

Ads With Postage Stamps Brings Storm In English Capital

LONDON. — A storm in a teacup has arisen in England following the decision of the postal authorities to use the letter franking machines for advertising purposes.

Prominent business men point out that it would be harmful to their interests if, for instance, one of their catalogs advertising their products was to arrive bearing a postmark advocating a rival firm's wares.

Budapest Will Have First Full Theatrical Season Since War

BUDAPEST. — Next winter Budapest will have its first full theatrical season since the war. The galaxy of famous European stars that once made Budapest a close second to Vienna in the musical and theatrical world will appear again in Hungarian theatres, many of which will be opened for the first time since the war.

Pavlova will once again dance for Hungarians to be followed by Ella Ilbak, Impekoven and Mary Wigman. All of Vienna's operatic stars and most of the famous musicians will sometime during the winter appear in Hungary much in the manner as they did under the Empire when the capitals of the dual monarchy vied each other's seasons. Irma Grammatica, the Italian actress, is to make her debut in Budapest. The Italian opera will also have a run of six weeks when all the works of Verdi will be given.

Rabindranath Tagore, the Indian poet now touring Europe, will lecture here this month.

Hate Goes With Removal of Scar; Hubby Would Free Wife Who Made It

Darby Day, well-to-do Chicago sportsman, left no stone unturned to help convict his wife and send her to prison when she threw nitric acid in his face in a fit of jealousy, a year ago in Los Angeles. Now he has announced he will seek to obtain her pardon from the San Quentin, Calif., prison where she still is. The scar made by the acid has been removed by plastic surgery and Day has forgiven his wife for the act. Photos are of Day and Mrs. Day.

NARCISSI HIT IN CAROLINA

Bulb Raising at Standstill Pending Study of Pests.

RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina's newest million dollar industry—narcissus bulb raising—now is at a standstill while the State Department of Agriculture inspects all the bulbs in the state for signs of blub flies and eelworm.

Bulb growing on a commercial scale sprang into existence along the Carolina coast almost overnight when an embargo was placed on commercial shipments of bulbs to the United States from foreign countries.

The inspection of the North Carolina bulbs is being made to comply with the quarantine recently issued by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, prohibiting the movement of narcissus bulbs from one state to another unless they have been certified by entomologists to be free from pests.

The manoeuvres included a sham bomb attack.

Austrian Government Is Now Supporting 137,908 Unemployed

VIENNA — The Austrian government now supports 137,908 unemployed people. The figures are for July and are an increase for the first time in 12 months. Almost all of these on the dole are city dwellers, Vienna alone housing 76,089.

There is another 14,000 unemployed persons in the state, who, however, maintain a more dignified mein by living on savings or benevolent relatives.

MRS. HAUG'S HAY FEVER VANISHES

"After suffering for five years with hay fever, with all its attendant sneezing and suffering," says Mrs. E. G. Haug, 1274 Grant street, Zanesville, O., I took two bottles of Kerker's Asthma and Hay Fever Remedy. It promptly and entirely cleared up my hay fever.

"The Kerker Remedy is the finest remedy I ever tried or heard of, and I want to say I tried many.

BERTEL'S BAND AT CERAMIC

Ten Clever Musicians Open Three-day Engagement.

Don Bertel's Cosmopolitan orchestra, which opened a three-day engagement at Ceramic theatre yesterday, came here from the Schenley theatre, Pittsburgh, where these 10 clever entertainers scored another success.

In addition to special musical arrangement written by Bertel, conductor of the orchestra, the program presented at the Ceramic yesterday included clever singing, comedy and instrumental specialties by the various members.

This is the first local booking of the organization, which will go to Camden, N. J., to make phonograph records in August.

COMMISSIONERS HEAR ROAD PLEA

Salineville Residents Seek to Have Highway Widened.

A delegation of residents from Salineville appeared before the county commissioners for the purpose of requesting the commissioners that the "yard-stick" road out of Wellsville and forming a part of the Wellsville-Salineville road be widened.

This piece of roadway while paved, is the most narrow in the county for an improved road, and it is impossible for two vehicles to pass. It is the desire of the Salineville people that this narrow road be widened with some temporary material, either cinders or slag before winter begins, or until the final location of the road has been officially determined.

There is two and one-half miles in this narrow strip, the various widths of which are eight, nine and ten feet. The narrow begins at the Wellsville corporation line from Tenth street, and extends westward toward Salineville.

The survey on the Elkton-Clarkson road east of Clarkson has been completed as far as Turkeyfoot run or to the point on this road where it intersects the East Liverpool-Youngstown road. The survey is to be extended about one and one half miles eastward before Clarkson is touched. This road is on the major road program for through grading during 1927, and it is likely contracts will be awarded early in the year so that contractors can get an early start on the job.

Within the next few days surveyors from the office of County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk will have completed running the line and taking levels on the Lisbon-Salineville road, the surveying project having been underway for several weeks.

The Lisbon-Salineville road will intersect the Wellsville-Salineville at or near the old Garside mine. This road is another that is included in the major road program for grading and surfacing, and has been listed for grading its entire length next year. A new low grade route has been established for this road.

The Holmes Construction company, of Wooster, that was awarded the contract for the improvement of the North Georgetown-East Rochester road will finish the grading on this section within the next four days. The grading would have been finished Saturday but for the heavy rain, which delayed progress.

This same company has completed the pouring of concrete on the Valley-North Georgetown road, and as soon as the East Rochester-North Georgetown grading is finished, the concrete equipment used on the Valley-North Georgetown road will be moved to the new section, which is to be surfaced for a distance of two miles.

Probably one week will be required by the Ohio Willite Paving & Surfacing company, of East Liverpool to lay the surface on the Shadyside avenue, or the East Liverpool-Campground road. This road begins at the end of the West Eighth street viaduct, and extends north by west to join with the paved section of this road. The road is being surfaced with a bituminus concrete top laid on a concrete base. The surfacing is now under construction, and the road is expected to be opened to traffic within the next 10 days.

Williamson, Howard, Smith Co., of Youngstown, which interest was awarded the contract for the grading of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, together with the construction of culverts, at a bid of $107,020.16 has ordered two steam shovels shipped to this job at once. This grading will extend from Rogers south to Williamsport, and includes the grading, culverts and other drainage structures on section E and G-3 on this new intercounty highway.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Joseph Kreefer, a draftsman residing at East Liverpool and Miss Ruth H. Orr, also of East Liverpool but formerly residing at Wellsville and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Orr.

William Earl Watkins, of Salem, a mechanic, and Stella Mary Ross, formerly residing at New York City, but now of Salem, have obtained a marriage license. They were married by the Rev. J. C. Cameron at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon.

Divorce Suit Filed.

Declaring that her husband has held seven jobs in one month and that he permitted her clothing to be taken for his room rent, Alma Lemlerly has filed a petition for divorce in common pleas court against her husband, Frank A. Lemlerly, said to be residing at 153 South Fourth street, Steubenville.

The petition was filed by Attorney P. V. Mackall of East Liverpool.

Restraining Order Issued.

A temporary restraining order has been handed down by Judge W. H. Spence against Constable Earl Ritchie of Salem in the divorce action filed against him by his wife Edith Ritchie. The plaintiff has not been required to post any bond in this issue. In her divorce petition, Mrs. Ritchie asked for the decree, the custody of her children and temporary alimony.

Action Dismissed.

On the motion of the plaintiffs George Wilson and Ella Wilson against Daniel McKenzie, the court has sustained the plea to dismiss the action, and at the costs of the plaintiff.

County Rural Schools Will Open Tuesday; Teachers Assigned

Rural schools in Columbiana county that will operate over a period of nine months will begin sessions Sept. 7 with the exception of the Negley school, which on account of the East Palestine fair will not open until Sept. 13.

The faculty of the Fairfield high school met with County Superintendent H. C. Leonard at the Centralized school Monday and Tuesday for the purpose of registering students and making study assignments. As this is the second year the Centralized high school operates a first grade high school considerable time has been saved by listing the registration of scholars this week.

Noble Heiser of Pemberville will be the principal at Centralized school this term. He will teach history and manual training, the latter course having been added this season. Mary Noble of Alliance and Ruth Duringer of Leetonia will be assistant high school teachers, while the grade teachers will be Homer Randels, Columbiana; Florence Pittman, Ravenna; Pearl Cope, Leetonia; Kathleen Faust, East Orwell, O.; Pearl Schwab, Columbiana; Verna Guy, Lisbon; Helen Richardson, Lisbon; Goldie Carlisle, Lisbon; music, Miss Anna Rapp, Columbiana.

It is proposed to establish a general course in agriculture at Centralized school next year under the provisions of the Smith-Hughes law.

Franklin township and Summitville schools will also open Sept. 7. William Mitchell of Bayard will be principal of the Franklin township school and his assistants will be Ellia Diehl of Salem; Mary Brown and Beulah Watkins of Millport.

Russell Krepps of Freedom, Pa., will be principal at Negley school this term. His assistants will be Lois Shield of Negley and Mrs. J. Miller of Rogers.

A general meeting of teachers of the nine months school will be held at the office of County Superintendent Leonard Friday morning at 10 o'clock at which time the school program for the new term will be reviewed. Supplies will be given all teachers at this time.

On account of the East Palestine fair, the East Palestine schools will not begin them fall term until Monday, Sept. 13.

The eight month schools will not open until the latter part of September.

It was announced by Supt. Leonard today that the average attendance of the rural school enrollment for the last fiscal term stood at 94 per cent, which has been classed as excellent, considering the weather and health conditions that had to be contended with last term.

Weather Report for August Submitted By Millport Man

"Temperature and precipitation for the month of August were above normal," cooperative weather observer Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, has reported to the department of agriculture at Washington. Sunshine was below normal, and the rainfall for the month occurred on 16 days, there being ample moisture, with few clear days but with warm days and nights.

The report shows that August was two degrees warmer than was July.

Mean temperature was 81.3 and mean minimum was 60.7, the mean temperature being 71 degrees.

August 1st was the warmest day during the month when 96 was registered at the station. The coolest day was Aug. 31st when 40 was registered, and on this day the greatest daily range occurred, there being a change of 35 degrees last Tuesday.

The percipitation during August was 5.55 inches, and the heaviest rain fall was Aug. 22nd when 1.76 inches of rain fell. There were 14 days during August when the percipitation was .01 inches or more.

Only five clear days were recorded last month, with 23 days partly cloudy and three days were cloudy.

Five thunderstorms were recorded during August, these occurring on the 11, 14, 16, 22 and 29th, with a moderate hail fall on August. 21st.

The report shows that for warm weather, the highest temperature ever recorded at the Millport station was Aug. 6 and 7 in 1918 when the temperature was 103, and the coolest August day ever recorded was Aug. 31, 1915 when 34 was registered.

Divorce Case Dismissed.

The petition in divorce filed recently in common pleas court by Indianola Porter of East Liverpool against her husband John E. Porter has been dismissed by Judge W. H. Spence on the motion of the plaintiff and at the costs of the plaintifff.

COMMISSIONERS HEAR ROAD PLEA

Salineville Residents Seek to Have Highway Widened.

A delegation of residents from Salineville appeared before the county commissioners for the purpose of requesting the commissioners that the "yard-stick" road out of Wellsville and forming a part of the Wellsville-Salineville road be widened.

This piece of roadway while paved, is the most narrow in the county for an improved road, and it is impossible for two vehicles to pass. It is the desire of the Salineville people that this narrow road be widened with some temporary material, either cinders or slag before winter begins, or until the final location of the road has been officially determined.

There is two and one-half miles in this narrow strip, the various widths of which are eight, nine and ten feet. The narrow begins at the Wellsville corporation line from Tenth street, and extends westward toward Salineville.

The survey on the Elkton-Clarkson road east of Clarkson has been completed as far as Turkeyfoot run or to the point on this road where it intersects the East Liverpool-Youngstown road. The survey is to be extended about one and one half miles eastward before Clarkson is touched. This road is on the major road program for through grading during 1927, and it is likely contracts will be awarded early in the year so that contractors can get an early start on the job.

Within the next few days surveyors from the office of County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk will have completed running the line and taking levels on the Lisbon-Salineville road, the surveying project having been underway for several weeks.

The Lisbon-Salineville road will intersect the Wellsville-Salineville at or near the old Garside mine. This road is another that is included in the major road program for grading and surfacing, and has been listed for grading its entire length next year. A new low grade route has been established for this road.

The Holmes Construction company, of Wooster, that was awarded the contract for the improvement of the North Georgetown-East Rochester road will finish the grading on this section within the next four days. The grading would have been finished Saturday but for the heavy rain, which delayed progress.

This same company has completed the pouring of concrete on the Valley-North Georgetown road, and as soon as the East Rochester-North Georgetown grading is finished, the concrete equipment used on the Valley-North Georgetown road will be moved to the new section, which is to be surfaced for a distance of two miles.

Probably one week will be required by the Ohio Willite Paving & Surfacing company, of East Liverpool to lay the surface on the Shadyside avenue, or the East Liverpool-Campground road. This road begins at the end of the West Eighth street viaduct, and extends north by west to join with the paved section of this road. The road is being surfaced with a bituminus concrete top laid on a concrete base. The surfacing is now under construction, and the road is expected to be opened to traffic within the next 10 days.

Williamson, Howard, Smith Co., of Youngstown, which interest was awarded the contract for the grading of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, together with the construction of culverts, at a bid of $107,020.16 has ordered two steam shovels shipped to this job at once. This grading will extend from Rogers south to Williamsport, and includes the grading, culverts and other drainage structures on section E and G-3 on this new intercounty highway.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Joseph Kreefer, a draftsman residing at East Liverpool and Miss Ruth H. Orr, also of East Liverpool but formerly residing at Wellsville and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Orr.

William Earl Watkins, of Salem, a mechanic, and Stella Mary Ross, formerly residing at New York City, but now of Salem, have obtained a marriage license. They were married by the Rev. J. C. Cameron at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon.

Divorce Suit Filed.

Declaring that her husband has held seven jobs in one month and that he permitted her clothing to be taken for his room rent, Alma Lemlerly has filed a petition for divorce in common pleas court against her husband, Frank A. Lemlerly, said to be residing at 153 South Fourth street, Steubenville.

The petition was filed by Attorney P. V. Mackall of East Liverpool.

Restraining Order Issued.

A temporary restraining order has been handed down by Judge W. H. Spence against Constable Earl Ritchie of Salem in the divorce action filed against him by his wife Edith Ritchie. The plaintiff has not been required to post any bond in this issue. In her divorce petition, Mrs. Ritchie asked for the decree, the custody of her children and temporary alimony.

Action Dismissed.

On the motion of the plaintiffs George Wilson and Ella Wilson against Daniel McKenzie, the court has sustained the plea to dismiss the action, and at the costs of the plaintiff.

County Rural Schools Will Open Tuesday; Teachers Assigned

Rural schools in Columbiana county that will operate over a period of nine months will begin sessions Sept. 7 with the exception of the Negley school, which on account of the East Palestine fair will not open until Sept. 13.

The faculty of the Fairfield high school met with County Superintendent H. C. Leonard at the Centralized school Monday and Tuesday for the purpose of registering students and making study assignments. As this is the second year the Centralized high school operates a first grade high school considerable time has been saved by listing the registration of scholars this week.

Noble Heiser of Pemberville will be the principal at Centralized school this term. He will teach history and manual training. The latter course having been added this season. Mary Noble of Alliance and Ruth Duringer of Leetonia will be assistant high school teachers, while the grade teachers will be Homer Randels, Columbiana; Florence Pittman, Ravenna; Pearl Cope, Leetonia; Kathleen Faust, East Orwell, O.; Pearl Schwab, Columbiana; Verna Guy, Lisbon; Helen Richardson, Lisbon; Goldie Carlisle, Lisbon; music, Miss Anna Rapp, Columbiana.

It is proposed to establish a general course in agriculture at Centralized school next year under the provisions of the Smith-Hughes law.

Franklin township and Summitville schools will also open Sept. 7. William Mitchell of Bayard will be principal of the Franklin township school and his assistants will be Ellla Diehl of Salem; Mary Brown and Beulah Watkins of Millport.

Russell Krepps of Freedom, Pa., will be principal at Negley school this term. His assistants will be Lois Shield of Negley and Mrs. J. Miller of Rogers.

A general meeting of teachers of the nine months school will be held at the office of County Superintendent Leonard Friday morning at 10 o'clock at which time the school program for the new term will be reviewed. Supplies will be given all teachers at this time.

On account of the East Palestine fair, the East Palestine schools will not begin them fall term until Monday, Sept. 13.

The eight month schools will not open until the latter part of September.

It was announced by Supt. Leonard today that the average attendance of the rural school enrollment for the last fiscal term stood at 94 per cent, which has been classed as excellent, considering the weather and health conditions that had to be contended with last term.

Weather Report for August Submitted By Millport Man

"Temperature and precipitation for the month of August were above normal," cooperative weather observer Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, has reported to the department of agriculture at Washington. Sunshine was below normal, and the rainfall for the month occurred on 16 days, there being ample moisture, with few clear days but with warm days and nights.

The report shows that August was two degrees warmer than was July.

Mean temperature was 81.3 and mean minimum was 60.7, the mean temperature being 71 degrees.

August 1st was the warmest day during the month when 96 was registered at the station. The coolest day was Aug. 31st when 40 was registered, and on this day the greatest daily range occurred, there being a change of 35 degrees last Tuesday.

The percipitation during August was 5.55 inches, and the heaviest rain fall was Aug. 22nd when 1.76 inches of rain fell. There were 14 days during August when the percipitation was .01 inches or more.

Only five clear days were recorded last month, with 23 days partly cloudy and three days were cloudy.

Five thunderstorms were recorded during August, these occurring on the 11, 14, 16, 22 and 29th, with a moderate hail fall on August. 21st.

The report shows that for warm weather, the highest temperature ever recorded at the Millport station was Aug. 6 and 7 in 1918 when the temperature was 103, and the coolest August day ever recorded was Aug. 31, 1915 when 34 was registered.

Divorce Case Dismissed.

The petition in divorce filed recently in common pleas court by Indianola Porter of East Liverpool against her husband John E. Porter has been dismissed by Judge W. H. Spence on the motion of the plaintiff and at the costs of the plaintifff.

Clears away itching rash in two days

Uses Resinol now for all kinds of skin ills

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 4:—"On July 20, 1917, just before I was called to service in France, I was advised by my druggist to use Resinol Ointment for a rash which I had on my arm. It relieved the itching and the rash was gone in two days. Later I cured two friends of mine who were suffering from some kind of skin trouble. We all agreed that it was 100% stuff for anything like a breaking out.

While in France I had a bunch of boils that nothing seemed to cure until I had the doctor fix the little place up (after a treatment with a knife) with Resinol. Needless to say, I soon lost all my boils and from that time on I became the outfit's boil and pimple doctor.

Since coming home I have used a great many jars of Resinol and I swear by it. Every little cut or scratch gets its immediate application of Resinol. It is a wonderful, non-equaled ointment." (Signed) Chas. T. Sweet, Jr., 3015 So. 7th St.

GOETHE said the best way to Germanize territory taken from Poland was to send German plays and players to inspire respect for the German ideas and language.

What would Goethe think of these, chosen from titles of plays now advertised in New York: "Liars," "Loose Ankles," "One Man's Woman," "Cradle Snatchers," "Laff That Off," "If I Was Rich," "Sex," "She Couldn't Say No," "The Adorable Liar."

ANOTHER title, "My Country," strikes your eye, and your mind turns to patriotism. Then you read: "It is the nation's laugh hit."

THEY say Euripides' "Bacchue" was played in Athens for 500 years. It wouldn't play twice in New York unless George Cohan rewrote it, and Shubert or Zeigfeld organized such a chorus of Bacchue as Dionysus never dreamed of.

HARRY K. THAW, who killed Stanford White, and has since attracted attention, writes an autobiography that "cost him $25,000," a large price.

Mr. Thaw says his lawyer was a traitor, but doesn't name the lawyer. He had several. He says the lawyer was worse than Stanford White, and the night after he killed White he prayed that the latter might go to heaven. It would be interesting to know what memoranda the angel Gabriel wrote on the margin of that prayer.

ON ONE farm, in the new South African diamond fields, prospectors have found $180,000 worth of diamonds.

A community of a few hundred almost overnight, grows into a crowd of 50,000. Thousands pour in, on foot, some in bathing suits, to make running easier.

A few, perhaps a dozen, will find diamonds and get rich. Half a dozen may keep the money and leave it to

How To Remove Eighty-eight Different Kinds of Stains

Perhaps you do not realize how many different kinds of stains can disfigure people's clothes.

It is almost impossible for anyone to escape having food stains on clothing at some time or other.

What would you do if you upset the ink bottle on an expensive table cover, spilled medicine on your best suit, ruined a gown with paint stains, or scorched the newest linen tablecloth?

All of these things happen every day. But there is a remedy for every blemish you may get on your clothing and household linens.

These are all listed in a 30-page booklet, with illustrations, which this Bureau has for distribution. Fill our the attached coupon and enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling. Write your name and address clearly.

Senior Buckeye State Member of Upper Branch of Congress Cites Menace of Tapping Great Lakes.

IMPERILS OHIO VALLEY INDUSTRY

Calls for Honesty and Fair-dealing in Settling Public Questions in Kiwanis Club Dinner Address.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis, guest of hontr at a Kiwanis club dinner in Larkins' annex last night, went on record in a one-hour address against the so-called Chicago water steal and former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker's proposal for the cancellation of foreign debts.

Speaking before an audience of Kiwanians and their wives, the senior Ohio member of the upper house of congress who is the Republican nominee for re-election in November, pointed out the menace to the industrially Ohio Valley, including East Liverpool, pottery center of the world, in the plan of the Chicago drainage district to tap the waters of the Great Lakes system.

With equal emphasis he declared "There will be, and ought to be, no cancellation of foreign debts."

Delayed on Trip Here.

Delayed one hour and 40 minutes on his trip from Chardon, where he spoke at a teachers' meeting at noon yesterday, the senator, accompanied by Russell C. Heddleston, who met him at Youngstown and brought him to East Liverpool in his automobile, did not reach the dinner until 7:30 o'clock. A few minutes later he launched into his address.

Clarence C. Cline, president of the club, was chairman of the meeting. He introduced Mr. Heddleston, who in turn presented Mr. Willis.

Group singing, directed by Prof. Hugh Laughlin; a piano solo by Miss Lucile Orin and a short talk by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle of Lisbon preceded the senator's address.

Y. & O. Railroad Will Sell Sunday And Holiday Pass

The Youngstown and Ohio River railroad will inaugurate a Sunday and holiday pass, beginning September 5, company officials announced today.

The pass will be good on the first car leaving here in the morning until the last car returning at night. It will sell for 50 cents. It may be purchased from the conductor or from ticket agents anytime during the day.

The Stark Electric company operating between Salem and Canton adopted the 50-cent Sunday pass several weeks ago. This will permit one to make a trip from East Liverpool to Canton and back on Sundays for $1.

Purpose of the pass is to increase Sunday business.

Sunday Holiday Pass. Good for all day between all points, price 50c. Ask agents or conductors. The Youngstown & Ohio River Railroad Co. adv.

BEN DEBONAIR WHEN LOCKED UP

CANTON, O., Sept. 3.—Ben Rudner, Massillon hardware dealer and suspect in connection with the murder of Don R. Mellett, maintained a flaunting, debonair attitude, even as he walked into the Stark county jail.

"Well, it looks as though I'm going to be in for a while," he said to newspapermen.

SCREEN IDOL'S FUNERAL TRAIN STOPS IN OHIO

Crowd Gathers at Union Station in Cleveland.

POLA IS ILL

Immense Floral Offering Received From Theatres

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 3.—Bearing the body of Rudolph Valentino, the Lake Shore Limited arrived here at 8:20 this morning and departed 15 minutes later for Chicago.

A crowd of several hundred persons was gathered at the Union station and a mad but unsuccessful scramble ensued for a glimpse of the casket containing the remains of the screen idol when the train arrived.

An immense floral offering from the Cleveland theaters was added to those already covering the casket.

No one was permitted to board the train, George Ullman, Valentino's manager, explaining that Pola Negri was in a highly nervous condition and under the care of nurses.

Ullman announced that plans were under way by the film colony at Hollywood to erect a half million dollar monument to Valentino at Hollywood.

The crowd at the station consisted largely of young women and they voiced keen disappointment when they were not permitted to glimpse the casket.

Pola Grief-Stricken.

WITH THE VALENTINO FUNERAL TRAIN, Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Pola Negri still was a grief-stricken figure today as she and others close to Rudolph Valentino were accompanying the body of the late screen star to Hollywood for burial.

Each day, during the long trip which will not end until next Monday, she will place a fresh lily on Valentino's bier.

As the train pulled out of Grand Central station in New York last evening, Miss Negri was kneeling at the casket, with tears streaming down her cheeks. She did not rise until the train had long passed Harmon, some 40 minutes out.

Then she placed at her dead fiance's feet a huge bunch of white lilies, tied with a purple bow.

Miss Negri is maintaining a close watch over the body from her compartment, which is next to the improvised sanctuary in which the body lies.

John Salsberry Is Arrested Twice Within Three Hours

Within less than three hours after he had been released on bond, John Salsberry was back in jail again last night with a second charge of being drunk facing him.

Salsberry was first picked up in Green lane by Patrolman James Haley at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. About 8 o'clock last night he was released after police had taken a deposit of $15.80 from him as a guarantee for his appearance in police court this morning.

Salsberry was again taken into custody on Jackson street at 10:45 o'clock last night by Patrolman Roth. Upon arraignment before Judge Hanley this morning Salsberry was fined $10 and costs upon the one offense, while he paid the costs of $5.80 for the second offense. His fine totalled $21.60 for the two affenses.

MASSILLON MAN CHARGED WITH ASSASSINATION OF PUBLISHER

Former Bootlegger is Apprehended at His Hardware Store.

Second Arrest Made in Slaying of Canton Editor.

CANTON, O., Sept. 3.—Three men today were indicted by a Stark county grand jury for the murder of Don R. Mellett, martyred Canton publisher.

They are:

Louis Mazer, habitue of "Little Cicero" and alleged "big sacle" bootlegger.

Ben Rudner, former bootlegger and inmate of the Atlanta penitentiary.

Patrick Eugene McDermott, reputed professional thug and nationally hunted as the alleged hired trigger man and "key witness" in the Mellett murder.

Mazer is under arrest in Cleveland, Rudner is in the county jail here and McDermott is a fugitive from justice.

The joint indictment charging first degree murder was returned before Common Pleas Judge A. W. Agler.

The indictment is known to be based upon purely circumstantial evidence.

CANTON, O., Sept. 3.—Ben Rudner, Massillon, Ohio, hardware merchant, today was arrested on a first degree murder charge in connection with the seven-weeks'-old Don R. Mellett assassination.

The former bootlegger and inmate of Atlanta penitentiary was taken into custody in Massillon, seven miles from here, where he operates a retail hardware business.

County authorities made the arrest upon the request of County Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

Rudner was to be brought to Canton immediately.

It was the second arrest in the long drawn out murder inquiry.

Louise Mazer, friend of Rudner's was arrested about three weeks ago in Cleveland on a first degree murder charge. Mazer is also charged with violation of the national prohibition act.

Patrick E. McDermott, alleged hired triggerman and "key witness" for whom a nation-wide search has been instigated, is still at large.

Expect Three Indictments.

It has been semi-officially announced that the grand jury today will in-

Dutch Ship Forced to Anchor After Second Collision.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Heavy fogs in the English channel today caused three known collisions between ships, and it is feared that smaller boats may be in difficulties.

The British steamer Kurdistan collided with the French steamer Cof-Coffanes off Folkstone. The Coffanes is in a sinking condition and her crew has been taken off.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—An unidentified steamer was reported stranded off the Kentish coast today following a collision with a Japanese steamer, Andes Maru.

The Japanese vessel spent three hours trying to locate the ship. The commander of the Andes Maru expressed the fear that the unknown ship had gone on the rocks.

The collision occurred in a heavy fog which shrouded the channel today which seriously delayed and menaced all shipping.

Another collision on account of fog occurred when the British steamer, Volumnia, collided with the Dutch ship, Djanbi. The Volumnia, in damaged condition, was forced to anchor off Dover.

PROPOSAL GOES ON BALLOT FOR DISTRICT VOTE IN NOVEMBER

Revenue Needed to Meet Interest and Bond Payments.

NO TIME LIMIT

Amount of Tax Will Decrease Annually From 1929.

Electors of the East Liverpool school district will be asked to pass upon proposed levy not to exceed 2.4 mills at the general election on Tuesday, November 2, to meet a possible deficit of approximately $75,000 which the board of education will face before the end of the 1926-27 term.

Funds Near Danger Mark.

Board members last night passed a resolution placing this issue on the ballot. Should the issue fail to carry, funds will be depleted at the end of the sixth month and teachers will be required to teach for the other three months without pay or the school doors will close, the board claims.

The proposed levy, which is over and above the limitation, is intended to take care of bonds and interest on the board's debt leaving the money derived from ordinary taxation for current expenses.

The tax will vary from year to year but at no time will it exceed the 2.4 mills, according to figures which have been compiled by school board attaches. The levy will continue for the life of the present school board bonds, all of which will be liquidated in 1950, it is said.

COUNCIL CALLS VOTE ON BONDS

$225,000 City Hall Proposition Submitted to Electors.

Council last night voted unanimously to submit to the electors on November 2 a proposed $225,000 bond issue for acquiring a site and erecting a municipal building.

Solons Thomas Farrall and Charles Hayes speaking on the resolution, declared that the present city hall was a "disgrace to the city." It was pointed out that a 55 per cent of the vote cast would be required to sanction the proposal.

Service-Safety Director Moore was authorized in a resolution passed under suspension of rules to advertise for bids for a five-way traffic light to be placed at the intersection of Broadway, Washington and Sixth streets.

Traffic Commission Proposed.

An ordinance proposing establishment of a city traffic commission to be composed of five citizens was introduced, but action was deferred until the next meeting. Purpose of the measure as explained by Farrall is to adequately cope with traffic conditions.

Determining ordinance for the resurfacing of Fourth street from Union to Monroe streets was passed on three readings, while a like measure for the improvement of Avondale street from Bank street to St. Clair avenue

"I AM ON THE JOB"-CHIEF OF POLICE JOHN H. FULTZ; "HE WILL NOT GO TO WORK UNTIL THE COURT RULES ON NEW TRIAL"-MAYOR W. L. FOGO

Chief of Police John H. Fultz, of Wellsville, reinstated in a court decision handed down at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon in common pleas court, Lisbon, by Judge W. H. Spence, reported for duty at city hall in the neighboring municipality at 8 o'clock this morning.

"I reported to Mayor W. L. Fogo, asked him if he had any orders and then assumed by duties today," said Fultz.

Questioned by newspapermen shortly before noon, Mayor Fogo declared: "Mr. Fultz will not go to work until after the court rules on our motion for a new trial."

"I am on the job today and expect to be on the job every day," said Chief Fultz when inquiry was made at 12:30 p. m.

"I have called a meeting of patrolmen, to be held at city hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when I intend to tell them that I have been reinstated as chief of police and that I expect them to perform their duties."

Fultz Ready to Co-operate.

Fultz said that he also called upon Service-Safety Director George Ashley and inquired if he had any instructions.

"Director Ashley advised me that, acting under instructions of the solicitor, he would have no orders for me until the court ruled on the question of a new trial."

Fultz then issued the following statement:

"I appreciate the manner in which the citizens of Wellsville have stood by me during my trial. I entertain no malice toward anyone and am ready to do my full duty and co-operate with the mayor and assist him in carrying out any policies he may have for the benefit of Wellsville or the enforcement of law."

New Trial Asked.

Solicitor L. C. Luccock and Attorneys S. W. Crawford and Blaine H. Cochran, of East Liverpool, who were associated with Luccock in the prosecution of the Fultz case at Lisbon, filed a motion for a new trial in common pleas court late yesterday afternoon They cited nine reasons, as follows:

"Now comes the city of Wellsville, the plaintiff or relator in the above entitled action, and moves the court to grant it a new trial for the following reasons, towit:

"First—The court erred in refusing to admit evidence in this case offered by the plaintiff, and to which the plaintiff then and there at the time excepted.

"Second—The court erred in admitting evidence offered by the defendant in this case, over the objection of the plaintiff, and to which the plaintiff then and there at the time excepted.

"Third—The court erred in overruling the motion of the plaintiff in this case to dismiss the appeal of the said John H. Fultz before the hearing on the merits, and to which the plaintiff then and there at the time excepted.

"Fourth—The verdict, judgment and decision of the court in this case is against the weight of the evidence.

"Fifth—The verdict, judgment and the decision of the court in this case is contrary to the law and the evidence.

KANSAS CITY WOMAN CLAIMS SHARE IN SIR FRANCIS DRAKE'S ESTATE

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The vast estate of that doughty old sea fighter Sir Frances Drake, hero of battles on the Spanish main, and of adventures in the search of gold, finds another claimant for the settlement now being made in England, in Mrs. J. H. Aiken, of this city.

A share in the $1,250,000,000 now lying in 52 banks throughout England will belong to Mrs. Aiken, if she can prove her lineage entitles her to a share in the estate. The estate is now being held in custody of the British government, pending investigation into the legitimacy of the claims of 251 tentative heirs.

In case all the claims are allowed, each heir will come into approximately $4,000,000, according to the attorneys who are attempting to straighten the lineage tangle.

A Chicago woman is handling the cases of heirs in this country and Mrs. Aiken's attorneys have announced that their case is complete, and will be presented to the crown in September, when the case is due to come up in England.

JAILED FOR ROBBING FREIGHT TRAINS, INVENTS BOX CAR LOCK

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, CAL.—Elmer Gloss, serving a four-year term for robbing box cars, came to the conclusion that there was a need for such things, so in his spare time he invented and perfected a lock for box car doors that is said to be the most ingenious lock of its kind ever to be made.

Frank Smith, warden of the prison, announced that representatives of a large car building company had inspected the lock and had approved it. He said he would ask the Prison Board to authorize a sufficient sum of money to enable Gloss to build a model.

"The invention," Smith said, "may net Gloss thousands of dollars."

In commenting on his invention, Gloss said, "It is a good lock, and I know a lot about box car door locks. Of course it could be opened but it would be a hard job to do it."

Gloss has already served 18 months of his time.

LOS ANGELES "HET UP" OVER CHARGE THAT VICE AND SHAME ARE RAMPANT

LOS ANGELES.—The statement of Dr. Bruce Wheeler, a lecturer, that "Los Angeles is morally and financially bankrupt" and that "vice and shame in one block of Hollywood are far worse and more prevalent than in a square mile of either New York City or Chicago" created a storm of protest here. Dr. Wheeler's statements were made in a lecture given in Lockport, N. Y.

Efforts were under way today by local organizations, including the board of education and the chamber of commerce, to secure a retraction of Dr. Wheeler's statements.

According to reports received here, Dr. Wheeler claimed to have been formerly connected with the Los Angeles city schools. The records of the board, it was said disclosed no such connection.

Dr. George MacNeill, president of the New York state society of Los Angeles and a former resident of Buffalo, N. Y., telegraphed an emphatic denial of Dr. Wheeler's statements to the Buffalo Evening News.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1926.

Time To Bury The Hatchet

John H. Fultz, who was deposed as chief of police of Wellsville on charges of misuse of his office on March 19, last, by Mayor W. L. Fogo, reported for duty at the city hall in East Liverpool's sister municipality today, as a result of his victory in the common pleas court fight at Lisbon yesterday.

Declaring there was no cause for his removal, Judge W. H. Spence ordered the former police department head restored to all rights, which means that the city must pay Mr. Fultz approximately $825 back salary for the five months and 15 days he was deprived of the position.

The ruling climaxed a fight which was initiated at a civil service hearing in Wellsville, in which the mayor's action was upheld by a three-man board, and then carried to court by Mr. Fultz, who had made a categorically denial of the 12 serious counts preferred by the mayor.

The battle between the police chieftain and the mayor has been costly. It is estimated that the municipality's attorney fees, court costs and stenographic expenses, together with back salary due Mr. Fultz, will total more than $2,000, which comes from the pocketbooks of the taxpayers.

While no definite figures are available, it is not improbable that $1,000 or more will be drawn from the resources of the exonerated police chief to pay lawyers' bills and other costs entering into his fight for reinstatement.

And, too, the long drawn out controversy has proved a means of distasteful advertising to the city of Wellsville, not to mention the ill feeling created by the inevitable injection of personalities into the civil service and court hearings.

Mayor Fogo, prompted, no doubt, by honest motives, dismissed Mr. Fultz. And the police chief, equally sincere in his contention, left no stone unturned in the fight in behalf of his character. And the court has said that Chief Fultz is innocent.

For the best interests of the city of Wellsville, the sensible thing for all concerned is to let bygones be bygones, bury the hatchet and get down to the business of eradicating law violation, if any thrives.

The Romanoff Gold

This is good weather for stories about treasure. And the $75,000,000 deposited in the Bank of England, which is all that is left of the fortune of Romanoffs, is a bigger treasure than any Captain Kidd ever handled—or even dreamed of, probably.

The castles and estates have been confiscated, but the gold is safe. The only problem is one of distribution. There are many heirs, some of whom are finding life pretty limited right now, but settlement has been delayed chiefly because of rumors that one of the late czar's daughters escaped when the family was murdered, and now lives in Germany, whence she may turn up later and demand her share.

The kings of England, Italy and Spain have been proposed as arbitrators in dividing the inheritance. It's not exactly an enviable job, and perhaps there has been some delay due to the difficulty of convincing some royal gentleman that the honor might compensate for the labor and consequent ill-feeling.

It occurs to the layman that almost any competent lawyer might draw up a plan for division, leaving the lost daughter's share intact in the bank, to be divided at a reasonably later date if she does not appear.

Not being royal, however, and not being heir to millions of Russian gold may prevent us from taking the matter seriously enough. Maybe if we were, we couldn't trust anybody but a king to send us our quitclaim blank and deposit slip.

The Last Meal

A negro convict in the death house at Sing Sing, condemned for killing his wife and daughter, chose this for his last meal on earth:

Long Island duck, mixed with one can of peas and one pint of olives, cooked into a brown stew and served with dumplings.

Four slices of bread, boiled rice, tomato salad, strawberry shortcake, a pint of vanilla ice cream and raspberry soda.

Twelve good cigars and a package of cigarets.

He got away with nearly all of the items, too, and enjoyed his feast.

There is a curious spectacle. Most of us think we wouldn't have much appetite on such an occasion, and would be thinking of other matters than food. Yet it is the testimony of penitentiary officials that murderers usually have a good appetite to the last.

The explanation seems to be that murderers usually lack the mind and imagination to understand the plight they are in and the fate they are facing. If they were able to understand death as normal, intelligent men and women do, they would probably not kill.

"Of what use are ants in the economy of life?" inquires a philosopher. Well, for one thing, when they get into the food you know it's a picnic.

There is to be a "world hog-calling championship contest" at Kansas City, with America a sure winner. There's one form of prowess, anyway, that won't make Europe envious.

It's a hard life. Soon the people who have been going north to keep cool will have to go south again to keep warm.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Thoughts while strolling: The after dinner hiatus. Those who eat alone in cafeterias. Ladies out to please. Bookish men drifting toward parks. And solitude. The chill of a theatre lobby. With its gaudy pictures.

An old man on a camp stool sketching a statue. Evening curb idlers. Like somnambulists trying to be awake. The swarthy Spanish gambler with an extraordinary pallor. And burning black eyes. Why do circus men roll their cigarettes?

Those coated white faces with slightly purplish cheeks. An old saddle coloured hound with long drooping ears Dozing in a shooting gallery window. Seamen who window shop in leisurely groups. Window card in a beauty parlor: "Wanted—an expert with ideas."

Rubberneck wagons lumbering to their corners. Whatever became of Muscle Shoals? The rising rumble of a city moving to its pleasures. A band begins to blat in a dance hall. Taxi drivers fortified with dinner and toothpicks hustle forth for fares.

The lights click on. And jazz gates unlock. Whatever became of Richard Carle? The white-haired old boys are taking to horn rimmed glasses. A noted ethonologist going to a girl-and-music play. Youthful eyes in wrinkled faces.

A door ajar and music from a church. A pair of dancing twins skip from their auto to the stage entrance. Electric sign wig-wags: "Learn to tango in an hour." Open-all-evening easy-payment fur shops. And young girls who exclaim "Gee!" gazing wistfully at the window displays.

Where are the cafes whose walls were decorated with pictures of actresses? A hoarse street evangelist tries vainly to interest an unstable moving throng. Fog horn blasts from the river. A thin crescent moon rides high in the clouds.

In one of the public parks in fair weather there is a pleasant old lady who is a favorite with children as well as elders. She moves among them spreading happiness although she is almost totally deaf. "How do you manage to get along so well with them when you can scarcely hear what they say?" an interested observer shouted.

"It is easy," she replied, "when they laugh I laugh too."

In the same park it is told of a little boy and girl whose mother has been much married and who come there to play.

"You have a very bright sister," a gentleman remarked to the boy.

"I'll say she is," was the reply. "She can name Mama's husbands in rotation."

Someone sends a clipping of an advertisement for a leading hotel of 20 years ago. Choice single rooms with bath were listed at $5 a day. As a matter of curiosity I telephoned a hotel where 15 years ago a room for two exacted a tariff of $11.50 a week. The same room today for a couple is $37.50 a week. And the hotel has lost much of its old prestige and newness.

The "hop bench," where bellboys awaited tap of the bell and the cry of "Front!" has disappeared from nearly all New York hotels. Bell hops have become "pages" and remain in semi-seclusion. They comprise an alert and sophisticated crew and the experienced see much of the country—drifting to this fashionable resort and that with the seasons.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Coin Collectors.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 2.—Old and rare coins, specimens of currency, and medals, in the aggregate calued at more than a million dollars, were on exhibition in Washington during the recent convention of the American Numismatic association. It was one of the greatest collections of numismatic treasures ever brought together, although perhaps not the largest, for each collector who exhibited showed only his most interesting and most valuable pieces. Its value was estimated at the figures mentioned, but in reality it was priceless, for many of the collectors would not sell their rarest coins for any amount of money.

Rarest of them all, and said to be the rarest coin in existence, was the United States $5 gold piece of 1822, which is valued at $7,500, 1,500 times its original value. This treasure was exhibited by W. F. Dunham, of Chicago, who showed the largest collection of United States coins. He is also the custodian of one of the 1894 silver dollars, valued at $5,000, of which only six are known to be in existence, one of them being in the Smithsonian Institution in this city. Mr. Dunham also has two examples of the half-cent of 1852, one with large and the other with small berries. The one with the large berries is said to be worth $2,000, while the small berry coin is valued at but $35, although it was coined in the same year and to the layman would appear to be quite as valuable. Rarity spells the difference in the price that numismatists put upon them.

John E. Morse, of Hadley, Mass., was represented by a collection which he calls "Lincoln Numismatics" and which is said to be one of the most complete and most valuable collections in the world. It consists of coins and bills stamped with the image of Lincoln. One of its most interesting features is an English 50-pound first mortgage bond which bears the likenesses of both Queen Victoria and President Lincoln.

Mrs. Moritz Wormser, of New York, the first woman member of the association permitted to exhibit a collection showed a rare set of medals of musicians, composers and singers of world renown. Liszt, Beethoven, Wagner, Jenny Lind, Mozart, Schubert, Verdi, and Johann Strauss were among the celebrities represented in her exhibit. Her husband, who was the retiring president of the association, featured as his part of the display a wonderful collection of gold and silver Czeschoslovakian, Esthonian, Polish and Russian coins that included many rarities.

Fractional Paper Currency.

Most of the numismatists specialize in a particular line and endeavor to win recognition as holders of the largest, most complete, or most valuable collections in that line. An example of this is Charles Markus who brought to Washington the largest collection of United States paper fractional currency in existence. It is said to include a sample of every piece of paper money the government has ever issued ranging from a 3-cent note to a 50-cent note.

Another specialist, George S. Goddard, of New York, has a complete set of the currency that was issued by the Confederate States in the days of secession. Julius Guiag, also of New York, placed on display a large number of gold pieces, one of which is an Indian coin from Bombay, Idnia, which has a gold value of $250, but is worth ten times that to a collector. This rarity is really not a coin, but two coins united by a heavy bar. It is almost pure gold—.9954 fine—and represents 26 2-3 tolas in Indian money.

The collection of Farran, of Tyrone, Pa., contained a second example of a coin that is not a coin. It was a copper cross measuring 8 by 8½ inches and weighing 27½ ounces. A man with a pocketful of money of that kind would not have many pieces and it would be almost as inconvenient to handle as the large stones that are used for money by Pacific Island natives, yet it was formerly a common medium of exchange among the natives of the Belgian Congo in Africa. It is now used almost exclusively by the tribesmen in buying wives, and it is said that one of them occasionally gets a wife who is literally

THE MILD TRANSGRESSION OF FATHER.

This one got into vaudeville—a sure sign of its excellence—very soon after it was originated.

A philanthropic gentleman engaged in settlement work asks a small boy some leading questions.

"What does your father do?" he inquires.

"He don't do nothin'," answers the urchin. "He's up at Sing Sing for eight years."

"Oh, I'm so distressed to hear it. What did he do that sent him there?"

"Well, pop was working in a place downtown and he got to bringing home samples at night and they found out about it and put him in jail and when they tried him he got eight years."

"I never hear of anything so barbarous!" exclaimed the old gentleman. "To give a man a long sentence in state's prison for carrying away a few samples—why it's incredible! Tell me, what sort of a place was it where your unfortunate father worked?"

"A bank."

Allison-Neiser Wedding Solemnized At New Cumberland

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Helen Allison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Allison of Florence street, and Elmer W. Neiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Neiser of Oakland. The ceremony was performed Tuesday in the Christian church of New Cumberland, W. Va., with Rev. F. H. Garrett officiating. The bride wore a gown of white georgette, with hat to match, and her corsage was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom is employed at the Crucible Steel company in Midland.

Last evening, a 6 o'clock dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, in Florence street. The table was prettily decorated with roses and centered with a large wedding cake, covers being arranged for 12 guests.

Later in the evening 25 guests were entertained informally in honor of the newlyweds. A luncheon was served by Mrs. Allison. Dancing and music were the principal diversions. Many gifts were presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Neiser will reside temporarily with the bride's parents.

Bandmaster's Daughter Gambles Love Against $100,000; Wins Both

Romance wins again—as usual. When his daughter Marie showed indications of unusual talent, Bohumir Kryl, the famous bandmaster and cornet virtuoso, settled $100,000 on her with the stipulation that she should not marry before she reached the age of thirty. Marie is now a famous pianiste, well under thirty—and in love with a handsome Greek nobleman, Spiro Hadja-Kariaskos. She intends to marry. And after much remonstrance, Kryl has relented. And Marie promises to keep up her music. Photos show Marie and (insets) her fiance (left) and her father.

Mrs. J. H. Bailey Hostess.

The Ladies of Gruber Class, No. 12, of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church were entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. J. H. Bailey of Dewey avenue at 7:30 o'clock. A short business session was held, during which officers were elected.

During the social hour a two-course luncheon was served by Mrs. Bailey, assisted by Mesdames Smith and Arnold. Covers were arranged for 13 guests.

Mesdames Glaze of Akron, and Jewell of Avondale street, this city, were special guests.

Dancing Mineral Springs Tonight.

Surprise Party At Porter Home.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Porter, Sr., of Orchard Grove avenue last evening, honoring Mrs. Samuel Porter, Jr.

The social hours were spent with vocal and instrumental music. Sidney Palmer, Bernard Bailey and James Byland, rendered vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. James Byland. Mrs. Charles Howell demonstrated the Charleston and other novelty dances.

A three-course luncheon was served by Miss Lila Porter, covers being arranged for 20 persons. The honor guest received many gifts.

The simplicity of the trimmings; the chic of the draped and sectional crowns; the decided smartness of the tams, the close-fitting turbans and the drooping brim effects —all are Fashion notes for Fall.

Hats for sports, afternoon, business and general wear; with a thought for those who are hard to suit in small head-sizes and those who find difficulty with the larger head sizes. To appreciate the extraordinary values you must see these hats.

Start Them To School In Shoes That Are Right

If the youngsters have been permitted to wear old, loose shoes a lot throughout the Summer, be very careful about crowding their feet back into shoes they wore to school last Spring.

Remember that there's both spreading and natural growth (which is rapid) to consider. It's better, and safer, to get new shoes, perfectly fitted by a conscientious shoe man

CHILD HEALTH CLINICS HERE

Tests Being Conducted Every Tuesday in Welfare House.

Child health clinics being held in the Community Welfare house here every Tuesday are increasing in numbers and interest. Examinations are in charge of Chester physicians, who are being assisted in the work by a number of local women.

At the recent county wide clinic 50 children who are to enter school for the first time next Tuesday were examined. Number examined in the county during the week totalled 182 divided as follows: New Cumberland 30, Chester 50, Newell 9, Calico Hill, Weirton, 50; Holliday's Cove 25, Weirton 17.

During the month of August a total of 67 babies were examined at the Welfare house, while the figures for the entire series of clinics show 181 were given health tests.

Examinations are held every Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock.

WEIRTON ARSON SUSPECT FREED

Buckley O'Connor, 30, war veteran, who was held in connection with the fire at the yards of the Cove Valley Lumber company on Thursday morning, has been released by the Weirton police after an investigation showed the truth of his story that he had been sleeping in the ball park and ran to the fire to try to extinguish it.

O'Connor's shoes and hat were found under the bleachers at the ball ground where he had left them to run to the fire. O'Connor, who was gassed while serving 22 months overseas, is crippled and has an impediment in his speech which causes him to stammer.

Institute Closes.

GROSS SALES TAX IS UNDER FIRE

The so-called "gross sales tax" case was given into the hands of the supreme court yesterday for decision after argument of counsel for the state of West Virginia and for the Hope Natural Gas company, which is contending the tax is unconstitutional.

"That "gross sales tax" is a misnomer, was one of the main contentions of the state's counsel, however, much of the time being divided between this argument and another principal issue, the contention of the gas company that transportation of its gas to the state line was not a "mere incident" to its business.

T. C. Townsend and Fred O. Blue, former tax commissioners, presented the state's contention to the court, while H. D. Rummel and H. A. Ritz presented the arguments for the company.

Mr. Townsend, opening for the state, which appealed to the supreme court from an injunction against collection of the tax, denied that the tax was imposed on the proceeds of the sale of gas in interstate commerce but insisted it was in fact as well as in the wording of the law imposed on the privilege of producing gas, with the value of the gas as indicated by the proceeds of its sale as the measure of the tax.

Mr. Rummel took vigorous exception to the proposal that transportation of the gas to the state line, where it is sold to other companies whose pipe lines connect with those of the Hope company, was incidental and gave numerous statistics as to the large expense of this transportation.

ATKINSON MAKES FOOTBALL SQUAD

Frederick D. Atkinson, of New Cumberland, a student at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., has made the plebe football squad at the academy. The squad is composed of first year men and is coached by an army instructor. Should Atkinson make good this coming football season he will be in line for membership on the varsity squad next year.

Atkinson received his appointment to the academy from Congressman Carl G. Bachmann, of Wheeling.

RUBE GOLDBERG AND RED GRANGE ALIKE; BOTH SLEEP WITH MOUTH OPEN

SAN FRANCISCO.—Rube Goldberg, cartoonist, crawled down from his Fallen Arch Six here a few days ago and immediately voiced a mild, but nevertheless emphatic, complaint.

The fact that San Francisco has had "her neck washed," in other words, has lost some of the romance of old, by having a few layers of grime removed, causes Goldberg to shudder and predict the city will come to no good end.

The absence of fog in the city also caused a few disgruntled remarks from the "papa" of Boob McNutt.

"I suppose some trust has bought it," said Goldberg, unhappily. And then added, "It just seems that we can't have anything anymore."

Rube paused long enough to say that he was like "Red" Grange, in one respect.

"I also sleep with my mouth open," Goldberg confessed.

EIGHT KILLED, 20 INJURED IN TROLLEY CRASH

Disastrous Wreck Occurs West of Monroe, Mich.

OHIOANS VICTIMS

Misunderstanding of Orders by Motormen is Blamed.

MONROE, Mich., Sept. 3.—A misunderstanding of orders on the part of motormen, was today believed responsible for the disastrous wreck on the Detroit, Monroe and Toledo railway which late yesterday brought death to eight persons and serious injury to twenty others.

The trolley cars crashed head-on while rounding a sharp curve just west of Monroe. The heavy coaches were telescoped for nearly three-quarters of their length.

Those killed were:

DR. C. TRACY SOUTHWORTH, Monroe.
JOSEPH ROSENTHAL, Dundee.
W. E. ROONEY, Sandwich, Ontario.
ELIZABETH BURNS, Blissfield.
BENJAMIN FITCH, Detroit.
JACK FERGUSON, Toledo.
JACOB HUBER, Toledo.
A. M. HEFFNER, Detroit.

The more severely injured included:

ANDREW SCHLEGEL, Toledo, motorman of north bound car.
G. A. GESSNER, Toledo.
JOSE LONDEROS, Toledo.

Ambulances and private automobiles rushed the injured to Monroe hospitals. Of the score or more injured, several are expected to die.

TODAY

spoil their children. The thousands will complain that they had no luck.

And in starting for the diamond fields they left behind them open libraries, opportunities without limit, and the certainty of independence, if they cared to work for it, without the hardship of a "diamond rush."

YOU know about Krishnamurti, the young Hindu who receives messages from "beyond." Another Hindu, worth 10,000,000 Krishnamurtis, is Assam Dina—enormously rich, married to an American girl, he inherited recently the astronomical observatory on Mt. Blanc, highest mountain in Europe, is bringing it up to date, equipped with the world's most powerful telescope.

The gentleman from India sends up his scientific materials by airplane and plans regular airplane service between the lower regions and Mt. Blanc by the eagle's route.

THAT'S the kind of Hindu the world needs, one that with his telescope will look out into space, find what is really happening there; not somebody to sit down and imagine that his poor, feeble little brain can be made a receiving station for divine wisdom.

Massillon Man

dict three men, jointly, for first degree murder.

The last of the 86 witnesses to testify in the startling murder case completed their presentation of evidence this morning.

The grand jury was then reported to have gone into immediate deliberation on the expected indictment.

Their report was predicted to come sometime this morning or early this afternoon.

Rudner, the son of a wealthy Canton junk dealer, was first brought under suspicion by the testimony of Steve Kascholk, Nanty Glo, Pa., miner, and informer, and star witness in the circumstantial case that has been brought against the two alleged murderers.

Kascholk has testified and made sworn affidavits, now a matter or record, that he went to Massillon with McDermott where they were "hired to slug an editor."

Kascholk in all his statements declared that Rudner hired them.

Later in the alleged plot, Kascholk refused to carry out his part and left Canton for Cleveland.

Girl Held As Witness.

The evidence in the possession of investigators shows that McDermott motored to Massillon about 10 days after the murder and stopped near the Rudner place of business.

According to testimony offered by Peggy Cavanaugh, Cleveland waitress, who accompanied him on the trip, McDermott returned to the automobile with a large roll of bills.

That was two days before the elusive McDermott was last seen.

Miss Cavanugh is now being held as a material witness in the county jail here under $10,000 bond. Many other material witnesses are being closely guarded to prevent attempts of intimidation.

Steubenville Is Rapped.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3.—"The supreme sacrifice of the editor of the Canton Daily News, Don R. Mellett, has brought to that city widespread advertisement of Canton's underworld, but bad as it may be, I do not regard it so bad, or so threatening, as the conditions that have been prevailing in the city of Steubenville.

Such was part of a letter addressed to Gov. Donahey here today by State Prohibition Director B. F. McDonald, in making his report for the last year.

DEATH ROLL

Richard Weston.

Richard Weston, 61 years old, died last night in his home, 130 Drury lane, after a three years' illness.

He is survived by his widow, four sons and four daughters: Richard, New York; James, Leonard, Joseph, Mrs. Minnie Strobel, Mrs. Mary Butler, Mrs. Anna Welch, and Miss Edith Weston, all of East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held in the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Both the industrial and railroad stocks showed traces of unsettlement in the early trading today, due to the withdrawal of speculative interest on the eve of the Labor day holiday, which extends from the closing today until next Tuesday morning.

Selling pressure on the industials and the most active of the high-priced railroad shares procured a slight reactionary market in this period, with United States steel selling close to 148 and General Motors at 207. But strong demand for the better grade of railroad stocks soon turned the tide in that section of the market, and exceptional buoyancy was noted in Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Kay and Frisco.

Higher prices were also quoted for the equipment stocks with Pullman selling up 3 points at 184½ and Baldwin up a point at 121½. New advances were scored by a few of the motor stocks, with Studebaker in the most prominent position. Stewart Warner, in the motor accessory group, moved down to a new low at 65¾. Public Utility stocks lost a good part of yesterday's gain. Universal Pipe declined sharply to 21 on short selling.

Call money was in supply at 4½ per cent for loans which hold over until next Tuesday. Commodity markets were dull and steady.

RESUME AUTO THEFT INQUIRY

Wellsville Man is Under Arrest in Steubenville.

Pittsburgh detectives, investigating the thefts of half a hundred or more automobiles from that district recently were expected to return here today.

John Amato, 28, Wellsville, is being held in the Jefferson county jail at Steubenville under $5,000 bond for his appearance before United States Commissioner C. J. Bourouski, at Steubenville, on September 9, upon a charge of automobile larceny. Amato, who is alleged to have been hiding in Wellsburg, was arrested when he went to Steubenville to identify a car, which had been located by the sleuths.

Amato is said to have made a confession of his part in the operations of the alleged theft ring which may involve a number of prominent people in the Ohio valley before the probe is completed.

About 11 stolen cars taken from Pittsburgh have been located here during the last three or four days, according to Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, and the detectives believe that others will be found. The chief yesterday located a Buick car which is said to have been owned by a relative of the superintendent of the Pittsburgh police. Another car belonging to a Rochester man, stolen seven months ago, was found in possession of a local minister who said that he had bought it for $450.

Detectives place the value of the machines which they expect to recover in their investigation at approximately $175,000.

Schools Ask Levy

which must be paid in 1927 will amount to about $76,984 which will require 2.23 mills, estimating the tax duplicate of the school district at about $34,000,000. The special levy for 1928 will drop to about 1.5 mills when the debt payment will amount to about $51,174. It will jump back to 2.07 mills in 1929 when bonds and interest to the amount of $70,484 will be due. After that year there will be a decrease in the bonded indebtedness, thus cutting the special levy. Here are the estimates of the debt and the levy which have been made until 1935:

1930—Debt $69,644, levy 2.04; 1931—debt $67,244, levy 1.94; 1932—debt $60,830, levy 1.72; 1933—debt $58,670, levy 1.64; 1934—debt $54,510, levy 1.60; 1935—debt 50,410, levy 1.47.

May Affect Teachers.

Due to a delayed system of liquidating bonds, the school board it is claimed, is still paying for the Central building which was erected in 1894, 32 years ago. Interest only on the bonds issued to erect this building was paid until 1909 when the first payment on the principal was made. Interest only is also being paid on the bonds for the Pleasant Heights and Klondyke schools, the first payment on the pricipal not coming due for several years. All the present bonds, it is said, are due for payment not later than 1950.

"Money which will be derived from taxation this year will be sufficient to meet out expenses for about six months of the school term," D. F. White, president of the board said. "Contracts of the school teachers call for a nine-month term. Teachers will be required to wait for their pay for the last three months of school if this issue fails to pass and contracts for the following year will be based on a six-month term."

The school board plans a campaign to apprise the electors of the crisis which faces the district should they fail to approve the proposed levy to take care of the debt. Voters of the school district last fall passed an issue continuing a two mill levy which expired that year.

Board Rules Amended.

The board, amending rules and regulations, named Miss Florence Updegraff, high school principal, custodian of the athletic funds. Miss Updegraff will be asked to make a financial report to the board at the end of the football season and again at the end of the basketball season to determine which of the high school athletics is on a self-sustaining basis. Heretofore funds of the athletic association have been handled through the school treasurer.

Another amendment to the rules and regulations was also approved which makes Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay a member of the board of control which has supervision over all athletics.

Resignation of Miss Jean Sloan as a teacher in the elementary school was accepted. Miss Sloan will resume her college work. Her place will be filled by Miss Ruth Wilson.

The board approved the recommendations of Superintendent McVay to appoint upper grade boys at the various elementary schools as traffic officers to assist smaller children in crossing busy thoroughfares. Removal of the telephone in the West End school to the Glenmoor building was also ordered.

Engines Derailed.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3.—Officers of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad here received information shortly after the wreck, at Foley, Pa., in which two trainmen were killed, that the train crew of the freight which crashed into the passenger train ran past a safety signal.

First reports reaching here said that telegraph poles near the tracks were torn down, but that the rails were not badly damaged, and that train service over the route was to be resumed with only short delay.

Both engines and the baggage car of the passenger train were derailed, it was said.

AMERICANS PUT O. K. ON BATHTUB

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—If the use of bath tubs really indicates a lack of spirituality, as charged by Jiddi Krishnamurti, the self-styled "second Messiah," then the American people are without souls, the department of commerce revealed today.

Americans own and use more bathtubs and fancy bathrooms than any other people in the world, the department announced. As a further instance of "practicality," which the Indiana theosophist condemned, American bathtub manufacturers are slowly teaching all the rest of the world to use the soul-destroying implements.

While the department officials refused to discuss the spiritual effects of baths, their statistics showed that 1,250,000 bathtubs or bathrooms sets were manufactured in the United States last year with an average of 100,000 sets a month so far this year.

Senator Willis

and his visit to Marion, where he and others persuaded the then President-elect Warren G. Harding to join, Senator Willis declared Kiwanian principals of "honestly and fair-dealing" have been characteristic of Ohio and Ohio policies.

"It is not too late in our history to abandon these principles and they should be insisted upon in the settlement of at least two important questions," he said. "One of them is the Chicago water steal.

"Illinois has 60 miles of coast line on the Great Lakes and furnishes none of the water supply of the Great Lakes system. At one time, indeed, the Chicago river did flow into Lake Michigan, but under the unlawful diversion which now exists and has existed, the current of the river is reversed and instead of making contribution to the Lake system, it acts as a drain therefrom.

"Other states with water frontage on the Great Lakes furnish all the water supply and have about 3,000 miles of coast line. Yet, the advocates of the Chicago water steal propose that Illinois, which furnishes no water for the lake system and has only 60 miles of coast line, shall utilize the water of the Great Lakes to the detriment of those states which furnish all the water supply and have 3,000 miles of coast line.

Unlawful Diversion of Water.

"Already the detrimental effects of the unlawful diversion of water at Chicago are apparent in Great Lakes traffic. If Lake levels are to be continually reduced, it is a matter of only a short time until the industries of eastern Ohio will be seriously affected. Our industries have grown because of the facilities of lake transportation which have been developed to a high point of efficiency. The industrial life of this great valley is dependent on the maintenance of cheap transportation of coal and iron ore. If vessels which formerly loaded to 22 feet can load to only 18 or 18½ feet, it must be perfectly apparent that there will be a serious effect upon freight rates which will imperil, if not destroy the iron and steel industry in the Ohio and Mahoning Valleys.

"The United States has spent already something like $200,000,000 in improving channels and harbors on the Great Lakes. Why should the Chicago drainage district be permitted to tap the lake system and so reduce the levels that the depth of water in the harbors of Lake Erie is less even than before the improvements were made.

"There is a tremendous decrease in property values all along the lake shore because of the water steal.

"I am, and have been, a consistent and ardent supporter of river and harbor improvement. I do not propose, if I can help it, to see these improvements imperiled by the passage of pork barrel legislation such as is now pending in congress.

Debt Cancellation Question.

"Another question that relates back to old-fashioned Ohio honesty for its settlement is the question which has recently been raised with reference to cancellation of the foreign debt.

"It must be perfectly evident that if these debts are to be cancelled, they must be paid by someone. If taxpayers in Europe are relieved of the burden that means that the burden will be transferred to the shoulders of American taxpayers. The extension of foreign trade is desirable, but upon what theory should the general taxpayers of this country be burdened in order that special favors may be granted to those who would benefit by foreign trade? If there are those who feel that foreign trade should be encouraged by creating a better feeling on the part of European buyers, why do not these people cancel some of their own obligations rather than call upon the people of the United States to wipe out the foreign debt.

"It is all very nice for the debtors to talk about sitting around the table and cancelling debts, but how about the creditors?

Foreign Bond Holders' Plan.

"Uncle Sam would be certain to lose in such a game.

"The animus of this matter is evidently the desire of certain holders of bonds to increase the selling value of these bonds. It is apparent that if the federal government would cancel its obligation, the private holders of foreign bonds would benefit thereby to the increase in value of their securities.

"It might as well be understood that America would not gain the favor of Europe by cancelling this debt; Europe would simply feel that it had beaten America, and if we agreed to the cancellations we would be laughed at for our simplicity.

"Our government has been fair and generous; it has gone as far as it will go. There will be, and ought to be, no cancellation of foreign debts."

Routs Robbers With Milk Bottles.

AKRON, O., Sept. 3—When requested to "put up your hands," by two youths whom she described as "sheik robbers," Mrs. Ralph Kuskin, wife of the proprietor of a grocery store, routed the intruders with a shower of milk bottles and canned goods.

KNOWLES CUP PLAY BEGINS

Country Club Women Must Qualify Before Sept. 8.

Women of the East Liverpool Country club will participate in a championship tournament during the month of September for the Mrs. Edwin M. Knowles trophy.

All qualifying scores must be in the hands of the committee not later than September 8. Name of each winner is to be engraved on the cup which will be kept in the club house. It is the plans of the women's golf committee to present each victor with a replica of the Knowles cup for permanent possession.

Mrs. Edwin Wells, Jr., will donate the low medal score trophy for the tournament and Mrs. Robert Harker will present the runners-up trophy.

Mrs. Paul V. Robinson will offer a trophy for the winner of the second division and Mrs. John C. Thompson will donate the runner-up cup.

LARCENY COUNTS ARE DISMISSED

Charges of larceny filed against Orville McDole and Raymond Garrett, East End youths, were dismissed following a hearing before Municipal Judge Hanley this morning.

They were charged with having broken into the home of James Martin, East End, last Saturday night, when $200 worth of loot was taken. The case was dismissed because of lack of evidence.

The youths were represented by Attorney James Davis, while Attorney Ben L. Bennett appeared for the prosecution.

rendered for the defendant, when it should have been rendered for the plaintiff.

"Seventh—The verdict, judgment and decision of the court in this case is not sustained by sufficient evidence, and is contrary to law.

"Eighth — Accident and surprise which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against and which arose in this case in the matter of the circumstances and testimony of the witness, William Wright.

"Ninth—Newly discovered evidence, material for the plaintiff, and such evidence as the plaintiff did not know, or with the exercise of reasonable diligence, could not have found or discovered and produced at the trial."

It is expected arguments on the motion will be heard by Wednesday by Judge Spence.

Fultz, acting under advice of his attorneys, Ben L. Bennett and F. E. Grosshans, of East Liverpool, and W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, will report daily at city hall in Wellsville.

100 Occupants of Little Building Guests At Outing

Afternoon Program of Sports, Boating and Dancing Precedes Dinner at Eagleton's Glen.

With business in its various store rooms and offices suspended, occupants of the Little building in the Diamond held an outing at Eagleton's Glen, four miles north of Lisbon, yesterday afternoon and evening. More than 100 persons attended.

The affair, unique in its character by reason of being without precedent, was so successful despite the inclement weather prevailing that decision was unanimously made to repeat the event in 1927 at a time and place to be decided by Owner Frank Little and a committee yet to be named.

Following the dinner at 6 o'clock, addresses were made. Attorney William S. Foulkes acted as toastmaster.

H. B. Barth, secretary of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, remarked the uniqueness of the affair in that no office building in the city had ever before undertaken such a departure. He lauded Messers. Frank and John and Miss Mae Little, owners of the edifice, for their free abandon and generous tone in going into the undertaking which fact had guaranteed its success. "We all are to be congratulated at having such landlords," he said. "What has been so auspiciously begun here today will be repeated with even greater success in the future," he predicted.

Attorney Walter S. Stevenson greatly appealed with a realistic account of his visit to the Klondyke during the gold rush to the far north a couple of decades ago.

Dr. Samuel Rich indulged in numerous witticisms while speaking on the theme "The Fifth Floor Back." "Such affairs as this one is goes far in making for fraternalism that is as delightful as it is helpful," he declared. "We shall all be the better for having sat down and broken bread together while indulging in addition in the recreations which this beautiful park affords."

Dr. Bert George felicitated those in attendance while giving some experiences of a recent motor trip into Canada.

Lee C. Cooper, also of the fifth floor, gave a glowing description of Round Knob, the highest point in Madison township and Columbiana County, a sopt of particular apeal to him in that it is situated near his birth place and the scenes of his boyhood. "Indeed, I thought so much of Round Knob that I was careful in procuring a home from which I could view this high spot and the three trees that tower from its crest," he averred. "To me it has ever been an inspiration and it is a pleasure to visit it frequently."

Earl Welsh, active in bringing about the outing, spoke in kindred vein of its outcome and bespoke many happy returns of the day with added cheer under fairer skies.

Attorney Foulks was especially happy in his introductions, but failed in but one particular—the inspiring of Landlord Frank Little into responding with an address. The later beamed his appreciation of the event and postponed indefinitely his oratory.

Following the dinner, served by Caterer John Eagleton, which ran the gamut of delectable food from fried chicken to ice cream, nuts and coffee, with the necessary adjunct trimmings a corn roast and marshmallow toast was indulged in at 8 o'clock.

Dancing, directed by Miller's six-piece orchestra, was a feature of the afternoon and evening.

A strictly masculine departure was a baseball game between the Fifth floor occupants and those on the other floors of the building. Dr. Colin Kinsey was the "Walter Johnson" of the former aggregation with William Cooper handling his speedful shoots and slants. For the under floors Dr. Fred Adams qualified as an unknocked out twirler with William Lemmer as the backstop. Both dentists were in rare form.

The contest finally resulted in a narrow victory for the Fifth floor, 17 to 13. The victors had 11 hits to the vanquished's 10. The latter led in miscues, 8 to 4.

Boating and some swimming were also diversions of the visitors.

Meeting at the City lot on Sixth street the majority of picnickers started for the park shortly after 1 o'clock.

Council Calls Vote

was shelved for two weeks to permit corrections.

Service-Safety Director Moore informed council that at a conference this week with County Auditor Elmer E. Walker at Lisbon he had been told that the city next year would not receive as much money from taxation as he had anticipated. He stated that the money for the present year was based on a 2.58 millage, while next year it would be on a 2.59 rates.

Resolutions providing for installation of sanitary sewers in Erie and Hazel streets were approved after the dirctor had said that the department had sufficient funds on hands to meet the cost.

Drainage Claim Presented.

Claim presented by A. M. Young for $75 which he asked as damages done to his automobile when it crashed into a man hole in Second street was rejected. Elwyn Shenkel was awarded $25 for damages done his overcoat while fighting a fire a few months ago at the Williams cooper shop.

Leslie Curran, who acted as court bailiff while Carman Hissam was on his vacation, was voted $40 for his services. The money will be taken from the $300 recently appropriated for a salary increase for the bailiff.

A delegation of citizens from West Eighth street protested against conditions caused by the building of a new road and were told by the service-safety director that relief would be given as soon as the contractors completed the work.

MRS. ROTHWELL HEADS W. C. T. U.

County Unit Names Officers at Closing Session Here.

Mrs. K. L. Rothwell, East Palestine, was re-elected president of the Columbiana County Women's Christian Temperance Union at the annual convention which closed in the First United Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon.

Other officers named were: Vice-president, Mrs. Margaret Moore, East Liverpool; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Eva Leatherberry, Salem; treasurer, Miss Edna Van Kirk, Columbiana; recording secretary, Mrs. Thrasher, Leetonia; L. T. L. superintendent, Mrs. C. R. Reese, East Liverpool; corresponding L. T. L. secretary, Miss Katherine McGillivray.

Place of next year's convention was not decided, invitations having been received from both Leetonia and Damascus. A committee will select the meeting place.

East Liverpool Crusade Union carried off two banners, one for the greatest increase in membership and the other for the largest percentage of work done.

Mrs. Florence D. Richards, Columbus, state president, spoke at the Wednesday evening session. She discussed her recent trip to the Holy Lands and also the efforts which are being made by the W. C. T. U. to bring about a better enforcement of the 18th amendment.

An L. T. L. organization for East Liverpool was organized Wednesday evening, with the election of Milicent Wolf, president; Helen Glover, vice-president; Winifred Sheets, recording secretary, and Mildred Stanley, treasurer. The first meeting of the organization will be held at the home of Milicent Wolf, Prospect street, East Liverpool, Friday, September 10.

A business session with the election of officers and superintendents was held during the forenoon Wednesday. Committee reports were also submitted.

Report of three delegates from East Palestine who attended the Young People's branch convention at Warren, was made at the opening of the Thursday afternoon session. Mrs. A. B. Murdock rendered organ music. The Wellsvile L. T. L. under the leadership of Miss McGillivray gave a program. This was concluded with a reading, "The Children," by Miss McGillivray. The convention ended with a white ribbon salute.

PASTOR WILL GO TO ELYRIA MEET

Rev. W. S. Rowe, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will attend the annual meeting of the North-East Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which will open at Elyria on Tuesday, September 21. R. E. Patton is the lay delegate.

The conference will close on Monday September 27, when the assignment of ministers will be announced. It is probable that Rev. Mr. Rowe, who came to Wellsville last year to succeed Rev. C. F. McBride, will be returned as pastor of the local church for another year.

Party at McConville Home.

Frances Elizabeth McConville, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McConville, of Akron, who is visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Quayle of Center street, Wellsville, was hostess to a party of eight little friends yesterday afternoon.

The diversions were juvenile games. Samuel McConnell was awarded a prize. The color scheme carried out in the decorations was pink and white. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Quayle.

Those present were Winifred Steebner, Alice Marie Krauss, Dorothy Grafton, Edna Jane Tipton, Edward Gefeller, Robert Madden, Samuel McConnell and Douglass Steebner.

BEANTOWN WOMAN VIOLATES PAROLE

Mrs. Maude French residing near Beantown on the Wellsville-Lisbon road, who was given a suspended sentence to Marysville last May by Juvenile Judge Lodge Riddle, because of the violation of her parole, was taken to that institution Tuesday by Sheriff George Wright.

The home of the woman was raided by Sheriff Wright Saturday night and five young men from Irondale were found in the place. The woman was taken to the county jail and also the young men. The latter were paroled by the court Monday afternoon after being given a hearing but Mrs. French was not brought into court.

It was the order of the court last May that Mrs. French place her children with other relatives, but she failed to do this.

SAMUEL RINI AUTO VICTIM

Youth Injured When Car Hurtles Embankment.

Samuel Rini, 22, 1411 Center street, was lacerated about the face and head when his automobile hurtled over an embankment along the Wellsville-East Liverpool road near Kountz avenue at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The youth, alone in the car, was traveling toward East Liverpool when the machine left the road. The automobile overturned three times and came to a stop when it struck a stone wall at the rear of the residence owned by Stephen Smurda.

Rini was thrown from the machine when it overturned the first time. He was removed to the East Liverpool hospital in the Miller ambulance. Dr. J. S. McCullough attended him.

The automobile, which was badly damaged, was taken to a Wellsville garage last night.

BOOK ONE—X.

"No, I daresay he hasn't," Jock muttered meaningly.

Eunice giggled. "Oh, you men! You stick together so, it isn't even funny. Anybody'd think big horrid Jock didn't want poah little Eunice to have a new fur coat and was actually soah 'cause she got one!"

Jock thought, "If Brad's got to sweat blood to pay for it the way I think he has, I am sore." Aloud he said merely, "We ought to be getting along, Eunice. It's almost two-thirty!"

When Eunice had disappeared into her room again and returned, she was still wearing the coat. "I've got to," she declared. "I'll probably wilt, but I can't go without it." She had pinned an artificial orchid on the collar, and her pert felt hat was orchid-colored. She looked extremely well, and knew it. There was a pause while she stood pulling on her gloves and smiling up at Jock—smiling an unmistakable invitation. Jock retaliated somewhat pointedly by opening the front door and awaiting her on the porch, in full view of a dozen passing people.

"Brad's been gone since 10 o'clock th's mornin'," Eunice remarked as they started for the game in the roadster. "I declare, bein' married to a coach isn't any fun at all durin' football season. He's out most of the day, and when he does get home at night he's too tiahed to take me any place so I just sit at home like a bump on a log." Her voice rasped unpleasantly; a drawl can so easily deteriorate into a whine. She added, "Of course I'm always hopin' my friends will drop in to see me, but they nevah seem to."

"I've been busy as the devil," said Jock, taking this, as it was meant, personally.

"Who's the girl you asked to the game today and who couldn't come? Brad told me you seemed quite broken-hearted."

"Yvonne Mountford, her name is."

"Is she attractive?"

"Wonderful, yes." A desire to annoy Eunice, with whom he was himself more than usually annoyed at the moment, prompted Jock to continue in this strain. "I don't think I've ever seen a more attractive girl in my life. She's unique. She had red hair—sort of a tiger-lily red, if you know what I mean, and a mouth like—like Cleopatra's kiss. And absolutely perfect features. All the men darn near lose an eye when she walks into the room."

"Well!" said Eunice acidly. I should like to see this vision!"

"Oh, you will," Jock assured her. "She'll be down here often, I hope. Gosh, Eunice, look at the crowd! And for an opening game, too."

A great crowd, indeed. It swarmed ahead of them, using the whole street as a sidewalk. Jock and Eunice had an impression of thousands—myriads, it seemed—of backs. Broad staunch backs. Little gay backs with syncopating shoulders. Raccoon backs and broadcloth backs and fat back and lean. "I feel," Jock said, "like a shepherd driving a flock before he." They crawled along, sounding the horn repeatedly—and vainly. Soon they were obliged to park the roadster and proceed on foot with the rest.

The Stadium from without was a high circular concrete wall with a picot edge of small dark heads around its upper rim. At the base there were tunnel-like entrances, into which the crowd streamed ceaselessly. The air was full of a muffled roaring, and, nearer, the sharp cries of the gatekeepers: "Hold your own tickets, please! Let the lady hold her own ticket!"

Jock grabbed Eunice's arm. "Come on, let's hurry," he said. The football fever, always an autumn obsession with him, had suddenly taken hold anew.

They pried their way to and through a tunnel, and came out panting into the Stadium proper. A vast cup of people. Parti-colored atoms, these, set into place on the sides of the cup carefully, as though some master artist had put them in with pincers, saying, "We will have a red dot here, we will have a blue dot there, and there a yellow one." A human cloisonne cup. A cup for a giant to sip from, with the smooth green dregs of a giant's creme-de-menthe in the bottom.

"Boy!" breathed Jock softly.

He always had rather a bad time at football games because there was a perpetual lump in his throat of which he was dismaly conscious and ashamed. This had nothing whatever to do with the score; if his team was winning he felt it even more acutely than when they were losing. It was his reaction to the spirit of the occasion—to the long low rumble of "Fight! Fight! Fi-i-ight!" and to the tense electric air. When a player was hurt and borne from the field Jock felt no emotion beyond a sporting interest in how badly he was hurt and how much his loss would mean to the team. But when a player was hurt, and lay prostrate, and after a time rose doggedly to carry on—then he could have wept aloud for the thrill that ran all through him. Courage. That was what caused the lump. Grim relentless courage, and flash of glory, and the one boom in his ears of forty thousand voices cheering one man.

While the game was in progress he quite forgot Eunice. She became merely a shoulder that braced itself against his and a source of murmured comments, only remotely heard. But between the halves he was made aware of her in a most unfortunate way.

They had risen to their feet to stretch themselves and to gaze down the slope of heads that lay below them. And Jock heard a girl say, "For cat's sake will you look at the coat on Eunice Hathaway!"

The remark came from back of him somewhere. A man answered, "Yeah. Good, isn't it?"

Then the girl: "Good? I should say it is good. That's real mink, and worth more money than Brad Hathaway ever saw! Either he's struck oil or else—"

Jock looked around. He had no difficulty in identifying the couple. They were in the row behind him, two or three seats to the left, a sophomore named MacLellan and Winifred James, a "college widow" whom Jock knew slightly. Winifred was whispering the rest of her sentence into MacLellan's ear, and the eyes of both were fixed, not on Eunice's coat, but very sharply and sagaciously on Jock himself. As he faced them they drew apart in haste and nodded to him with an assumption of blandest innocence. Winifred even gave him a salute and said, "Hi there, Jock!" But Jock was not deceived. "My God," he told himself, "they think I bought Eunice's coat! That's what she was whispering—that I bought it—on my God!"

He turned back again, and the instant he had done so instinct told him that Winifred said, "Heavens, do you think he heard me?" He fancied he could almost see her saying it. . . . He shot a quick side glance at Eunice and noted that she appeared quite unconscious. He was glad of this; but the afternoon was utterly ruined nevertheless. Even the team's victory failed to rouse in him more than a fleeting enthusiasm.

EARTH CANNOT HIT OTHER PLANETS DECLARES FAMOUS ASTRONOMER

BERLIN.—"I do not believe in the 'end of the world,' that is, in its destruction by clashes with other planets," said Dr. F. S. Archenhold, director of the Treptow Observatory, one of the largest in Germany, in an interview with a Berlin paper.

"I am suprised to find papers and periodicals occupied with prophecies on the 'end of the world.' Any serious scientist has long ceased occupying his mind with such barren theories. I admit that superstition will cause the masses of the people to think and argue about such questions, but for scientists this question is no longer a problem because it has been established for certain that the planetary system of the world is so stable even a clash with one of the fragments of former planets or comets forms no danger to earth. The appalling speed of 19 kilometers per second with which the earth moves is safety enough against destruction if she should meet a planet on her way. Earth would simply push aside if not destroy any planet clashing with her.

THE BOSS CALLED ME BACK

I'm the TRY Man who writes the advertisements for TRY'S, anyway, I'm on my vacation when all at once I get a telephone call to report in, which I do, and the chief tells me this: "I want you to write an ad for Friday's paper telling the motorists of Columbiana county that we are closing our first Semi-Annual Sale Saturday night. Tell them that if they are figuring on taking a motor trip over LABOR DAY that they had better check over their busses and get busy.

I came back quick like and says: "Get busy doing what?" Just to show that he's not so dumb, he says: "Why get busy finding out whether they need a new Tire, Tube or some accessory for their car. If they do they'll never buy it any better time than right now during this sale. If you can get that over our store will do a big business Saturday."

So that's my job to convince you, gentle reader, and I know of no better way than to list 45 examples with the prices and reminding you that we have thirty-five hundred more bargains to pick from.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Have we had the pleasure of serving you through out Washington Information Bureau? Can't we be of some help to you in your daily problems? Our business is to furnish you with authoritative information, and we invite you to ask any question of fact in which you are interested. Send your inquiry to The East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Q. Does the location of a motion picture theatre increase the value of land around it? J. H.

A. Generally speaking, it does. According to estimates of realtors, the land adjoining 27 theatres in Chicago has increased $75,000,000 in value.

Q. Where was the original Mohawk Trail? L. M.

A. This old Indian trail, extending from the Connecticut river in Massachusetts to the Hudson river in New York, was one of the ancient footpaths of the Six Nations.

Q. What is used to measure the smallest known measurements? C. E. F.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that the smallest known measurement, one billionth of an inch, is at the National Bureau of Standards, measured by a newly developed ultra micrometer.

Q. Is there an army post at Platts burg? G. P.

A. There is a regular army post there. This summer two Citizens' Military Training Camps were held there, and one for reserve officers.

Q. What liquid is used in the center of golf balls? H. C.

A. A. G. Spalding and Bros. say that various soft-cored golf balls use different materials, but their own are compounded from glue, water and a white pigment.

Q. What is a cachou? C. R. S.

A. It is an aromatic sweetmeat in the form of a silvered pill, used for giving an agreeable odor to the breath.

Q. Do the Big Trees die? N. A.

A. Muir says that he never saw a Big Tree that had died a natural death.

Q. When were Julia Marlowe and E. H. Sothern married? E. H.

A. They were married in 1915. They appeared in joint productions until 1916 when Mrs. Sothern retired from the stage.

Q. When should valances be used in draping windows? A. N.

A. The use of valances is governed in part by architectural limitations. If the room has a low ceiling, valances will make it appear still lower by opposing a strong horizontal line to the vertical lines of the room. Again, if the windows are too small, valances mounted in the usual manner will exaggerate their faulty proportions, besides cutting off a portion of the light. When properly employed, however, they give a sense of finish and completeness which is lacking where draperies alone are used. Plain gathered valances, being easily laundered, are best adapted to bathrooms and kitchens, and to bedrooms unless furnished in a formal manner. Fitted or shaped valances on the other hand, suggest permanence and dignity, and hence are betted suited to the more formal rooms of the house.

Q. How far is Bermuda from New York? A. C. B.

A. The Bermuda Islands are about 675 miles southeast of New York. The climate is pleasant without extremes of heat and cold.

Shoe factories of South Africa are just beginning to make footwear in half sizes.

BOSTON BOYS WANT BALL DIAMONDS ON COMMON; ARISTOCRATS O. K. PLAN

BOSTON—The spirit of '76 has been reborn in the youth of this city.

With the same determination that carried the coasters of Boston Common fearlessly into the presence of General Gage to demand their rights, baseball players of the Common and their friends are demanding justice from the Boston City Council.

Over the same path that the coasters trod in bygone days, modern youth, in greater numbers, stormed the City Hall.

They carried a petition asking that the baseball diamonds along Charles street mall be put into some sort of decent playing condition. The boys back up their demands with claims that neglect has already been responsible for one death and the injury of many players.

Scores of youths circulated the petitions among the aristocratic voters of Boston, obtaining signatures for presentation to the council.

HUSBANDS MUST ORGANIZE, JUDGE SAYS; WIVES FREED AFTER SLAYINGS

CINCINNATI, O.—"Too many wives are freed on self defense pleas after shooting their husbands. It's time we husbands banded together for self-protection," declared Municipal Judge William D. Alexander here when he bound Mrs. Belle Maley, 36, to the grand jury without bond on a first degree murder charge.

"Don't expect me to waste sympathy on a woman who shoots her husband in the back," he added as she was led away to the jail where she now awaits jury action. She is alleged to have shot and killed her husband early in July while he sat with his back turned at their home here.

Collect Cash Pyle Tempts Another Foreign Net Star

Watch Visitors, Not American Davis Cup Players, For New Pro

"Red" Grange's Sponsor Pops Off Out of Turn and Spoils Chance to Land Yankee Tennis Experts' Signatures on Dotted Line, is Report From Inner Circle.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Watch the foreign delegation, not the American Davis cup team, for man or men who will turn professional under the banner of Collect Cash Pyle.

This was the tip that came to the writer today from a man within the outer-inner circle of tennis officialdom and just why this information should be in such hands I cannot say. He spoke of the intended jump beyond the pale of pure amateurism—whatever that might be—as an assured fact.

Just as certain is the knowledge that no American cup member will be a party to the proceedings. If Charley Pyle ever had a chance of interesting one or more of the "big four" in his plans, he lost it when some one had him pop off out of turn about that chance. Regardless of whether it was actual or imaginary.

With all due haste, the truth of the statement was denied by all parties concerned and now Pyle couldn't have a Davis cup player from America if he was promised the right to carry bright, new souvenirs from the United States mint. Not a man on the team could afford the jump, even at that price.

Negotiations Concluded.

As I understand it, our Mr. Pyle concluded his negotiations not long after Lenglen took the plunge at his solicitation. The man or men said to be involved are prominent without carrying the matter to an extreme.

Anyhow, the Pyle organization appeared entirely too serene today for any one to imagine that it hasn't lined up the better part of its troupe.

The gentleman himself has even gone so far as to drop the matter from his mind temporarily while chaperoning the original luncheon bid, Mr. Harold "Red" Grange, from Chicago to New York for the premiere of his motion picture.

If Pyle needed tennis players at this time, he would be trying to get them and he isn't trying to get anything except an immediate renewal of his privilege to breathe. Mr. Pyle is doing nothing with great rapidity which, to me, means that his preliminary work is finished.

Woman Star in Line.

"Charley is in a tough spot," said one of his intimates today. "He could tell plenty but he has to lay off until after the amateur tennis season is finished."

Further intimations were to the effect that "one famous woman star" already is in line and that so many men of competitive standing are clamoring for the same chance that Pyle "can just about take his choice." My informant didn't seem to think there was anything reprehensible about the matter.

"We are entering a new era in sport," he said. "The time is just ahead when everyone will recognize that the athlete is entitled to a share of the money he draws at the gate.'

Dempsey Runs Heavyweight Fight Game Into Million Dollar Trade

By Norman E. Brown.

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight king, has been on the pan at times for his or somebody else's desire to demand the U. S. mint for his appearance in the ring.

His place among the great in the heavyweight division has been questioned and is still a matter of doubt.

But two things must be credited to the Manassa Mauler—in addition to that of being the only heavyweight champion to have his nose made over.

First Dempsey brought the heavyweight division back to normalcy from a state of chaos that had existed through all the white hope years and after Willard's unconvincing victory over Jack Johnson.

Second, Dempsey, by his decisive victory over the biggest man ever to hold the title, made himself the biggest drawing card the ring ever has known. Whether or not Jack Kearns played a part in this doesn't matter. It was the tanned tiger who cut Jess Willard to ribbons that blistering afternoon in Toledo, who drove the price of heavyweight purses up from $50,000 to $100,000 every time he drove his tightly taped fists into Willard's bloody jaw and ponchy stomach. These two things then must be recited when Dempsey's history is written.

Willard no doubt, was the best of the white hopes. For the most part, however, they were an awkward, dumb lot. Willard's great size and his brute strength—which spelled death for one man in the ring—enabled him to beat down his rivals while he was acquiring some knowledge of the ring game.

The Johnson who risked his title against Willard was a dissipated old man.

Followed a long period of rest for Willard. He had no desire to fight—and no one to fight.

Then Dempsey started a two-fisted career of battering various and assorted heavyweights to pieces. One by one he dropped all the men of mention in the heavyweight division. He forced Willard into a match.

He got just $27,500 for his fight with Willard. He left Tex Rickard work down his share from $50,000 to the amount named. But that fight, although the huge arena was not full, gave Dempsey, his manager and Tex Rickard an inkling of what could be expected in future fights.

Over in France was Georges Carpentier, outstanding heavy and greatest boxing idol of Europe. The "battle of the century" was arranged.

That fight not only sent the price of such battles up to $350,000 for the champion's end, but gave Dempsey a chance to convince the world that his victory over Willard was because of the former's greatness and not Willard's mediocrity.

Dempsey's battles with Bill Brennan, Billy Miske, Tom Gibbons and Louis Firpo, in addition to the Carpentier joust, ran his ring earnings up close to the million mark if not to it. His coming fight with Tunney may net him close to half a million more.

Whatever else may be said for him Dempsey has written an interesting chapter in ring history.

Cheers and boos, moans, groans, jeers and flying fists accompanied the double-header between the Cardinals and the Cubs in the latter's home park. More than 31,000 not particularly orderly fans saw the St. Louis team take both games, 2 to 0 and 9 to 1, while police reserves quelled the excitement. The St. Louis victory featured Grover Alexander's first appearance against his former teammates in Chicago.

YANK HURLERS PRIZE PUZZLES

Called "In-and-outers"—Rated as "Done"—They Win Game.

The five pitchers who have carried the New York Yankees through the pitfalls of the season to date form an interesting group. Every one of them has been classed as "done," "in-and-outer," "undependable" and several other things of recent years. The staff, on paper, could not be figured with any degree of accuracy. And yet, thanks to the great offensive strength of the team and their own crafty hurling, they stand about ready to collect shares of the 1926 world's series melon.

Herb Pennock was called done three years ago. Last year he won 16 and lost 17. The year before he won 21 and lost 9. This year he has given the team the southpawing that any team needs to win a pennant.

Bow Shawkey, called done time and again, was a dismal failure last year.

Waite Hoyt, a great pitcher at times but unable to "come out of it" for a couple of seasons, has hit the high road again.

Sad Sam Jones, who wanted to retire to his home in Woodstock, O., several years ago, swallowed his sadness early last spring and decided to win himself a few games.

And Urban Shocker, who gave every indication last season of being a total loss (with but 11 victories for the season), has been the Shocker of old who baffled the Yanks day by day.

Which all goes to show that the will to win, which Mr. Huggins demands, does have something to do with the case—even that of old decrepit pitchers.

No Doubt About it—Charley Root Has Won Spurs to "Big Show"

Charlie Root, first-year pitching ace of the Chicago Cubs, has won his spurs in the big show.

He was admitted into baseball's inner circle a few days ago when Virgil Barnes,, ranked as a veteran pitcher by the Giants and baseball folk in general, was permitted to boast of his second victory over Root in a week.

A pretty compliment this, to a rookie hurler with a baseball club in the making, as the Chicago team is.

Barnes has been in world's series duels. He is a player seasoned under the Napoleonic eye of John McGraw. Yet to Barnes his victories over the Cub youngster, have pleased him more than any other achievement to date in his career.

Root has been poison to every club in the league.

Blue and Bassler batted belligerently, aiding the Tigers to beat the Browns, 6 to 3. Each drove in three runs.

RED MACK IS COMING

DEMPSEY EASY TO HIT; SO IS SIDE OF WALL

Champ Not Worried About Roadway to His Chin.

HE TELLS WHY

Tunney Rests in New Camp After Brisk Hike.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 3.—The roadway to Jack Dempsey's chin continues to be as wide as the Grand Canyon, all of which caused a rather youthful architect of sportive items to remark to Jack Dempsey.

"Gosh, you're kind of easy to hit."

The champion fixed him with a quizzical glance and then shot out:

"Say, what's news?"

The reporter looked at Dempsey, a bit surprised.

"Why, ah, news is—well—" he started to reply, whereupon Dempsey broke in with:

"News is something has to do with a happening that isn't usual. Something out of the ordinary isn't it?" countered the champ.

"Yes, that's about it," said the youth.

"Won't Get Tunney Anything."

"Well then, I took about as long a count as I needed. That was an average of about eight seconds per knockdown.

"Now in all the years since then I have continued to be easy to hit. They've all hit me. But what did it get them? Gunboat Smith knocked me goofy in 1917 with one punch—but I won the fight. Willard nearly ripped my head off with an uppercut, but I won that one. Carpenter hit me, Gibbons hit me. Brennan hit—and Firpo nearly knocked me loose from my brains. But I'm still champion.

"Sure I'm easy to hit—and so's the side of a wall," concluded the champion. "But it doesn't get anybody anywhere to hit a wall. It isn't getting my sparring partners much and it's going to get Tunney less. Of course, he'll hit me, unless I knock him over with the first few punches. But it won't get him anything in the end except perhaps an extra shellacking."

Tunney Reading Books.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 3.—Except for a brisk hike over the hills early this morning Gene Tunney, challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, spent another day of idleness in his new camp at the Glenbrook Country club here.

Tunney arose almost with the sun and covered five miles with long swinging strides, returning in time for a brisk rub-down from his trainer, Luie Fink, before breakfast. After that his work for the day was completed and he retired into seclusion with his beloved books as his only companions. He planned to reappear only in time to fulfill a promise made yesterday to pose for the camera men.

If the day proved fair enough the challenger said he might play a few holes of golf but otherwise would do absolutely nothing but relax. Tunney feels that he already is a little too far advanced in his process of preparation and with an intensive siege of training ahead of him desires to get a complete rest.

The challenger's retinue of camp mates was expected to be increased today with the arrival of several more sparring partners. Bud Gorman, Billy Vidabeck and Harold Mays, heavyweights, and Byran Downey, the welterweight, were due to arrive sometime during the day.

THIRD SERIES GAME SATURDAY

All-stars Will Play on Diamond at Midland.

Third contest of the five-game series between the Midland All-Stars and the East Liverpool All-Stars will be played on the Twelfth street grounds, Midland, at 5 o'clock, Eastern standard time, Saturday evening. Cebula, Ashe or Bennett will twirl for the locals, while Schneidmiller or Hinkle will be on the receiving end.

The Midland A. B. C. team, a colored organization, will meet the Sherwood Cardinals at Patterson Field, Saturday afternoon.

GOLF EVENTS FOR LABOR DAY

18-hole Medal Play and Mixed Foursome Scheduled.

Morning and afternoon events are scheduled for the golf program at the East Liverpool Country club Monday, Labor day.

In the morning, a large field will negotiate the course in an 18-hole medal play tournament, under full handicap, for the H. J. Taylor annual trophy.

A mixed Scotch foursome is billed for the afternoon for trophies donated by J. S. Hilbert and F. M. Gardner.

There have been no contests arranged for Saturday, the sports committee announces.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The hands should be slightly ahead of the ball in the address for all iron shots because the idea is to have the clubhead take the ball and go through it an instant before the clubhead reaches the bottom arc of its swing. The act of the iron head hitting the ball is in reality a sort of "squeeze" action.

This parts, obviously, the maximum of projective energy to the ball while the loft or face pitch of the iron will give the ball the rise intended. If the ball is taken from a point even with the hands in the address, it is obvious that considerable of the projective energy of the blow will be lost, since the maximum speed of the clubhead is attained just before it reaches the bottom of its swinging arc. Also the lofting of the ball will be greater than otherwise because the ball will be taken at an instant after the clubhead passes the bottom of its downward arc.

MAJOR CLUBS RE-ORGANIZING

Dodgers Expect to Provide Greatest Number of New Faces.

Definite reorganization plans are being worked out by several of the big league ball clubs as the season rolls toward the end.

It's a good bet that the Brooklyn Dodgers will furnish the greatest number of new faces when the club trekk south next spring. Of all the National League clubs at least the Brooklyn team is most in need of a house cleaning. And it is known that President-Managre Robinson plans to use the mop and pail gaily and with abandon.

His first two moves have been made at this early date—the releasing of Rabbit Maranville and Whitey Witt, both vets. The release of Maranville verifies the belief most folk held last spring, that Robbie's hopes of getting a big year out of the aged shortstop would be blasted. Maranville, it was generally felt, had reached the point where he could not stand the strain and rigid discipline demanded for a full season's play at top speed.

Witt was a gamble. He was a dissatisfied player with the Athletics and an in and outer with the Yanks, albeit at times a brilliant fielder and dangerous hitter.

Among the others who are booked to travel before another season rolls around are Zack Wheat, Jacques Fournier, Gus Felix and Chick Fewster. One or two pitchers probably will join the list.

Robinson realizes that he cannot hope to build a pennant contender by patching up spots here and there. He has the nucleus of a new team in infielders Butler, Standeart, and Herman and outfielders Cox and one or two others. The sooner he molds a new outfit around them the better off he will be.

Hornsby's Masterful Handling of Pitchers Key To Cards' Success

The masterful manner in which he has handled his pitching staff is the outstanding feature of Rogers Hornsby's work in driving his St. Louis Cardinals toward their first pennant.

Those who have watched the dominating John McGraw and other crafty pilots of the game in action state frankly that the young Card pilot has equalled at least the adroit methods of these "old heads."

Hornsby's system isn't a complicated one. He simply "makes hay while the sun hines." When a pitcher is going good Rajah gives him every opportunity to work. The reasoning is simple. The hurler is in his stride. Lack of work will throw him off it as quickly as overwork. Hornsby lets nothing interfere then with the regular pitching of the man when he is going good.

Vic Keen, obtained from the Cubs, got under way early in the season. Hornsby put him on the regular staff and worked him in turn, no matter what the situation with the rest of the mound staff was. When Keen finally fell off form he was relegated to the extra list. Reinhart, the youngster who has been going great guns of late failed to find himself early in the season. Hornsby used him mainly in forlorn hopes. Then, the minute Reinhart showed ability to win himself a few games Hornsby threw him in every four days.

Flint Rhem has been worked in his turn week in and week out because he has pitched consistent ball. Hornsby, realizing, what an extra day's layoff might do, scheduled his pitchers to take care of Rhem.

Hinkey Haines and Bill Sherdel, both reliable war horses, have been worked as regularly as clock-works.

Hornsby has shown also that a manager doesn't need five or six regulars fit at a time to win ball games. He has managed to rotate his staff so his main hopes worked every fourth day and has been content.

FRANK FRISCH IS FINED $500

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Fined $500 by John McGraw for his desertion of the club, Frank Frisch was ordered to report for duty at the Polo grounds this afternoon when the Giants will play the Boston Braves. The fine followed a conference between McGraw and his former field captain, who claimed that illness and not rancor at McGraw's decision to play him on third base prompted him to leave the club. Frisch has been under the care of a physician since returning to New York.

CARDS GAIN IN FLAG RACE

Two Games in Front of Reds—Have 22 More to Play.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Still traveling under a full head of steam, the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday won two games from the Chicago Cubs and this morning were two full games ahead of the Cincinnati Reds and three beyond the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Cards have 22 more games to play, the Reds 26 and the Pirates 30.

The Reds got the tough end of the breaks yesterday when their game with the Pirates was rained out after 3½ innings had been played. The Reds were in front, 3 to 0, at the time. Neither club, therefore, gained or lost ground.

The same was true of the American league contenders, the New York Yankees being halted by rain and the Cleveland Indians being off the schedule for the day. The Yanks, in consequence, remained six games in front.

The Reds and the Pirates played three and a half innings of ball, the score 3 to 0, favor of Cincinnati, and after that the deluge. The crucial game brought out one of the largest week-day crowds in Cincinnati's history.

Rain prevented the playing of all other scheduled games in both leagues.

O'Rourke Will Head New York Team in Third Major League

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Tom O'Rourke, veteran boxing promoter, declared today that he intended to accept the presidency of the New York club in the reported organization of a third major league, said to be ready to take the field next season. O'Rourke said major league territory will be invaded in New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Cincinnati and that the four remaining franchises would be allotted to International league towns, yet to be selected.

He also declared that John Conway Toole, president of that organization, had been offered a post with the outlaws but had declined.

worth her weight in copper, if not in gold.

Still others of the freaks known to numismatists are examples of Chinese coinage dating back to 700 B. C. They are of cast bronze and the shapes, which are those of various implements, crude knives, spades, and such like, are suggestive of the age of barter when different articles of everyday use passed as media of exchange. One such is a knife coin of Ming City, issued during the civil wars in the 3rd century B. C. The mark on the blade indicates the mint place.

First United States Coinage.

Prior to the Revolutionary war the various colonies issued or used coins or tokens issued elsewhere, some examples of which are positively thrilling to collectors. There was the Granby Token, dated 1737, which bore on one side the inscription, "I Am Good Copper," and on the other the figure of a deer and the rather disconcerting inscription, "Value Me As You Please." Another was the Carolina Token, with the figure of a tusked elephant on one side and on the other the date, 1694, and the legend, "God Preserve Carolina and the Lords Proprietors."

The first United States coinage was the so-called Fugio cent which bore on one side the date 1787, the inscription, "Mind Your Business," and the figure of a sun dial with a flaring sun above it at the top. On the other side there was a link border composed of 13 circles, with a central circle enclosing the inscription, "We Are One" while on the band around the central circle are the words, "United States." The first regular coinage of the United States did not begin, however, until 1793. Gold pieces, eagles, and half eagles, were first minted in 1795.

The American Numismatic association, which meets annually to stimulate interest in the collecting of coins, was founded in 1891 nad in 1912 it was granted a Federal charter by a special act of congress. It has about 1,000 members in this country, Canada and Europe.

Almost every boy passes through a period when his most engrossing interest in collecting something. Occosionally his passion is merely for assembling odds and ends of everything of no value and that do nothing but clutter up his pockets or his room. A generation or two ago American boys had a mania for gathering cirgarette pictures of actors and actresses.

Most boys who take collecting seriously run to autographs, postage stamps, or coins, and many of them who have found their interest in coins never relinquish it. When they grow up they become either bankers or numismatists. If the latter, and if their interest has grown to be more than the fad of a dilletante or amateur, they become members of the association that has just held a six-day convention in the national capital.

New Haven Like Worn Torn City As Landmarks Fall

Yale University Proceeds With Spending $10,000,000 or so in Building Program.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Like a town that has suffered from shell fire is a great section of the University district here as Yale University proceeds with spending ten millions or so in erecting additional buildings for its plant.

Forty separate buildings are in various stages of wreckage, the structures ranging from two to five stories in height and most of them landmarks at Yale.

In one section half a million brick, taken from these buildings, are staked in great squares almost resembling an ammunition dump, and daily the piles are expanding as the wreckers progress. Fan lights and mullioned windows are stacked up where the man who seeks such things for a genuine Colonial house may find and purchase them, and doors of genuine artistic design are on display. For the buildings Yale is razing were once the homes of the elite here.

The chief razing jobs now under way are to make clear the sites for the six million Sterling Memorial Library, and the two million art school, gift of anonymous friend of Yale.

BOOK OF RUTH ON STAGE HERE

M. P. Church Society Will Present Story Sept. 10.

The entire book of Ruth will be presented by screen and living pictures in the high school auditorium Friday afternoon and evening, September 10, under the auspices of the Young Woman's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist Protestant church.

A cast of 30 persons will take part in the production which is being directed by Mrs. Amelia Wilson, of Monterey, California, who was secretary to Dr. Allen Moore, a missionary in the Holy Lands for 17 years.

Mrs. Wilson will use costumes worn by men and women of the Palestine country. A double mixed quartest of local singers will render music in connection with the pageant. Rehearsals have been under way for more than a week.

Chairman of the various committees in charge of the pageant are: Miss Alma Taylor, publicity; Miss Jessie Hall, music; Miss Irene Firth, tickets; Miss Freda McConnell, advertising.

The ticket sale has opened.

Scottish Drys Plans Vigorous Battle; to Wage War on Beer

GLASGOW.—"Beer or no beer" is to be the burning question in two-hundred Scottish burghal areas during the next three months, local prohibitionists having started another drive to make Scotland as dry as the Shara.

This time the "dry's" mean to go about the matter thoroughly. Their offensive has opened with the issuance by local Town Clerks of requisition forms, which under Scottish law, must be signed by ten per cent of the electorate of any ward before a poll can be taken in their area.

"This is to be our biggest fight yet," an official of the prohibitionist's headquarters told International News Service. "Hundreds of saloon licenses are at stake in the present fight, and we want to make at least one-third of Glasgow dry. The fight is also being waged in Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Dundee, Hamilton, Coatbridge, Motherwell, Airdrie, Greenock, Paisley, Clydebank, Port Glasgow, Ayr, Galashiels, Hawick, Selkirk, and many other areas.

"When the present drive has ended we are then going to agitate for legislation to prevent men clubbing together in dry areas and buying liquor wholesale."

Part of the farmer's problem will have been solved as soon as his crops are as diversified as the advice he gets.—Defiance Crescent-News.

The grin worn by a "good loser" is chagrin.—Defiance Crescent-News.

Few Women

Still use old hygienic methods. Charming freshness, true protection, this new way ... discards like tissue

TO help women meet every day unhandicapped is the object of a new hygiene. A way that ends the hazards of the old-time "sanitary pad," that ends the embarrassment of disposal.

Eight in 10 better-class women today employ "KOTEX."

Wear lightest gowns and frocks without a second thought, any day, anywhere.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

Deodorizes. Ends ALL fear of offending.

✓ Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying, "KOTEX." No embarrassment.

In fairness to yourself, try this new way. Costs only a few cents. Twelve in a package.

LAKE-TO-OCEAN ROAD MEETING

District Boosters to go to Session at Washington, Pa.

Good roads boosters from East Liverpool, Chester, Lisbon and Salem have been invited to attend a meeting to be held at Washington, Pa., on Friday, September 10, at which the proposed permenant improvement of the Lakes-to-Ocean route, between East Liverpool and Washington, will be discussed.

The meeting, which will be preceded by a luncheon, is being sponsored by the Washington Chamber of Commerce, which has written to the East Liverpool chamber asking that delegates be named.

The local Chamber will be represented by the roads and streets committee.

The Lakes-to-the-Ocean route was first proposed during the early part of the World war. The road begins at Cleveland and ends at Baltimore.

Latest Secret Order Striking Terror Into Soviet Chieftains

LONDON.—A secret order calling itself "The Brothers of the Black Star" is reported to be operating in Russia striking terror into the Soviet leaders, according to advices received here from Riga.

Branches of the order are stated to exist in Moscow, Petrograd, Kharkov, Kiev, and Odessa. The aim of the order is said to be the removal of the present Soviet leaders and the overthrow of the regime.

Soviet Government offices are said to be honeycombed with members of the order, some of whom hold high confidential posts in close contact with Kalinin, Stalin and Trotsky.

Recently the body was found in a Moscow street of a Soviet official named Martyanovsky, who had been strangled with a black rope with a star on it. In his pocket was found a letter threatening him with death and bearing the same symbol.

It is rumored that Djerjinski's death too was the work of the order, threatening letters bearing the black star being found in his cabinet after death.

Hungary Rivers Will Be Connected With Navigable Canal

BUDAPEST — A navigable canal connecting the Danube and the River Theiss, which runs through the richest agricultural district of Hungary, will be built this year by a group of American and English financiers. The canal will cost two million dollars but will reduce transportation costs of the huge Hungarian grain crops about 50 per cent.

The canal will be built from Szolnok to the Danube. At the present time most of the Theiss is too shallow for navigation but as it is lower than the Danube, the canal will allow enough water to flow into the smaller river to make float river craft. The canal also will drain a large section of land.

Hen Sets Record.

LONDON — Notwithstanding the fact that all poultry experts say that the domestic hen "is too old at three," a 20-year-old hen has just hatched a brood of 14 chicks at Heppershall, Bedfordshire.

Mother and family are all doing well.

A New Set of Bumpers or a Speedometer Cost you Nothing

When you use Sterling Oil

Sterling will save you an entire change of oil every 1000 miles — enough in a season to equal the price of a good speedometer or pair of bumpers

High quality of crude base and an exclusive refining process have produced in Sterling a super-product. An oil that has smashed the "500 miles time to change your oil barrier" and established a new safety limit which only a product like Sterling can attain — 1000 miles and safety

Get the Sterling habit and put back into your pocket half the money you usually spend for oil

Stop and get our little booklet "Smashing the 500 mile barrier" — it's free

DAD'S PUZZLER!

Lots of people say it can't be worked and they have to be shown. It can be worked and it is mighty interesting to work it out for yourself and then watch your friends try to solve it. Now 15c.

TWISTUM TOYS!

Twistum Toys are sturdily built. They are very amusing to old and young alike and have become quite a fad. We have these interesting toys on sale at our Sixth Street Store.

RIECK'S ICE CREAM!

Purity and goodness combined. Nothing enters into Rieck's Ice Cream that is not ot the highest grade and artificial flavors are not used. Doctors recommend Rieck's Ice Cream for convalescing patients.

POLICE AND FOUNTAIN NEWS!

Both Coffee and Tea have been popular for years.
Both have long histories of success, so one hears.
While sodas and sundaes are relatively young,
Yet about these last no songs have been sung.

Years before it was "beers, ales and wines,"
And many's the song you've heard about "steins."
So why can't we sing of chocolate sun-DAES
And offer up songs of joy in their praise.
Aren't they worthy?

Labor Day---A Holiday From Work!

Nearly everyone you know when approached on the subject explains with deep throaty tones, with bloated chest about the "Dignity of LABOR." NO one will confess to being lazy, disliking work or being AGAINST work! Yet it's my PRIVATE opinion that just about ALL of us are KIDDIN ourselves!

Look at the HISTORY of work! Originally it was brought into the Garden of Eden by a low minded snake! Look what it did to poor ole Adam! Then time went bustin along and WORK was popular and fashionable ONLY among slaves and prisoners of war!

Then so MANY people got to picking out this particular world to live on that SOMEONE had to do some work besides slaves and a real strong effort was made to make Work popular But for a long spell WORK was still looked on with plenty of susupicion—in fact it's only been the last half dozen generations that WORK became a fad!

But NOW days you're all outta luck if you ACKNOWLEDGE you even SUSPICION Work! You're an outcast! You don't BELONG!

The only really SENSIBLE thing I see about WORK is the way they CELEBRATE LABOR DAY!

You're not supposed to WORK! ON THAT DAY!

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:

I forgive Jack all the past dirt he's handed me after reading his opinion on Work. If he can just keep on feeling this same way INDEFINITELY I see where I'm going to actually enjoy being around here! It MAY be that he don't allow any of us hired help to figger like him—eh?

FLIES HAVE NO LABOR DAY!

As long as they live they bother us humans in ways that are only too well known! You have noticed that on these fall days they have a tendency to gather inside. Fly Swatters will get some of them but if you want real riddance use CENOL FLY SPRAY for we know of no fly spray quite as effective.

WHAT MARK TWAIN SAID!

Asked WHERE he preferred to have a boil he replied carefully: "If I HAD to have one I'd prefer it on my mother-in-law." Does this have anything to do with corns? We have a paper-thin corn plaster that makes you forget the pain very quickly.

ENGRAVOGRAPH!

We have installed in our Sixth Street Store an ENGRAVOGRAPH for engraving names on Fountain Pens, Pencils, Mechanical Pencils, Razors, Tooth Brushes, etc. The cost is very small for having this done and it is a sort of insurance against loss. When purchasing a fountain pen or any of the articles mentionel above at any of our stores your name will be engraved on them free of charge.

BRIDES ARE THOROUGH!

They're mighty careful about their appearance, texture of their skin, and general loveliness! Do wives become neglectful? Forget to use Garden Court Face Cream as an example. We believe some of them do.

PARTY FIGHT IN MISSOURI FOR U. S. TOGA

Democrats Seek to Regain Old-time Supremacy.

TWO IN RACE

Both Candidates on Record Against World Court.

ST. LOUIS.—When the general election rolls around in Missouri next November, a real party-to-party fight is in prospect.

The result of the senatorial returns will show whether the Democratic party has regained its one-time supremacy in Missouri and whether another Democratic senator will sit alongside of "Jim" Reed in the next congress.

Issues will not be many as both candidates—Congressman Harry B. Hawes and Senator George H. Williams, both of St. Louis—are agreed on practically all questions of interest to the voters.

On the world court both are on record as being opposed to the United States becoming a member. Each will make a bid for the farmer vote and on the question of farm relief, each will have a party platform to back up their pledges.

Platforms Alike.

Both Hawes and Williams voted for the McNary-Haugen bill, which went down to defeat at the last session. The leaders of both parties will meet in Jefferson City September 14 to draft their platforms and the farm plank is to have considerable attention.

No material difference will separate the planks of the two parties. The Democrats will seek a tariff reduction upon the commodities which farmers must purchase and otherwise work for legislation that will bring some relief to the soil tillers, according to advance information.

The Republicans will ask that the protection principles be applied for the farmers' benefit in the same measure that it has been accorded to the manufacturing industry.

Both Hawes and Williams have the endorsement of the Missouri farmer, William Hirth, head of the association, placed his O. K. on the record of each candidates in congress insofar as it concerned agricultural legislation.

No Major Issues.

As far as major issues go, this will be all that will worry the two parties or more particularly, the two senatorial candidates. There will be reference to Missouri and Missippi river improvements and good roads, but the platforms here also will stack up alongside each other like indistinguishable twins.

The prohibition issue will not be heard of in the senatorial race as this has been eliminated and will be taken care of at the polls on the referendum vote of repeal of the existing enforcement statues in Missouri.

Hawes and Williams, neither "dripping wet," were opposed by the Anti-Saloon League of Missouri in the primary election on August 3, Howes because he said he would ask a slight modification of the Volstead act and Williams because he said he would if the voters approved the repeal movement.

All dry candidates were eliminated in the primary, when the prohibition question was the dominant issue, but the arid forces have been silent since that time and neither candidate has brought the matter into the open in recent days.

Klan Issue Out.

No reference has been made nor none is expected of the Ku Klux Klan as upon the record books it already has been written that Hawes and Williams are antis. It is not regarded as likely, in view of this fact, that the organization itself will inject its power into the contest one way or the other.

Sizing up the two prospective senators on the merits of their beliefs, one would have to flip a coin to decide which one would be his choice unless, (and this always is a possibility) the state platform convention in their September gatherings, find something with which the other may find grievous fault.

All of which brings us back to the point first made at the beginning of the article that issues will be flung aside and that Democrats and Republicans will meet in the political ring at even weight and may the best party win.

900 Czech Lunatics Poisoned From Eating Diseased Meat

OBER BERKOWITZ, Czecho-Slovakia.—Nine hundred inmates and the entire personnel of the state lunatic asylum here have been poisoned by eating diseased veal. Most of the victims were stricken during the night and included most of the staff. Hundreds of the inmates unable to relieve the pain attempted to escape from the building, the interior of which was wrecked by their attempts.

No deaths resulted although many are still ill.

Strange that prevailing styles don't persuade doctors to call it kneemonia. —Fostoria Times.

Work by any other name would be just as distasteful to a lazy man.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Beware Warning Signals of Failing Glandular System

Science Now Knows That Tired, Weak, Worn-Out Conditions Often Caused by Glandular Insufficiently.

THOUSANDS of men and women are weak, worn-out, run down and exhausted, losing strength and losing weight, and fail to recognize the cause, which is often glandular insufficiency, or a weakened glandular system.

Glands exert a remarkable influence on normal health and vigor, according to eminent medical authorities, and when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Science now points a new way to vigorous health and vitality—glandular treatment. Now eminent physicians of this country and Europe prescribe glandular treatment for glandular insufficiency. Remarkable benefits result often in a short time.

If you are weak-worn-out and run down, seek the thrill of vigorous health and vitality this new way.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathews Cut Rate Store will supply you.

ANANIA CLAIMS ERROR IN CASE

Carries Suit Against Mrs. Watkin to Lisbon Court.

Felix N. Anania, Bradshaw avenue contractor, through his attorney, Ben L. Bennett, has filed a petition in error in common pleas court in the decision rendered in municipal court of a few weeks ago in the suit for $200 against Mrs. Lillian Watkin, of Ridgeway avenue.

The action is based upon a loan which Anania claims he made to Mrs. Watkin about three years ago.

Anania cites nine causes for a new trial. It is claimed that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence; that the verdict and judgment were contrary to law; that the verdict was not sustained by sufficient evidence and that the court erred in its charge to the jury.

Eczema on Hands For Nine Years Cuticura Healed

"About nine years ago eczema started breaking out on my hands and fingers in a rash. It itched badly and when I scratched it, it would burn and eruptions formed. When I put my hands in water it was worse. At night I could not rest or sleep on account of it. The trouble lasted about nine years.

"I tried almost everything I could think of without any benefit. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time I could see that my hands were better. I continued using them and in about two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. L. J. Baker, 539-12th Ave. A, Moline, Ill.

Use Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum to promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health; the Soap to cleanse and purify, Ointment to soothe and heal and Talcum to powder.

Budapest Will Have First Full Theatrical Season Since War

BUDAPEST. — Next winter Budapest will have its first full theatrical season since the war. The galaxy of famous European stars that once made Budapest a close second to Vienna in the musical and theatrical world will appear again in Hungarian theatres, many of which will be opened for the first time since the war.

Pavlova will once again dance for Hungarians to be followed by Ella Ilbak, Impekoven and Mary Wigman. All of Vienna's operatic stars and most of the famous musicians will sometime during the winter appear in Hungary much in the manner as they did under the Empire when the capitals of the dual monarchy vied each other's seasons. Irma Grammatica, the Italian actress, is to make her debut in Budapest. The Italian opera will also have a run of six weeks when all the works of Verdi will be given.

Rabindranath Tagore, the Indian poet now touring Europe, will lecture here this month.

RED MACK IS COMING

Hate Goes With Removal of Scar; Hubby Would Free Wife Who Made It

Darby Day, well-to-do Chicago sportsman, left no stone unturned to help convict his wife and send her to prison when she threw nitric acid in his face in a fit of jealousy, a year ago in Los Angeles. Now he has announced he will seek to obtain her pardon from the San Quentin, Calif., prison where she still is. The scar made by the acid has been removed by plastic surgery and Day has forgiven his wife for the act. Photos are of Day and Mrs. Day.

NARCISSI HIT IN CAROLINA

Bulb Raising at Standstill Pending Study of Pests.

RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina's newest million dollar industry—narcissus bulb raising—now is at a standstill while the State Department of Agriculture inspects all the bulbs in the state for signs of blub flies and eelworm.

Bulb growing on a commercial scale sprang into existence along the Carolina coast almost overnight when an embargo was placed on commercial shipments of bulbs to the United States from foreign countries.

The inspection of the North Carolina bulbs is being made to comply with the quarantine recently issued by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, prohibiting the movement of narcissus bulbs from one state to another unless they have been certified by entomologists to be free from pests.

Test Defense Plan.

COPENHAGEN — Thirty airplanes participated in manoeuvres over Stockholm with a view to testing the possibility of defending the Swedish capital from an attack from the air.

The manoeuvres included a sham bomb attack.

Austrian Government Is Now Supporting 137,908 Unemployed

VIENNA — The Austrian government now supports 137,908 unemployed people. The figures are for July and are an increase for the first time in 12 months. Almost all of these on the dole are city dwellers, Vienna alone housing 76,089.

There is another 14,000 unemployed persons in the state, who, however, maintain a more dignified mein by living on savings or benevolent relatives.

MRS. HAUG'S HAY FEVER VANISHES

"After suffering for five years with hay fever, with all its attendant sneezing and suffering," says Mrs. E. G. Haug, 1274 Grant street, Zanesville, O., I took two bottles of Kerker's Asthma and Hay Fever Remedy. It promptly and entirely cleared up my hay fever.

"The Kerker Remedy is the finest remedy I ever tried or heard of, and I want to say I tried many.

"1274 Grant St., Zanesville, O."

Kerker's Asthma and Hay Fever Remedy is produced by Kerker Medicine Co., Zanesville, O., and is sold in East Liverpool by the Carnahan Drug Co.

BERTEL'S BAND AT CERAMIC

Ten Clever Musicians Open Three-day Engagement.

Don Bertel's Cosmopolitan orchestra, which opened a three-day engagement at Ceramic theatre yesterday, came here from the Schenley theatre, Pittsburgh, where these 10 clever entertainers scored another success.

In addition to special musical arrangement written by Bertel, conductor of the orchestra, the program presented at the Ceramic yesterday included clever singing, comedy and instrumental specialties by the various members.

This is the first local booking of the organization, which will go to Camden, N. J., to make phonograph records in August.

COMMISSIONERS HEAR ROAD PLEA

Salineville Residents Seek to Have Highway Widened.

A delegation of residents from Salineville appeared before the county commissioners for the purpose of requesting the commissioners that the "yard-stick" road out of Wellsville and forming a part of the Wellsville-Salineville road be widened.

This piece of roadway while paved, is the most narrow in the county for an improved road, and it is impossible for two vehicles to pass. It is the desire of the Salineville people that this narrow road be widened with some temporary material, either cinders or slag before winter begins, or until the final location of the road has been officially determined.

There is two and one-half miles in this narrow strip, the various widths of which are eight, nine and ten feet. The narrow begins at the Wellsville corporation line from Tenth street, and extends westward toward Salineville.

The survey on the Elkton-Clarkson road east of Clarkson has been completed as far as Turkeyfoot run or to the point on this road where it intersects the East Liverpool-Youngstown road. The survey is to be extended about one and one half miles eastward before Clarkson is touched. This road is on the major road program for through grading during 1927, and it is likely contracts will be awarded early in the year so that contractors can get an early start on the job.

Within the next few days surveyors from the office of County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk will have completed running the line and taking levels on the Lisbon-Salineville road, the surveying project having been underway for several weeks.

The Lisbon-Salineville road will intersect the Wellsville-Salineville at or near the old Garside mine. This road is another that is included in the major road program for grading and surfacing, and has been listed for grading its entire length next year. A new low grade route has been established for this road.

The Holmes Construction company, of Wooster, that was awarded the contract for the improvement of the North Georgetown-East Rochester road will finish the grading on this section within the next four days. The grading would have been finished Saturday but for the heavy rain, which delayed progress.

This same company has completed the pouring of concrete on the Valley-North Georgetown road, and as soon as the East Rochester-North Georgetown grading is finished, the concrete equipment used on the Valley-North Georgetown road will be moved to the new section, which is to be surfaced for a distance of two miles.

Probably one week will be required by the Ohio Willite Paving & Surfacing company, of East Liverpool to lay the surface on the Shadyside avenue, or the East Liverpool-Campground road. This road begins at the end of the West Eighth street viaduct, and extends north by west to join with the paved section of this road. The road is being surfaced with a bituminus concrete top laid on a concrete base. The surfacing is now under construction, and the road is expected to be opened to traffic within the next 10 days.

Williamson, Howard, Smith Co., of Youngstown, which interest was awarded the contract for the grading of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, together with the construction of culverts, at a bid of $107,020.16 has ordered two steam shovels shipped to this job at once. This grading will extend from Rogers south to Williamsport, and includes the grading, culverts and other drainage structures on section E and G-3 on this new intercounty highway.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Joseph Kreefer, a draftsman residing at East Liverpool and Miss Ruth H. Orr, also of East Liverpool but formerly residing at Wellsville and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Orr.

William Earl Watkins, of Salem, a mechanic, and Stella Mary Ross, formerly residing at New York City, but now of Salem, have obtained a marriage license. They were married by the Rev. J. C. Cameron at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon.

Divorce Suit Filed.

Declaring that her husband has held seven jobs in one month and that he permitted her clothing to be taken for his room rent, Alma Lemlerly has filed a petition for divorce in common pleas court against her husband, Frank A. Lemlerly, said to be residing at 153 South Fourth street, Steubenville.

The petition was filed by Attorney P. V. Mackall of East Liverpool.

Restraining Order Issued.

A temporary restraining order has been handed down by Judge W. H. Spence against Constable Earl Ritchie of Salem in the divorce action filed against him by his wife Edith Ritchie. The plaintiff has not been required to post any bond in this issue. In her divorce petition, Mrs. Ritchie asked for the decree, the custody of her children and temporary alimony.

Action Dismissed.

On the motion of the plaintiffs George Wilson and Ella Wilson against Daniel McKenzie, the court has sustained the plea to dismiss the action, and at the costs of the plaintiff.

County Rural Schools Will Open Tuesday; Teachers Assigned

Rural schools in Columbiana county that will operate over a period of nine months will begin sessions Sept. 7 with the exception of the Negley school, which on account of the East Palestine fair will not open until Sept. 13.

The faculty of the Fairfield high school met with County Superintendent H. C. Leonard at the Centralized school Monday and Tuesday for the purpose of registering students and making study assignments. As this is the second year the Centralized high school operates a first grade high school considerable time has been saved by listing the registration of scholars this week.

Noble Heiser of Pemberville will be the principal at Centralized school this term. He will teach history and manual training. The latter course having been added this season. Mary Noble of Alliance and Ruth Duringer of Leetonia will be assistant high school teachers, while the grade teachers will be Homer Randels, Columbiana; Florence Pittman, Ravenna; Pearl Cope, Leetonia; Kathleen Faust, East Orwell, O.; Pearl Schwab, Columbiana; Verna Guy, Lisbon; Helen Richardson, Lisbon; Goldie Carlisle, Lisbon; music, Miss Anla Rapp, Columbiana.

It is proposed to establish a general course in agriculture at Centralized school next year under the provisions of the Smith-Hughes law.

Franklin township and Summitville schools will also open Sept. 7. William Mitchell of Bayard will be principal of the Franklin township school and his assistants will be Ellia Diehl of Salem; Mary Brown and Beulah Watkins of Millport.

Russell Krepps of Freedom, Pa., will be principal at Negley school this term. His assistants will be Lois Shield of Negley and Mrs. J. Miller of Rogers.

A general meeting of teachers of the nine months school will be held at the office of County Superintendent Leonard Friday morning at 10 o'clock at which time the school program for the new term will be reviewed. Supplies will be given all teachers at this time.

On account of the East Palestine fair, the East Palestine schools will not begin them fall term until Monday, Sept. 13.

The eight month schools will not open until the latter part of September.

It was announced by Supt. Leonard today that the average attendance of the rural school enrollment for the last fiscal term stood at 94 per cent, which has been classed as excellent, considering the weather and health conditions that had to be contended with last term.

Weather Report for August Submitted By Millport Man

"Temperature and precipitation for the month of August were above normal," cooperative weather observer Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, has reported to the department of agriculture at Washington. Sunshine was below normal, and the rainfall for the month occurred on 16 days, there being ample moisture, with few clear days but with warm days and nights.

The report shows that August was two degrees warmer than was July.

Mean temperature was 81.3 and mean minimum was 60.7, the mean temperature being 71 degrees.

August 1st was the warmest day during the month when 96 was registered at the station. The coolest day was Aug. 31st when 40 was registered, and on this day the greatest daily range occurred, there being a change of 35 degrees last Tuesday.

The percipitation during August was 5.55 inches, and the heaviest rain fall was Aug. 22nd when 1.76 inches of rain fell. There were 14 days during August when the percipitation was .01 inches or more.

Only five clear days were recorded last month, with 23 days partly cloudy and three days were cloudy.

Five thunderstorms were recorded during August, these occurring on the 11, 14, 16, 22 and 29th, with a moderate hail fall on August. 21st.

The report shows that for warm weather, the highest temperature ever recorded at the Millport station was Aug. 6 and 7 in 1918 when the temperature was 103, and the coolest August day ever recorded was Aug. 31, 1915 when 34 was registered.

Divorce Case Dismissed.

The petition in divorce filed recently in common pleas court by Indianola Porter of East Liverpool against her husband John E. Porter has been dismissed by Judge W. H. Spence on the motion of the plaintiff and at the costs of the plaintifff.

Clears away itching rash in two days

Uses Resinol now for all kinds of skin ills

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 4:—"On July 20, 1917, just before I was called to service in France, I was advised by my druggist to use Resinol Ointment for a rash which I had on my arm. It relieved the itching and the rash was gone in two days. Later I cured two friends of mine who were suffering from some kind of skin trouble. We all agreed that it was 100% stuff for anything like a breaking out.

While in France I had a bunch of boils that nothing seemed to cure until I had the doctor fix the little place up (after a treatment with a knife) with Resinol. Needless to say, I soon lost all my boils and from that time on I became the outfit's boil and pimple doctor.

Since coming home I have used a great many jars of Resinol and I swear by it. Every little cut or scratch gets its immediate application of Resinol. It is a wonderful, non-equaled ointment." (Signed) Chas. T. Sweet, Jr., 3015 So. 7th St.
